Ag Progress Days Highlights Forest Products, Potentials

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — The products and potential of Pennsylvania's woodlands will be on display at this year's Ag Progress Days here Aug. 19-21 at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center.

This year's theme, "Seeing the Forest for the Trees," brings together exhibits and demonstrations highlighting research to develop and maintain healthy tree species, educational programs to foster better woodlot management, and information on the state's outstanding forest products industry.

As Pennsylvania's largest outdoor agricultural exposition, Ag Progress Days assembles more than 350 commercial exhibitors showcasing state-of-the-art agricultural technology, goods, and services. Whether via interactive displays, workshops or guided

The really neat thing about Ag Progress? You get to climb into the tractors! Just ask these young visitors to last year's Ag Progress, Jeremy Nissley, 14, with Jeremy's cousins (who happen to be twins) Austin and Alex Nissley. Jeremy is the son of Mel and Marilyn Nissley, Middletown, and works on a dairy. Austin and Alex are the sons of Gerald and Mary Nissley, also of Middletown. For complete details, see Section E this issue.

Compared to Thursday, the two-day slaughter steer run sold fully 2.00-3.00 lower. The quality of the Tuesday supply was greatly improved when compared to Monday, although bids did not adjust. On Thursday nearly 100 percent of the Choice supply sold in the low to mid-80's, with only a few Choice steers on Tuesday able to break 80.00 as the bulk of them sold in the 77.00-79.00 range. However, local finished prices still remain extremely good when compared to a year ago, with live cattle futures in the 76.00-77.00 money from current until April of 2004; and while the Board does not run the fat cattle market, it can sure be used as an indicator of things to come. A relatively good test of Holstein steers sold mostly steady, with the heifer supply to mixed to trend. Breaking and Boning cows sold 2.00 to nearly 3.00 lower, with Lean slaughter cows trading 3.00-4.00 lower with lighter demand on all classes towards the end of the sale. The slaughter bull run was to light to test. The two-day run included 352 steers, 43 heifers, 377 cows, 9 bulls, with 3 head of feeder cattle.

Slaughter Steers: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1220-1485 lbs 80.10-82.00, few 82.50-84.00. Choice 2-3 1085-1480 lbs 77.00-80.75, mostly 77 75-79.00, few up to 81.50 on Monday, full 73.75-77.50, high yielding Charolais-crosses 80.00- 84.00. Select and low Choice 2-3 1105-1490 lbs 75.00-77.50, higher dressing up to 80.50, heavyweights 1500-1550 lbs 74.00-77.50, Charolais-crosses 77.75-79.50. Select 1-2 1035-1490 lbs 72.00-76.00, up to 77.75 on Monday. Holstein Steers: High Choice and Prime 2-3 1340-1540 lbs 69.75-73.50. Choice 2-3 1370-1465 lbs 67.50-70.00. Few Select and low Choice 1-3 1340-1400 lbs 65.50-68.75.

Slaughter Heifers: Select few Choice 2-3 1025-1215 lbs 70.00-75.50, three head 77.75, couple high yielding Charolais 73.50-76.75. Heiferettes: Commercial to Choice 2-4 1015-1280 lbs 60.00-67.75.

Slaughter Cows: Percent Lean Weight Bulk Low Dressing Premium White 65-70 over 1600 lbs 50.00-52.75 46.50-48.50 Breakers 70-75 over 1400 lbs 43.00-48.00, 38.75-40.75 high dressing 49.00-50.00 Boners 75-80 over 1200 lbs 39.50-43.00, 36.00-38.25 high dressing 43.75-44 75 Lean (Hi-Yield) 85-90 over 1200 lbs 38.50-43.25 Lean 85-90 over 1000 lbs 34.00-38.00 30.00-32.50 Lean (Light-wgt) 85-90 over 750 lbs 30.00-34.00 26.00-29.00 Slaughter Bulls. Few Yield Grade 1-2 1255-1740 lbs 53.50-54.25, couple low dressing 44.00-45.25.

Feeder Heifers: Medium and Large 2 black package 390 lbs 79.00.

Calves: Compared to Thursday's graded sale, slaughter calves sold mostly steady. Holstein bull calves suitable for special-fed veal barns sold from firm to sharply higher. Graded Number One Bull calves sold mostly firm to 15.00 higher with greatest advances seen on 90 lbs calves trading as much as 35.00 higher. Graded Number Two calves brought top dollar, with a package selling at 187.00, 7.00 higher than their Number One counterparts; while the bulk of the Graded Number Two calves sharply higher. Heavier weight Graded Number Threes followed suit trading nearly 50.00 higher on calves weighing over 95 lbs; even as lighter weight calves were mostly steady to weak. Buyer attendance and bidding activity was good. Heavier weight Graded Holstein heifers sold steady to weak; while heifers under 90 lbs sold with a stronger undertone. The PA Department of Agriculture graded 761 head of bulls and heifers for the graded sale, with an estimated 86 percent of the graded run going back on feed.

Veal Calves: Standard and Utility 60-115 lbs 20.00-35.00, weaker 5.00-12.00. Compared to Tuesday, slaughter steers sold fully steady. The only exception was in the Select and low Choice cattle, which sold with a firmer undertone. The summer heat and humidity has set in once again, and a lot of the cattle were showing it as live weights were down a little. However, the steady rain showers, combined with the nice sunny days, is making for an excellent corn crop; with many producers licking their chops as they think about the finish they will be able to put on their next round of cattle. Thursday's run was comprised of primarily high Select and average Choice cattle, but that's not to say their wasn't the regular high Choice and Prime cattle on offer as well There were several larger strings sorted up for Thursday's run that sold from 78.00-82.00; which had most buyers sitting up in their seats (there's just something about watching a nice group of 8-10 head of black cattle sell that really gets you going). Holstein steers sold steady to firm, with the heifer supply once again to light to test. Slaughter cows sold 1.00-2.00 higher due to the good late week demand. The slaughter bull run was light early in the week, with prices trading firmer on the light test on Thursday. The supply included 602 head of slaughter steers, 425 head slaughter cows, 62 slaughter heifers, 89 slaughter bulls, with 115 head of feeder cattle.

Slaughter Steers: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1215-1440 lbs 80.35-83.00, single 84.00. Choice 2-3 1085-1485 lbs 77.00-80.75, higher yielding Charolais and Limi-crosses 80.00-83.25. Delmarva Broiler/Fryer
ATLANTA, GA.
August 13, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was generally noted as light to fair and typical of normal, lighter mid- week, mid month activity. Offerings were adequate and in the closer, better balance on the 2.50 and 3.00 pound sizes. Heavier weights were available and somewhat slow in clearing. Live supplies were moderate; weights were desirable to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 59 to 68 cents. Trade sentiment was about steady. In the parts complex, wings were well cleared to short. Bone-in breasts were fully adequate. Other cuts were adequate and in manageable balance.

Des Moines, Iowa
August 13, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

DOMESTIC MARKET HIGHLIGHTS: The trade sentiment on frozen commodity hens and 16-24 lb toms was steady to fully steady with private labels in the strongest position. Inquiry was slow to moderate. No trading reported. Offerings of frozen hens and consumer sized toms were adequate to fully adequate on packer labels and light to adequate on private labels for the November holiday needs. Trading was fair on plant grade 4-8 lb breasts for September-October shipments, balance of parts, meat and rib breasts light.

EXPORT MARKET HIGHLIGHTS Trading light with some tom necks trading at 14 cents delivered port. Demand was active on the various dark meat items with inquiry noted from Asia, Mexico and Russia. Some buyers were being forced to pay higher prices on thigh meat due to the limited availability for non-Russian destinations. Tom drums continued to tighten with any discounting noted rapidly disappearing.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
August 13, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Wheat and corn was slightly higher, while soybeans and sorghum traded mix.

Wheat and corn carried momentum from yesterdays positive USDA report. Traders will continue to monitor weather conditions in the western corn-belt. Soybeans were mix but some bids found support from yesterdays friendly production numbers, along with concerns of dry weather in the western belt. Wheat was 2-5 cents higher. Corn steady to 2 cents higher. Sorghum was mix, from 1 cent lower to 12 cents higher. Soybeans were mix, from 3 cents lower to 2 cents higher.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC — THIS WEEK WITH

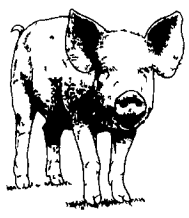
NATIONAL AVIATION DAY, AUGUST 19

PEARLS BEFORE SWINE

Like casting pearls before swine, early Americans used to feed caviar to their pigs before learning that the fish eggs found in the "poor folks' diet" of sturgeon were the same delicate roe that could be imported from Russia. By the mid-1800s, American sturgeon was beginning to find its place on the gourmet's menu, and the roe was being salted and packed as caviar. Previously, the same tasty morsels were also used as fish bait for eels and perch, and for common compost.



The gods do not deduct from man's allotted span the hours spent fishing.

–Babylonian proverb

TIP OF THE WEEK

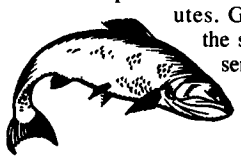
TERIYAKI GRILLED FISH

Marinade:
1/3 cup tamari soy sauce
1/3 cup vegetable oil
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon grated fresh ginger
1/4 cup apple juice
1 tablespoon sugar

2 pounds fish fillets chopped scallions, to garnish

Mix marinade ingredients, pour over fish, and chill for at least an hour. Grill the fish, basting occasionally with the marinade, or bake in a greased pan at 350°F for 20 minutes. Garnish with the scallions and serve over rice.



Makes 4 to 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If the 24th of August be fair and clear, then hope for a prosperous autumn that year.

Hear an owl hoot? A storm is coming.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

OPINION

See You At Ag Progress, The Fairs

If it's fair season time, it must also be Ag Progress.

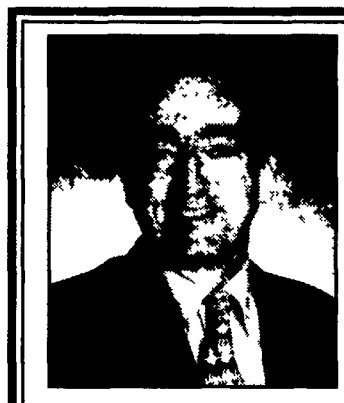
Penn State's number one agricultural showcase event — Ag Progress Days — begins Tuesday and lasts through Thursday at Rockspring, near State College.

While many of our readers cannot make it to Ag Progress, one of the services we provide is full coverage of the event. We plan to cover a great deal — but while we can spend hours there as a staff, talking to farm economy experts and reviewing the latest tools of technology and ways to manage for profit, we can't cover everything.

Throughout the year, in our special sections, we also provide extended coverage of events from Ag Progress. You will see Ag Progress coverage in special sections from our own Grower & Marketer to Boarder & Trainer and others.

Also, this year we make every effort to attend the fairs throughout the region. We provide the most extensive coverage of fairs — far more than our competitive publications. We hope to make Lancaster Farming your home for fair activities and events.

See you at Ag Progress! And the fairs!



Now Is The Time

By Leon Ressler

Lancaster County Extension Director

To Monitor Corn Maturity And Adjust Harvest Plans

After several years of dry weather, the Pennsylvania corn crop is hindered this year by late plantings because of wet conditions and cool temperatures.

Dr. Greg Roth, Penn State extension corn specialist, reports that USDA statistics indicated that only 54 percent of our crop had silked by Aug. 3, compared to an average of 74 percent for most years. The cool summer conditions have not helped the maturity situation and much of our crop is about a week to 10 days behind normal.

At The Russel E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rockspring, the 109-day corn planted April 28 was 50 percent silked July 27. The May 15-planted corn silked on Aug. 2. The June 1-planted corn started to silk Aug. 11. Generally corn that silks in August is subject to maturity related yield and quality reductions in central Pennsylvania.

Many farms appear to have at least two corn crops, one planted in late April/early May and another planted in late May through July. Some have mostly one or the other.

Roth recommends that growers should take time now to make strategic plans for harvest and utilization of these crops. Generally we estimate 42-47 days from silking to half milk line (silage harvest) and 55-60 days from silking to black layer. This year, these intervals could be extended, especially for the later crops. This will be another year to monitor silage moistures carefully prior to harvest.

Corn that has not silked at this time will likely have trouble maturing and making good quality grain. Some of the latest planted fields will also not get far into the grain fill stage and will require one or more frosts to dry down the crop for silage. Immature corn generally has some increased resistance to frost, so it will likely survive the first light frosts.

The early-planted corn also appears to be lagging in development but we could see some very high yields as a result of the lengthy grain fill period and the lack of heat and moisture stress. This is especially true in the southeast and south-central counties, where it has been a bit warmer.

There will likely be large differences in corn silage quality this year and dairy producers may want to consider segregating the two crops if possible. Early planted corn silage should have higher grain content and energy, but more lignified fiber and lower fiber digestibility because of the heavy stalks. Late-planted silage crops will likely have low grain and energy, but less lignin and higher fiber digestibility. These later crops will also be more at risk for a good fermentation because of variable crop moisture contents and uncertain microbial populations following a frost.

Producers should consider their grain needs when chopping the early planted corn since some of the later crop may not mature for grain harvest. Also in mid- and short-season regions in the state, we should be prepared for some wetter high moisture corn and some lower test weight shelled corn this fall. The latter is not all bad since some dairy nutritionists have suggested better starch digestibility and fermentation from wetter and lower test weight corn.

To Monitor Tomatoes For Late Blight And Take Protective Measures

Late blight on tomatoes has been confirmed in Lancaster, Erie, and Crawford counties and in southwestern New Jersey and southeastern Michigan.

Alan MacNab, Penn State extension plant pathologist, urges growers of tomatoes and potatoes to actively monitor their fields and modify their spray programs to protect their crops.

If you are in an area where late blight has been identified within 150 miles or closer, you should apply a fungicide with some systemic activity (for example, Acrobat, Aliette-Maneb, Quadris, Cabrio, Flint) and a protectant fungicide (Bravo, Echo, Maneb, Gavel). For the remainder of the season, apply fungicides on a regular interval or adjust timing based on a proven forecasting program. When applying fungicides, it is important to obtain complete coverage of the plant.

If late blight is found in your field, you need to decide if you should destroy all or part of the planting or continue an aggressive program for the rest of the season. Factors to consider are the value of the crop, severity of the outbreak, the cost to continue the aggressive control program, and the increased threat to surrounding fields.

If a good fungicide program has been used before the appearance of the late blight, it should be possible to save the crop. If the late blight fungus has already killed 10 percent of the foliage and/or 5-10 percent of the green fruit are infected, it could be too late to salvage the crop.

More information related to this disease and control options are posted at the Leola and Weaverland produce auctions. You can also get more information by contacting your local extension office or by calling the Lancaster extension office at (717) 394-6851. Your extension office can also provide you with control information for potatoes.

HOW TO ROB GOD

Background Scripture:
Malachi 3 through 4.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 90:1-7.

I cannot read Malachi 3:1-3 without hearing in my mind's ear the stirring music with which George Frideric Handel presents these words to them in his oratorio, Messiah: "The Lord whom ye seek shall suddenly come to his temple, e'vn the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in. Behold! He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts." Two grand chords follow, emphasizing the dramatic importance of this announcement.

While we like to speculate theologically and practically about just when and how that might be, the most important message here is that the day of the Lord will surely come. We can — and will — argue over the details, but God assures us that the day of God's judgment will certainly come. This is one of the firm promises of our faith.

The "messenger" could be an angel or a prophet. Malachi, whose name means "my messenger," indicates that we delight in this messenger. We look with anticipation for God's messenger to come and bring in the day of God's judgment because we believe that day will be "bad news" for the unrighteous and "good news" for us.

When He Appears!

In Handel's rendition of this passage, however, the two loud chords are followed first by silence and then a quiet but sobering question: "But who may abide the day of his coming? And who shall stand when he appeareth?"

"Sobering" may be a gross understatement, because if we really think about it, this question is enough to cause fear and trembling. People all around the world pray for God to bring in this day of judgment, but do they have any idea what they are praying for? Not only our despised neighbor will fall under God's judgment, but we ourselves!

When we hold up our lives and values besides those of Christ, who among us can afford to be smug? In the light of what Christ teaches us and asks of us, who among us can stand at the seat of judgment and look our judge in the face? For the judgment that we think we land so heavily on others is likely to land just as heavily upon us.

If you think judgment will be a breeze, you have not truly understood him. Judgment day is not about how God will judge my neighbor, but me. I may think my neighbor's position is a lot less secure than mine, but God will not be asking me what I think of my neighbor.

In Handel's masterpiece, when the messenger has asked, "... and who can stand?", the urgency and power of his music return when he proclaims: " 'For he is like a refiner's fire. . . ." Again and again Handel intersperses the question, "who shall stand?" and the response, "For he is like a refiner's fire. . . ." Musically, Handel is challenging us to serious soul-searching. All of us need to be refined by the judgment of God.

How We Treat Others

For those who cannot understand why they need to be purified, Malachi goes on to catalog what is really important to the Lord: "I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, against the adulterers, against those who swear falsely, against those who oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow and the orphan, against those who thrust aside the sojourner, and do not fear me . . ." (3:5b). Except for the "sorcerers," the list is a contemporary one, isn't it? It would not likely be the list you and I would come up with. Essentially, this list is about how we treat others.

On an overriding positive note, God says, "Return to me and I will return to you." But they still don't see how this applies to them, "How shall we return?" So, God gets more specific: "Will a man rob God? Yet you are robbing me." And they want to know "How are we robbing you?"

God knows that their reason for holding back on their tithes and offerings is that they think they will not have enough for themselves. But the Lord challenges them with a promise: ". . . put me to the test . . . if I will not open the windows of heaven for you and pour down for you an overflowing blessing." (3:6-10).

Give it some thought. How do you rob God?

CLASS III PRICES EXCEED $14 PER CWT!

What a difference a month makes. This week at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, block cheese prices stayed at $1.60 per pound — barrel cheese was $1.58 per pound. Even butter prices were higher. Grade AA butter averaged $1.2117 per pound for the week.

The Class III futures at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange reflected bullish market conditions. As of Aug. 8, 2003, August Class III futures were $13.80 per CWT. September Class III futures were $14.60 per CWT. Thereafter, prices fell to $12.48 per CWT by December.

The markets are reacting to concerns that hot weather in California did some serious damage to milk output. Plants are reporting that deliveries in July were down from a year ago, and component levels were lower. We'll know more when the Milk Production report is released next Friday. The cheese market is concerned that problems in California could result in reduced U.S. cheese supplies later this fall.

A quick look at 5-year average prices indicates that for the months August through December of this year, the Class III futures markets are offering very favorable opportunities to lock in milk prices. Any time Class III prices exceed $14 per CWT, dairy producers should consider using the futures markets.

In terms of strategy, producers may want to consider protecting September through December milk marketings. Those prices are very favorable right now and more likely to decline if California recovers and mill output in-

SPOT PRICES OF CLASS II CREAM, dollars per lb butterfat: F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: 1.6721-1.9145. Delivered Equivalent: Atlanta: 1.6964-1.9145 mostly 1.7448-1.8660.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: Class II, includes monthly formula prices: .8500-.9300. Class III, spot prices: 1.0300-1.1500.

SPOTS SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This Week: In 75, Out 0; Last Week In 61, Out 0; Last Week In 68, Out 0. SOUTHEAST STATES: This Week: In 0, Out 0; Last Week In 0, Out 0; Last Week In 0, Out 0.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to changes in milk supply agreements, milk import/export totals are not directly comparable to year ago figures and to shipments prior to April 1, 2003

Regional Milk Market Administrators announced the following, July 2003 uniform prices: Northeast $12.46, Mideast $11.68, Southeast $12.47 and Florida $13.46. (For the Northeast and Mideast, statistical uniform prices not reported.)

Milk production continues to ease lower in most parts of the region. Rain persisted this week throughout much of the region and humidity levels were high from Vermont to Florida. Temperatures have been seasonal, but the Fat and protein test remain seasonally low.

Fluid milk demand is improving, particularly in the Southeast where many schools are back in session this week. School openings are "spread" over three to four weeks, starting in the South and working north where most schools open after Labor Day. Milk imports into Florida are increasing, but contacts expect volumes to jump next week when the majority of schools reopen. Milk is being shipped from Texas, Pennsylvania and Michigan this week. In the Northeast, milk supplies are tight, but contacts are preparing for tighter volumes when school pipelines get filled, late this month.

The condensed skim market is mostly steady. Class II and III prices are unchanged and a few spot sales were reported. Most Class III users have switched to NDM as a lower cost source of solids.

The fluid cream market remains firm. Spot prices are steady to lower as the CME average butter price declined nearly a cent last week. Multiples are generally unchanged from past weeks. Offerings are light and loads from the West continue to be shipped across the country to supplement local availability. Demand for cream is good, but the summer season is winding down and many ice cream manufacturers are preparing to reduce operations after Labor Day. The warm muggy weather is helping soft serve mix consumption. Cream cheese output is little changed from past weeks. Bottled cream sales are slowing slightly. Churning activity is

COULD LEPTO BE CAUSING YOUR BREEDING PROBLEMS?

Dr. Arlen Mills
Capital Region
Extension Veterinarian
Lebanon

About all farms I visit vaccinate for lepto on a regular basis. But in spite of a regular vaccination, lepto can still be a problem.

Most vaccines used contain five different strains of the lepto organism. One of these types or strains has been known as lepto hardjo. It has been known for years that cattle are the normal host of this type of lepto and can carry the organism and shed it into the environment around them. Our current vaccines have not been shown to be effective in the control of lepto hardjo.

The lepto hardjo strain has recently been better defined and renamed as Leptospira borbpetersenii serovar hardjo (type hardjobovis). Lepto infections have been shown to cause chronic reproductive problems in infected herds. This can be seen as early embryonic death, resulting in an increase in services per conception. Infected cows may be bred and may miss a heat only to be seen in heat later. It may also cause an occasional abortion and the birth of weak calves that usually do not survive.

Also linked to lepto hardjobovis infections is a type of mastitis. Affected cows go off-milk, and may be off-feed for several days. These cows will eventually start eating but rarely return to normal milk production.

If any of these symptoms are seen in a herd, diagnosis has been a problem. Cattle do not develop a good immune response to lepto infection. Even taking two blood samples three to four weeks apart has not been helpful as it often is for other infectious organisms.

Researchers at Michigan State University have determined a method to collect urine from suspect cows and check for the lepto organism. The urine must be collected after giving cows Lasix to dilute the urine to flush the organism from the cow's kidneys. Herds where lepto is suspected as causing reproductive problems need to consider collecting urine on several cows to submit for testing. This can be done along with blood tests to check for BVD and Neospora.

Lepto vaccines currently available may not protect against the lepto hardjo-bovis strain. We know that vaccination does not prevent infected cows from shedding the organism in urine and uterine secretions. So current vaccination use may only give us a false sense of security. Some believe that many dairy heifers are exposed and infected with lepto hardjo-bovis at an early age before most producers even begin vaccination.

Fortunately, a new vaccine will soon be available that will protect against lepto hardjo-bovis infection. This vaccine will also stop shedding of cattle already infected. The initial vaccine will apparently contain only the new strain and will have to be used in addition to the available five-strain lepto vaccine.

If you are having trouble getting cows pregnant, you may want to discuss the possibility of lepto hardjo-bovis with your veterinarian. Make sure that you also rule out chronic BVD and Neospora infection as well.

Pennsylvania Equine Survey Summarized

Dr. Ann M. Swinker
Extension Horse Specialist
Penn State

Editor's note: Pennsylvania Horse Power was developed for promoting and educating people on the size, scope and economic impact of the equine industry in Pennsylvania.

The information found in Pennsylvania Horse Power is a summary of the results found in the "2002 Pennsylvania Equine Survey" in addition to other specific facts noted.

The "2002 Pennsylvania Equine Survey" was conducted the Pennsylvania State University. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, through the State Horse and Harness Racing Commissions, contracted with The Pennsylvania State University to conduct the study.

Look for the second half of this summary in an upcoming issue of Lancaster Farming.

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Horses are a huge force in Pennsylvania's culture and economy. Just as horses were important enough to our forefathers to include on Pennsylvania's State Seal, this study suggests that the state's thriving equine industry can help enhance the quality of life for future generations.

This study shows that the number of equine has increased 27 percent in the last ten years. More horses mean a stronger demand for production agriculture and the infrastructure that supports it. Most Pennsylvanians agree that more farmland and a strong farm economy are good for everyone's quality of life.

Economic Value

Overall, the direct and secondary contributions of the state's equine industry are estimated at more than $1.12 billion in revenue (output), of which nearly $615 million is value-added.

This translates into 20,300 jobs that compensate state workers with $412.2 million.

The racehorse survey indicated that this portion of the industry generated $197.4 million in output and $100.6 million in value added. This activity directly supported 4,740 jobs. Accounting for multiplier effects, the racing industry supported an additional $147.1 million in output, of which $87 million was value added, and 1,690 additional jobs.

The general population results indicated that the industry directly generates $445.5 million in output, of which $229.9 million is value added. This activity provides 10,220 jobs. And the ripple effects generate still more economic activity, supporting $334.5 million in output, of which $197.6 million is value-added, and 3,650 additional jobs.

Equine Population

The 216,000 equid living in Pennsylvania represent approximately 50 different breeds, encompassing horses developed in this country by pioneers and Native Americans as well as horses imported from around the world.

The American Quarter Horse at 40,110 head, represents the most popular light horse breed in the state, followed by Arabians and Half Arabians at 11,154; Morgans with 10,136; Thoroughbreds (non-racing) at 9,567; Mules/Donkeys with 8,665 head; and Appaloosas with 7985.

The survey respondents, identified specific other breeds and/or grade horses totaling 7,248 head; a large portion of these are light horse breeds.

Draft horse breeds totaled 11,185 head; Belgians with 6,202 head were the most popular followed by the Percherons with 3,000 head.

Pony breeds accounted for 10,577 head (Welsh 3,582, Hackneys 1,635, Shetlands 1,538 and other breeds at 3,822). There were 3,450 Miniature horses reported.

Pennsylvania's Racehorse Breeds

Pennsylvania's racehorse industry included 26,365 head of horses. There were 14,815 and 11,550 head of Standardbreds and Thoroughbreds, respectively.

An additional 6,317 Standardbreds and 9,567 Thorough-

Premier Wart Relief
- Environmentally Friendly
- No Copper

Wrap Formula Protocol

The wrap formula is designed to be topically applied directly on the wart with the use of a wrap product for clinical animals. Apply one scoop of Premier Wart Relief™ wrap formula to the wrap. Wrap the hoof taking care to cover the wart in its entirety. Leave wrapped for 7-14 days.

Footbath Formula Protocol

The footbath formula is designed to be used in the dairy's footbath initially to eliminate the existing warts and as a maintenance product to reduce the likelihood of reoccurrence. Mix 24 lbs. of Premier Wart Relief™ footbath powder per 50 gallons of water (12 lbs. per 25 gallon footbath). Change as necessary to maintain a clean and effective footbath.

Eastern Cornbelt Direct Feeder Cattle Weekly

Springfield, Ill.
August 8, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Eastern Cornbelt Direct Feeder Cattle Summary — Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio: Compared to last week, feeder cattle were mostly firm to 1.00 higher. Demand and trading activity were moderate. The continued ban on Canadian cattle and tight feeder cattle supplies supported prices. Dry weather has lead to reduced grazing in some parts of the Cornbelt and producers in these areas have begun to market more cattle under 600 lbs. Reported sales consisted of about 30% beef steers, 64% heifers and 6% Holstein steers. Approximately 67% of the cattle marketed this week weighed over 600 lbs. Confirmed sales 950 this week, 1300 last week and 800 last year.

Tillers Turn 'Trash' To Topsoil Treasure At Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Conserving crop residue is important in reducing topsoil erosion and nutrient runoff, and the latest tools and techniques for surface residue conservation will be on display at special tillage demonstrations that will be held at 11:30 a.m. daily at Penn State's 2003 Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21.

The event takes place at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rock Springs, nine miles southwest of State College on Rt. 45.

Ron Hoover, senior project associate in crop and soil sciences, explains that crop residue — what farmers call "trash" — is important in reducing water-induced soil erosion.

"Raindrops that fall directly onto bare soil break the larger soil aggregates into smaller particles that are more easily transported in runoff," Hoover said. "Costly fertilizer nutrients also are lost with the topsoil. So manufacturers have responded with the increasingly popular one-pass tools that we will be demonstrating.

"Most implements will perform some medium to deep tillage, followed by a gang of discs or a field cultivator to reduce clods, and finish with a field leveling attachment. Other tools simply will level the surface of the field with little soil penetration."

Conservation tillage has been gaining in popularity in recent decades, Hoover says, but experts are concerned that unnecessary tillage continues. With each pass of most tillage implements, less plant residue remains on the surface.

"With some of the newer, one-pass tillage tools available today, many of the follow-up passes may be unnecessary," he noted. "In addition to reducing much-needed surface residue, these additional operations cost producers in the form of extra time, fuel and wear on equipment."

Hoover said many of the planters available to farmers in the past decade are more than able to place seed properly into a less than perfectly smooth field. "Our growers spend a lot of money on new state-of-the-art planters," he said. "If they aren't comfortable with no-till, they at least need to cut back on tillage and let the planter do more of the work."

The demonstration each day will begin with a short discussion led by Sjoerd Duiker, assistant professor of soil management, followed with comments from implement manufacturers' representatives of the tillage implements. Last year's deep-tillage demonstrations drew more than 1,000 spectators, and Hoover expects interest in this year's demonstration to be at least as great.

Other field machinery demonstrations will feature hay mowing, hay rakes and tedders, baling, bale handling and manure application to reduce odor and preserve residue cover.

Farm Health Screenings, Safety Demonstration At Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — With a tractor-accident rescue demonstration, free health screenings, and on-site agricultural emergency specialists, this year's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21, focuses on the health and safety of farmers like never before.

Farmers won't want to miss the farm-safety demonstration area, Agricultural Health and Safety tent, and the AgrAbility and Agromedicine Tent.

On Wednesday, Aug. 20, two tractor emergency response demonstrations will be conducted in the demonstration area. "An overturned tractor will be used to demonstrate scene stabilization and extrication techniques," said Dave Hill, Penn State senior extension associate and agricultural emergency management program director. "The purpose of these demonstrations is to show people the typical 'tiered' emergency response to a farm-related injury emergency."

An ambulance crew and fire department crew are scheduled to attend and assist with the demonstration. State College-area Future Farmers of America (FFA) will operate an all-terrain vehicle to demonstrate how the farm community can be involved with on-farm rescues.

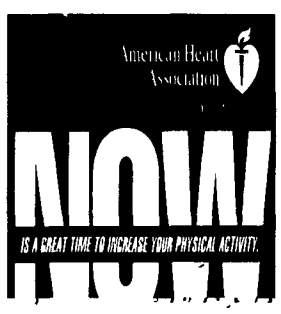
The risk of grain entrapment will be featured in the demonstration area and in the Health and Safety tent. On Tuesday and Thursday, safety specialists will demonstrate the hazards of flowing grain with a ¼-scale grain entrapment simulator. Emergency response also will be shown.

Visitors can examine the latest Pennsylvania farm injury statistics and talk to farm safety and agricultural emergency management specialists about programs and resources in the Health and Safety tent.

At the AgrAbility/Agromedicine Tent, a variety of health screenings will be offered all three days. AgrAbility is a national information and technology network for farmers, farm workers and family members who continue to farm despite ongoing physical or medical difficulties. The program emphasizes health and safety on the farm.

Geisinger Health Systems will conduct free osteoporosis screenings, the state Department of Health will provide free tetanus shots and the Home Nursing Agency will providing free stroke assessments and blood pressure readings. The New York Center for Agricultural Medicine and Health will be conducting respiratory screenings on Tuesday and Wednesday.

On Wednesday, 4-H and FFA teams will compete in the Farm Safety and Health Quiz Bowl. Team members will answer farm safety and health questions in this semi-final quiz bowl event. The winning teams will advance to the state finals in January at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.



Heat Stress Lowers Milk Production
Eliminate Heat Stress with Evaporative Cooling

What is Evaporative Cooling?

When water evaporates, heat energy is converted into a different form, which lowers the temperature of the air or the object that the water was on. As water evaporates the temperature continues to drop until the air reaches the 100% saturated point. In the northeast U.S. there is typically a 16 degree F. cooling potential on an average 90 degree day. Since most evaporative pad systems are designed to be 75% efficient, that means that a 12 degree temperature drop could be expected. When temperatures reach 98 to 100 degrees, there is often a cooling potential of up to 24 degrees, resulting in an 18 degree drop in barn air temperatures. THE HOTTER IT IS, THE MORE COOLING YOU GET!

Evaporative Cooling for Dairy Tie-stall and Free Stall Barns

The use of evaporative cooling for livestock and poultry in the northeast United States has been gaining acceptance in recent years. The main reason being that producers now understand that during the hottest part of the day, the relative humidity is often very low, which allows for the effective use of evaporative cooling. Since many tie-stall dairy barns now use tunnel ventilation systems for hot weather, dairy farmers can further enhance their hot weather ventilation by adding evaporative cooling pads. These systems work hand-in-hand to increase the amount of heat removed from the cow due to the high air speeds. The cost of the cooling system is minimized when designing it for tunnel ventilation compared to a cross-flow ventilation system.

Sec. Wolff Kicks Off Rabies Vaccine Project

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Dennis C. Wolff Monday kicked off the oral rabies baiting project in western Pennsylvania that will run through Sept. 12.

"I am pleased that the department is participating in the oral rabies vaccination project again this year," Secretary Wolff said. "The rabies baiting project has been enormously successful in Pennsylvania. In the area covered by last year's baiting program, we have seen a 50 percent decline in raccoons testing positive for the rabies virus."

Seven agencies (United States Department of Agriculture, Pennsylvania Department of Health, Allegheny County Department of Health, Erie County Department of Health, Pennsylvania Game Commission, Communicable Disease Center and Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture) are participating in the USDA Wildlife Services' attempt to establish a barrier stretching from the eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania Lake Erie shoreline southward through West Virginia, Virginia, and into Northern Tennessee to reduce the risk of raccoon rabies spreading westward into the middle and upper central states. The baited zone will extend approximately 60 miles into Pennsylvania.

Melvin To Speak At Ag Republican Event

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Judge Joan Orie Melvin, candidate for Pennsylvania Supreme Court, will speak at the annual Pennsylvania Ag Republican chicken barbecue, Wednesday, Aug. 20.

The barbecue will begin with a 5:30 p.m. iced tea social hour with dinner served at 6:30 p.m. at the VFW picnic grounds on Rt. 45, Pine Grove Mills.

The fundraising event traditionally coincides with Ag Progress Days, which attracts thousands of farmers and agribusiness people.

Melvin comes from the Pittsburgh area and is serving her sixth year on the Pennsylvania Superior Court. As a mother and as a judge, she has had the needs of children and families foremost in her mind when making decisions for the people.

Also invited to the event are the three Republican candidates for judge of the Pennsylvania Superior Court: Grainger Bowman, Cumberland County; Judge Palmer Dolbin, Schuylkill County; and Susan Gantman, Montgomery County.

Reservations are $25 each and can be made by contacting Pennsylvania Ag Republicans, Mike Firestine, Chairman, 4438 Conrad Weiser Parkway, Womelsdorf, PA 19567, (717) 274-6906.

Ag Progress Days Provide Variety

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — From hay baling and manure handling demonstrations to safety workshops and a skid steer rodeo, Penn State's 2003 Ag Progress Days will showcase a diversity of agricultural equipment and technology. The event takes place Aug. 19-21 at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rockspring.

"Each year we try to have something for everyone. Our exhibitor base is more diverse as the industry changes throughout the state," said Bob Oberheim, Ag Progress Days manager. "In all four corners of the show, our programs have changed and improved to stay current with topics of interest for the audience and the industry."

Oberheim expects more than 350 commercial exhibitors, 30-35 being new to the show. Visitors can examine the latest technology, goods and services, and speak with company representatives. "One company will have its own area where potential buyers can operate a self-propelled forage harvester," he said.

This year's event will feature many field demonstrations, with an emphasis on hay. "One unique thing about our outdoor show is that commercial companies can take their equipment to the field and demonstrate it," Oberheim said. "The audience can see a wide range of mowers, balers, and new for this year, different types of wrappers."

Other field demonstrations will include a horse-drawn power baler, tillage tools for conservation of surface residue and manure application to reduce odor and preserve residue cover. A skid steer rodeo on Wednesday will give contestants a chance to win prizes on a timed track.

A grain entrapment safety demonstration will highlight farm safety programs at the event. The York County Police Department also will hold a workshop on farm equipment highway safety.

Workshops, tours, and exhibits will focus on such topics as grazing and forage management, beef production, stream corridor management and the Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program. Visitors will be able to ask Penn State experts about anything from dairy, livestock and equine production to soils, crops and integrated pest management.

Top Teacher Recognized At Kutztown Fair

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Celeste Ball, agricultural science teacher at Kutztown High School, was honored by Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Dennis Wolff Wednesday evening for winning Disney's American Teacher Award Honoree for High School Science and Math. Ball was one of the 32 out of 180,000 applicants of the award for her outstanding work with teaching ag sciences at Kutztown High School. On hand were many state and local township officials during the presentation. This is Ball's eighth year at Kutztown, which has 130 students enrolled in ag education and about 43 at the Kutztown FFA Chapter. Wolff provided Ball with a commendation for being a "premier ag science teacher," Wolff said.

Sign-Up Period Begins For USDA's Livestock Assistance Program

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Upon announcing the start of the sign-up period for the Livestock Assistance Program (LAP), Wednesday (Aug. 6), USDA Secretary Ann Veneman said: "This program will provide additional relief to livestock producers who suffered grazing losses due to drought, severe weather and related causes, and have limited safety net and risk management tools available."

This program was authorized by the Agricultural Assistance Act of 2003 (2003 Act) and $250 million were made available to livestock producers for grazing losses that occurred in either 2001 or 2002.

When the sign-up period ends (Oct. 24, 2003), the total value of all applications will be determined and if in excess of $250 million will be adjusted proportionately.

Under LAP, a producer's grazing land must be located in a county that was declared a primary disaster area under a Presidential or Secretarial declaration. The county must have been approved after Jan. 1, 2001, and a designation requested no later than Feb. 20, 2003, and subsequently approved. Contiguous counties are not eligible.

For those counties designated as a disaster area for 2001 or 2002, additional LAP eligibility criteria must be met for each year. A county must have suffered at least a 40 percent grazing loss for three or more consecutive months in a calendar year in order to be eligible for that year.

A county may meet eligibility requirements for both 2001 and 2002; however, a producer in that county may receive a LAP payment for only one of the years.

LAP is a grazing loss program. However, payments are on a per head basis of eligible livestock, including beef and dairy cattle, buffalo, beefalo, sheep, goats, swine and certain equine animals. A producer must have control of adequate grazing land to support the eligible livestock.

During 2001 or 2002, a livestock producer must have suffered a 40 percent or greater loss of grazing production for three or more consecutive months due to drought, hot weather, disease, insect infestation, flood, fire, hurricane, earthquake, severe storm or other natural disasters.

The 2003 Act required that an adjusted gross income (AGI) limitation apply, a change from previous LAPs. Also, LAP payments to a producer will be reduced by the amount of assistance received by that producer under previous Livestock Compensation Programs (LCP-I, LCP-II) and the 2002 Cattle Feed Program.

A producer must possess beneficial and financial interests in eligible livestock that have been owned or leased for at least three months.

A $40,000 payment limitation also applies to LAP assistance.

USDA has developed a Web site that provides producers with one convenient location for details on new and existing disaster assistance. The Web site can be accessed at http://disaster.usda.gov/

A Dry Cow Booster That Costs 7¢ a Day

Hoffmans Horse and Cattle Powder is an ideal tonic for cows over freshening. Feed 6 wks. before freshening. 1 Tablespoon a day. (Two weeks over freshening, feed 1 Tablespoon in the morning & 1 Tablespoon in evening)

Cows will clean better after freshening Cows have a lower somatic cell count and will have less mastitus problems Great for reproduction tract and cows will cycle better after freshening Will help rumen function over freshening Less feet problems and less stress

This is an over-all good booster if fed to dry cows, and it will pay you big dividends.

Dairy Families Pack Krall Farm For Lebanon Holstein Night

Ray Seidel, left, was official Holstein judge for the evening. Harry Bachman provided the speakerphone for Seidel to announce his reasons.

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Anyone feeling down about the hardships of dairy farmers these days should have been at the Lebanon County Holstein Field Night at Donald Krall's. From all the signs there, life is pretty good.

If any of the 460 guests at the Aug. 1 picnic were complaining about tough times it was hard to hear them over the upbeat chatter of friends and about 100 playing children. They gathered for fellowship and good food, including homemade ice cream.

They came to see some fine dairy animals, too.

Donald Krall owns and manages the herd of 67 high-quality Holsteins north of Schaefferstown, on the farm of his parents Arthur and Sara Jane Krall. Donald grew up on the dairy, which is a recognized Century Farm.

Krall's breed age average (BAA) stands at 107.1. The herd includes five Excellent cows, 26 Very Goods, and 26 Good Pluses.

Rolling herd average is about 25,000 pounds, with 3.6 percent butterfat and 3.2 percent protein.

Field night guests had a chance to judge three classes from Krall's herd: senior yearlings, 2-year-olds, and aged cows.

Longtime dairy judge Ray Seidel was the official placer for the evening.

Winners in four divisions were:

Youth 13 and under: 1. Ethan Himmelberger 2. Jason Kline 3. Nathan Brandt.

Men: 1. Jay Good 2. Tim Gettle 3. Pat Arnold

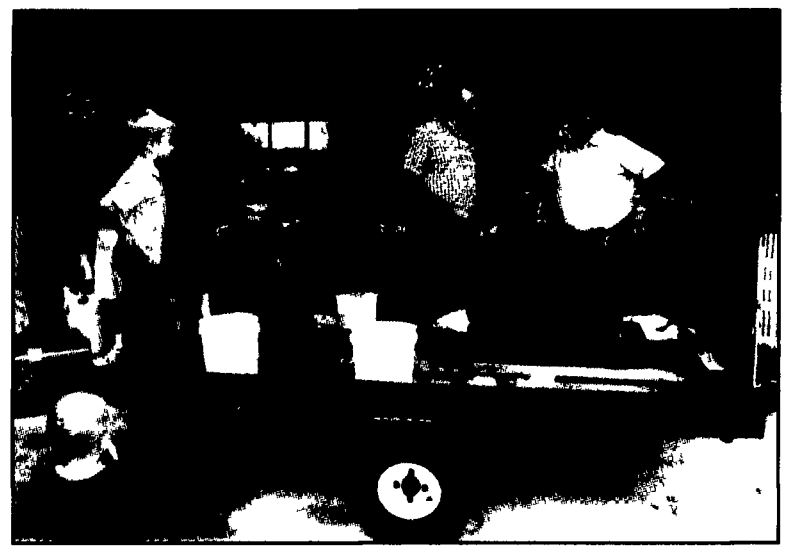
Guests consumed well over 25 gallons of homemade ice cream, including that made by the winners of an ice cream making contest.

Lois Horst produced the winning batch, followed by Miranda Sellers and Kevin Bomgardner.

According to Donald Krall, it was the first year that field night guests were treated to homemade ice cream. The contest seemed liked a good idea to go along with offering homemade ice cream, Krall said.

Melvin Nolt and his son Donald were on hand with an antique 25-quart homemade ice cream freezer powered by a one-cylinder 1½ horsepower "hit-and-miss" motor. The setup churned out three extra-big batches to help meet the demand for ice cream.

Neighboring dairyman Jerry Musser was chairman of the field night.



Melvin Nolt, right, and his son Richard operate their antique, 25-quart homemade ice cream freezer to help meet the huge dessert demand at the Lebanon County Holstein Night. Checking up on their progress is Ryan Brubaker, on wagon. The freezer is powered by a one-cylinder "hit-and-miss" engine, and churned out about 20 gallons of ice cream throughout the evening.

About 100 children attended the picnic.

'Suburban' Chester Co. Dairy Hosts Holstein Field Day

CHESTER SPRINGS (Chester Co.) — Visitors to the Chester County Holstein Field Day this week had the chance to view a unique and thriving dairy operation in a highly-populated area.

"We're a small farm in suburbia trying to figure out how to survive," said Carolyn Matthews Eaglehouse, daughter of Sam and Melba Matthews, Milky Way owners.

Within the last couple of years, the family has made some major adaptations to help meet the demands of farming in the 21st century.

In 2001, they started Chester Springs Creamery for selling ice cream off the farm. Last year, they installed a robotic milker for the herd of 35 registered milking Holsteins.

Sam Matthews said he is pleased with the labor-saving robotic setup after one year of operation.

"It's the best hired man or woman you can get in this area," he said.

The frequent milkings allowed by the robot have also boosted milk production, he noted.

About 5 percent of the milk produced on the farm goes toward making the ice cream sold in the creamery. This milk is processed elsewhere and cream then returned the farm.

Milky Way Farm is a neighbor-friendly operation, allowing frequent opportunities for the public to come on the farm. Beside those buying ice cream at the creamery, about 13,000 people pick their own pumpkins on the farm in October, and 4,000 school kids come .for tours throughout the school year.

The field day drew about 170 guests, including Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Dennis Wolff, who updated the group on his work in Harrisburg for the dairy industry.

Highlights included a calf raffle and a Holstein judging contest.

Jason Hostetter of Oxford won the July-born raffle calf provided by Betsy Brown and sponsored by Cargill and Purina.

Hostetter, 9, said he plans to raise the calf on his home farm, where he and his family keep other calves as well.

Marilyn Umble of Atglen had the high score in the judging contest. Second and third places in the women's division went to Heather Herr and Holly Sollenberger, respectively.

In the youth division, Kelly King and Rachel Lusby tied for first place, with Scott Umble and Daryl Stoltzfus placing second and third.

Tom Matthews and Paul Berdell tied for first in the men's division, followed by Ken Umble.

Lancaster Farming plans to feature Milky Way Farm and Chester Springs Creamery in its next edition of Dairy Plus, scheduled for Sept. 20.

A focus on the latest forage varieties will be part of the Sept. 13 issue of Foraging Around. Also scheduled: update on pastured poultry research at Penn State and the latest haymaking and grazing information from various field days.

Lancaster 4-H'ers Bring Their Best To Roundup

Josh Hershberger shows "Rosco," grand champion dairy beef, at the Lancaster County 4-H Roundup last Saturday.

WEST LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Fun, frolic, prizes — what more could you ask for?

How about some recognition for a job well done?

That's the feeling 4-H'ers experienced last Saturday when they brought their best 4-H livestock projects to compete during the annual Lancaster County 4-H Roundup at the West Lampeter Fairgrounds.

Champions took home various honors. Katrina Frey, Quarryville, won grand champion heifer. Katie Nolt, New Holland, won grand champion steer. Josh Hershberger, Quarryville, won grand champion dairy beef.

Katrina, 13, is the daughter of Fritz and Nancy Frey, Quarryville. Katrina noted this was her first champion at the roundup. The Swift Middle School eighth grader showed an Angus heifer, obtained from Virginia On the Sycamore Sale in Dalton, Va.

The animal is a "home improvement project," noted Katrina's mother Nancy, to help improve the herd. Katrina cares for eight brood cows. The heifer won its class at the Eastern Regional Show. Katrina plans to show at KILE and the North American International Livestock Exposition.

Katie Nolt showed "Toby," a purebred homebred Angus steer, to grand champion market steer. Katie, 14, is the daughter of Charlene and Gene Nolt, New Holland. The Garden Spot High School ninth grader already showed a champion steer at the roundup, she noted. She plans to show at Ephrata, Keystone International Livestock Expo, and Farm Show.

Josh Hershberger, 14, son of Dan and Gail Hershberger, Quarryville, exhibited "Rosco" to supreme dairy beef. The Solanco

High School student also raised the homebred animal and plans to show at the Solanco Fair in September.

Cassandra Shenk, 16, daughter of Barry and Cheryl Shenk, Mount Joy, exhibited a reserve champion at the roundup, her first time. Cassandra purchased the steer, "Otis," from Walnut Run Farm, Manheim.

Jenna Hershberger, 12, Josh's sister, won grand champion beef showman at the roundup. She's in seventh grade at the Swift Middle School.

At the market swine competition earlier in the week, Tiffany Dean exhibited the grand champion hog. Tiffany, 17, daughter of Gary and Joan Dean, Strasburg, exhibited a middleweight champion barrow named "Doc."

Tiffany, who has nine years in 4-H, nicknamed the Blue Butt (York/Hampshire crossbred) barrow after a doctor she purchased the hog from in Clinton County.

Tiffany said she used commercial "show feed" to help provide the hog with a good finish. Tiffany noted she wanted to thank her dad, Gary, for taking care of the hogs "when I went to Europe for three weeks," she said.

Tiffany plans to show at various fairs, including Solanco, Lampeter, Keystone, and Farm Show.

Conservation Reserve Program Expansion To Be Announced At Ag Progress Days

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — An announcement to expand the Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program (CREP) is due to be made at the 2003 Ag Progress Days.

CREP, offered through the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is a partnership of federal, state, and non-governmental agencies that provides generous cost-share and annual rental payments for landowners to install a wide variety of conservation practices.

Landowners who enroll have many options ranging from stream bank fencing to conservation cover for highly erodible land.

The expanded CREP builds on the success of the highly popular existing CREP and more than doubles the list of eligible Pennsylvania counties from 20 to 43.

The expanded CREP is authorized to enroll up to 200,000 acres in conservation practices and will bring more than $300 million in federal and state funding to Pennsylvania farmers making CREP the single largest conservation initiative in Pennsylvania.

"This year's Ag Progress Days features the announcement of a doubling in scale of CREP. For every dollar Pennsylvania invests, CREP will leverage $5 or more in federal funding for implementing conservation practices that promote clean streams, soil conservation and improved wildlife habitat," said Dave Wise, for Chesapeake Bay Foundation.

"The expansion of this program," Wise said, "holds enormous potential for achieving marked gains in resource conservation and will provide much needed assistance for many cash-tight farm operations."

Formal signup is slated to begin September 2003. Waiting lists already include hundreds of farmers in the newly added counties.

Details of CREP will be presented at 10 a.m. in the Ag Alumni Pavilion and in the Conservation & Education Tent at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 19, and Thursday, Aug. 21, and continuously at the CREP booth.

Lebanon County 4-H Poultry Club

Lebanon County has a new 4-H poultry club designed to encourage maturity and leadership through the raising and showing of poultry.

The club is lead by Lisa Spitler of Denver and Jeanne Griswold of Newmanstown. The meetings are conducted in the Kleinfeltersville area and are open to poultry enthusiasts between the ages of 8 and 18 in the Lancaster, Lebanon, and Berks counties.

Club members have the opportunity to learn about their poultry through meetings, presentations, field trips, and hands-on activities. One such field trip is planned for a poultry show and sale in York.

Anyone interested in becoming a member or volunteering, call (717) 335-0541 or (717) 949-8331.

Dietrich Exhibits Her First Grand Champion Ram At Kutztown

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Year one of competing at the breeding sheep show brought a championship to Kutztown High School sophomore Karen Dietrich, who won supreme champion ram Wednesday here at the Kutztown Fair.

Karen, 16, daughter of Debbie and Lynn Dietrich, Lenhartsville, showed a Dorset fall ram to championship on her first year of bred sheep competition.

Karen purchased the Dorset ram from Harold Tyson, Kempton. She picked the lamb because "his ears were really cute," said Karen. "He has the length of body and breed characteristics (necessary to compete)."

Karen plans to show at Allentown and Oley fairs, in addition to Farm Show.

"Queeny" was truly a champion for exhibitor Amanda Miller. The Tulpehocken High School senior exhibited the Southdown yearling ewe to supreme ewe Wednesday at Kutztown Fair.

Amanda, 18, daughter of Ron and Joan Miller, Bernville, has exhibited champions before at Kutztown.

Amanda plans to show at Allentown, Oley, York, Keystone, and Farm Show.

In market lamb competition, Chad Weyer also points out this is his first championship, winning with "Cocoa," a crossbred Suffolk and Hampshire ewe. Chad, 16, is the son of Randy and Carol Weyer, Mohrsville.

The junior at Schuylkill Valley High School said this was his second year of showing at Kutztown and he plans to show at Oley. The lamb was obtained from the Fleeners in Womelsdorf.

Reserve champion went to Jere Essig, 10, son of Steve and Teri Essig, Bernville. The Strausstown Elementary fifth grader noted he took reserve at Reading this year and this is his first Kutztown champion.

Jere, who nicknamed the Hampshire/Suffolk ewe "Dusty," obtained the lamb from Fleeners.

Rural Communities Cautioned About Rabies Vaccine Bait

CAMP HILL (CUMBERLAND Co.) — Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB) President Guy F. Donaldson encourages the farm and rural community to be aware of rabies vaccine bait that is being distributed in the fields and woods of western Pennsylvania between August 11 and September 12.

"For the second consecutive year, as part of the USDA Wildlife Services division's Oral Rabies Vaccination Program (ORV), bait will be dropped from airplanes flying over rural areas and scattered by hand in the urban areas of western Pennsylvania in an attempt to eliminate raccoon rabies, the most common strain of rabies in the state and a serious danger for both animals and humans," said Donaldson.

The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, in partnership with USDA Wildlife Services, encourages members and the public residing in Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Crawford, Erie, Fayette, Greene, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango, Washington and Westmoreland counties to take the following precautions:

If you find bait near your home intact and out in the open, put a glove on to keep the fish oil and odor off your fingers and toss the bait into a wooded area or place where a raccoon is likely to find it and where children and pets are not likely to be exposed. If the bait is broken open, use a paper towel or plastic bag to pick it up and wash your hands as a precaution.

To help ensure that raccoons consume the bait pieces, keep pets inside or on a short leash for at least five days after baiting occurs in your area. The fish odor may attract cats and dogs and, while the vaccine will not make your pet sick, it is not intended for use to vaccinate animals other than wildlife. If your pet does ingest bait, do not try to remove it from the animal's mouth as the animal may bite, exposing you to the modified live virus in the vaccine. If your pet does eat bait, the vaccine may remain in its mouth for up to 48 hours, so you should wash your hands with soap and water if you come in contact with your pet's saliva.

If you are exposed to the vaccine or need advice, contact the Pa. Department of Health, 1-877-PA HEALTH.

Contact USDA Wildlife Services at (717) 728-0700 if at any time you observe a raccoon that is sick or acting strange.

Dairy Beef Winners Will Miss Calves

NICKI LEFEVER
Special Corresondent

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Thanks to Jason Rice, Freedom lives a stress-free life.

Jason, 14, lives on Bad Farm, a dairy farm in Kempton. His heavyweight calf, Freedom, took grand champion at the Kutztown dairy beef show.

Jason did better than he expected and he was very happy with his results at the show, because he also won grand champion showman.

"I feed him as much as possible and keep him away from stress," he said.

Jason lives in the middle of nowhere so it isn't too hard to keep Freedom away from stress he said. Jason spends about two hours a day with Freedom. He also has 4 dairy cows at the show.

This is Jason's sixth year showing ane he will be in eighth grade at Kutztown Middle School in the fall.

Rachael Stafford is 10, but this is her first year showing. Charlie, Rachael's heavyweight calf, won reserve grand champion dairy beef.

With her first year success, Rachael said she wants to work even harder for next year.

"This is my last fair, and I had a lot of fun doing it," she said. "I am looking forward to next year."

Rachael lives on Penn Jersey Farm, a dairy beef and hog farm in Strausstown. She will be in fifth grade at Strausstown Elementary in the fall.

Both of the winners said they will be sad to see them their calves go at the roundup in September.

"They are like my pets," Rice said.

'Who' Helps Dietrich Place High

NICKI LEFEVER
Special Correspondent

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Who, a Black Angus steer, can be confused for a dog and Kristy Dietrich is going to be sad to let him go.

"I cry every year," she said. "This year is going to be especially hard."

Kristy, the 18-year-old daughter of James and Donna Dietrich, did extremely well at the Kutztown Fair steer show. She took grand champion showman and fitter and grand champion market steer with Who, her best county steer so far.

Kristy said she had her hopes high, but anything can happen. She was confident because Who was by her side. She said her homebred steer is like a dog. He moos to wake her up in the morning and cuddles up to her when she is taking care of him throughout the day.

The Dietrich family lives on a large beef farm in Hamburg, where Kristy has grown up around steers and become accustom to working with them.

"I am so proud of her, because she deserves it. She is such a hard worker and she always does her own work," her mom Donna Dietrich said. " Her dad and I just drove her around."

Kristy is a 2003 graduate of Tulpehocken High School. She will attend Penn State starting at the end of the month for animal sciences and all her premiums go into the savings account to pay for college.

Eleven-year-old Shelby Rarick, of Fleetwood, likes to raise sheep, but she fared very well at the steer show.

Shelby's Main Anjou cross steer, Alimoe, is reserve grand champion market steer and her Simmental Felicity earned supreme champion female at the 2003 Beef Show. Shelby lives on a beef farm in Fleetwood.

This is Dietrich's last year showing with 4-H, but she still has Allentown and Oley fairs left with Who. Then she will sell him at the roundup in September.

"It is going to be hard," Dietrich said. "I guess it never is easy."

Cow From Longtime Family Line Named Supreme At Southcentral Junior Show

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

SHIPPENSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Andy Stoner's mom Rhonda had a favorite cow she used to lead in the show ring back in her days as a 4-H'er.

Although that animal was no champion in the ring, Rhonda said she loved her anyway because she was "a sweet cow."

Judge Alan Hostetter placed the 4-year-old cow, Bell-Stone Jubal Penny-TW, at the top of the show that drew 84 junior exhibitors with a total of 171 animals from seven breeds: Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey, Milking Shorthorn, and Red and White. Exhibitors came from several counties, including Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Perry, and York.

It was the first year the judge picked a supreme champion at the show.

Andy Stoner, 17, has been in the show ring ever since he was big enough to handle animals. He is a member of the Quincy-Washington 4-H Club and is a senior at Waynesboro Area High School.

Andy helps out on the 45-milking cow dairy managed by Rhonda and his father, Lynn Stoner.

A 3-year-old Jersey shown by Logan Horst of Chambersburg was named the reserve supreme champion. The animal, Oshanda Dean Bambi, was bred in Ontario, Canada.

Horst is a member of the Hamilton-St. Thomas 4-H Dairy Club.

Other breed champions were shown by Janel Zinn of Newburg, Ayrshire; Zack Nell of Gettysburg, Brown Swiss; Kelly Johnson of York, Guernsey; Brian Nailor of Mechanicsburg, Milking Shorthorn; and Andrew Crider of Chambersburg, Red and White.

Judge Hostetter called the following results:

Distinguished Junior Holstein Members Named At National Convention

Thomas Harwood, Shippensburg, Makes The Cut

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — At the recent 2003 National Junior Holstein Convention in Winston-Salem, N.C., the association named six distinguished junior member (DJM) finalists. Each of them received a DJM pin and annual renewed membership to Holstein Association USA.

This is the highest honor the Holstein Association can bestow upon a junior member. This year's finalists were Anthony Brey of Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; Thomas Harwood of Shippensburg; Miranda Miller of Tillamook, Ore.; Bill Rauen of Farley, Iowa; Aaron Ray Tompkins, Ennice, N.C.; and Chad Wethal from Brooklyn, Wis.

Other semifinalists included John Cannon, West Union, Iowa; Benjamin Dorshorst, Junction City, Wis.; McKenzie Hanehan, Stillwater, N.Y.; Ann Haughian, Rice Lake, Wis.; Trent Olson, Lewiston, Minn.; and Robert Teixeira, Turlock, Calif.

Since its beginnings in 1922, the DJM program has grown and flourished. Each year, contestants submit an entry book to showcase their Junior Holstein work, activities, projects, breeding program, and personal views. An anonymous committee screens the books to select the twelve semifinalists. During the convention, each semifinalist is interviewed by a panel of judges. The combination of the scores determines the top six finalists.

Rabenold Rules Kutztown Swine Show

Judge Blaine Brown, Hershey, chose Samantha Rabenold's swine as grand champion market hog at the 2003 Kutztown Fair Swine Show.

Stacey Manbeck's swine Corosa was chosen as reserve grand champion market hog by judge Blaine Brown.

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Samantha Rabenold took 10 pigs to the Kutztown Fair and left with a grand champion market hog and a supreme champion breeding guilt.

The 13-year-old Kutztown native lives on a dairy and swine farm and is in her fifth year showing hogs. She said she didn't do anything special to the pigs, just spent about 15 minutes a day with them.

Her Hampshire won supreme champion breeding guilt. She also won champion Yorkshire and reserve grand champion pair of market swine. Samantha will be an eighth-grader at Kutztown Middle School in the fall.

Stacey Manbeck, 13, of Womelsdorf, enjoys being at the fair with her friends, but it didn't hurt that her crossbred heavyweight hog Corosa won reserve grand champion market hog. She also won grand champion pair of market swine.

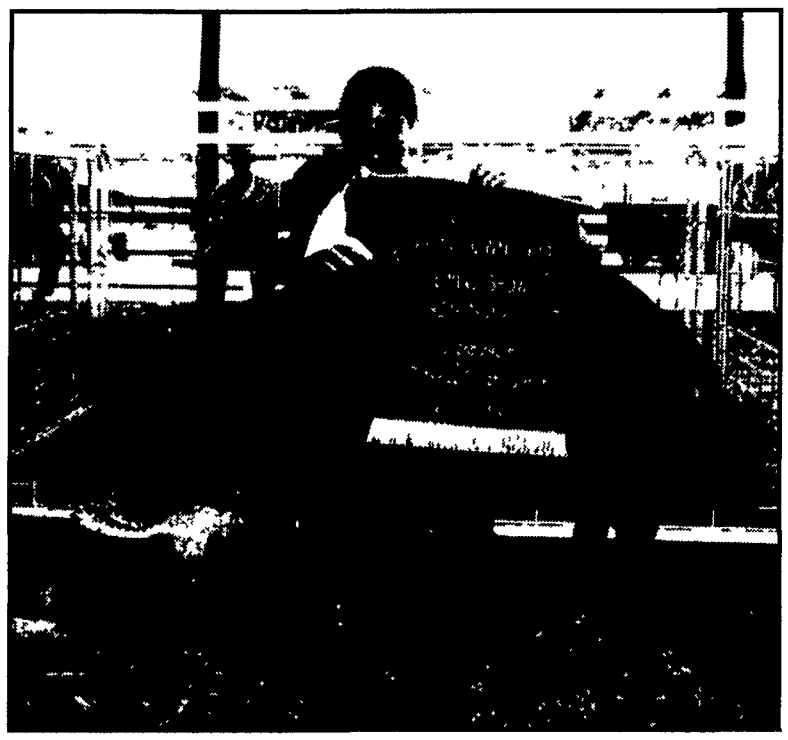
"I thought they'd do pretty well," she said.

Stacey feeds her five pigs in the morning and at night and spends the afternoon playing with them.

She is in her fifth year showing pigs.

Blain Brown spent the day judging the swine. He grew up on a hog farm in Lebanon County. Good quality was the word he used to describe the swine show.

"I have been working with pigs all my life," he said. "I am very pleased with the pigs shown."



Samantha Rabenold's Hampshire hog won supreme champion breeding guilt.

Your power is OFF...
and your generator DIDN'T start.
Now your 40,000 Birds or 2,000 Pigs are DEAD.

Top 5 reasons why your generator may overheat and fail this summer...

- Low Coolant level – engine will not cool properly if coolant is below the core.
- Dirty radiator fins – must be free of dirt, dust, feathers, paper, or debris.
- Sufficient air intake – motorized shutters are strongly recommended.
- Improper coolant mix – 50/50 antifreeze and water will ensure max cooling from coolant.
- Faulty exhaust shutters – must open freely with no flow obstructions.

Judge Impressed At Kutztown Goat Show

NICKI LEFEVER
Special Correspondent

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Harold Harpster, Centre County, couldn't have been more pleased at the Kutztown goat show.

"This was an impressive show for its size," Harpster said.

With five exhibitors and 12 goats, the show wasn't the largest at the fair, but Harpster is convinced the young ladies did such a good job presenting their animals, it will help them in the future.

Shelby Rarick, 11, exhibited Nibbles, who won champion market goat. Shelby raises steer, rabbits, goats and sheep on her family's beef farm in Fleetwood.

Carrie Hartman of Bernville is a member of Berks County 4-H Goat Club. She exhibited the reserve champion market goat. She also shows sheep.

Tatum Fisher, 14, lives on a 12-acre farm in Bernville. She raises horses and goats. Her goat Midnight won best of show dairy goat at the fair.

Harpster said the participants in the fitting and showing were very close and the winner came down to trivial things.

Tatum Fisher won grand champion showman and reserve grand champion fitter in market goats. She also won champion fitter and showman in dairy goats. Carrie Hartman won reserve champion showman and grand champion fitter in market goats.

"This was a really good goat show," Harpster said.

plan to continue working at the test well it had drilled and then abandoned this spring on his dairy farm, home to the high quality 65-cow herd known as Cocalico Holsteins.

Zimmerman owns about 50 acres of cropland, plus pasture and land on which the buildings are situated. His son, Paul Jr., manages the cow herd.

Drillers had arrived on the farm May 27 and pulled out in early June.

Zimmerman said testing revealed a groundwater flow of 12 gallons per minute, much less than the 100-gallon range preferred for municipal use.

At the time, Eugene Heft, chairman of the East Cocalico Water and Sewer Authority, said the flow from the limestone aquifer was somewhat greater, but not enough to justify the expense of continuing.

But the township's geologist and engineers have recommended more testing in order to get a better assessment of the potential water supply, according to Heft.

In early September, they plan to use an "airlift procedure" as part of the ongoing study, Heft said.

Heft said he is not familiar with how the airlift procedure works, but that it is meant to help avoid assessment problems caused by "cave-ins" that occurred during the drilling.

The method is not designed to secure more water, but only allow more accurate readings of the water flow, according to Heft. The geologist and engineers believe all three wells have have greater flow potential than prior tests showed, he said.

The drilling on Zimmerman's property was controversial from the start, in large part because the farm is included in 500 acres of prime farmland in the township for which landowners had applied for ag security protection in September 2000.

According to John Bell, attorney with the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, the ag security area is valid under the law because township officials failed to act on the application within the allotted time of 180 days after the landowners filed it.

The drilling site is located in an alfalfa field near the center of Zimmerman's farm. If the township decides to use the well as a municipal water source, 10-12 acres surrounding the wellhead would be banned from normal farming practices.

"It would just demolish the value of the farm," Zimmerman said.

Neighbors and numerous other people raised their voices against the drilling operation. Zimmerman suspects township officials temporarily pulled out to appease critics.

"They wanted to quiet people up," he said.

After the drilling rig left the property, Zimmerman said he sent the township a bill for damages and lost alfalfa production on about two acres. As of this week, he hadn't received any compensation, he said.

"The whole upper end of the field is full of ruts you can hardly drive over with a baler and wagon full of bales," he said.

Beside the test well on Zimmerman's farm, the airlift method will also be performed on test wells on two other properties in the township not located in an ag security area.

According to Heft, the three wells were drilled in hopes of securing a "safe yield" of water for existing township interests as well as future development.

The sites were determined through the use of sophisticated technology, including geographic information system mapping (GIS).

Heft said the Zimmerman case is the first instance of eminent domain he's aware of in East Cocalico Township.

"We're allowed to do research drilling through eminent domain," he said this spring. "If there's water there, we need to negotiate with the landowners."

Groups Partner To Finalize National Animal ID Plan

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A national animal identification plan is being developed to help protect American animal agriculture.

State animal health officials, livestock industry groups and the federal government are working together to finalize the plan. They hope to have Phase One of the plan, Premises ID, in place by July 2004.

This phase would require that standardized premises identification numbers be established for all production operations, markets, assembly points, exhibitions and processing plants.

Once the Premises ID systems are in place, the plan will proceed to Phase Two, which calls for individual identification for cattle in commerce. Phase two would require all other food animal and livestock species that enter commerce to be identified through individual or group/lot identification.

Phase Two would be in place by the beginning of 2006. The goal is to develop a national standardized program that has the capability to identify all premises and animals that had direct contact with a foreign animal disease within 48 hours of its discovery. This goal may require that certain data be housed in a central database.

States, industry and the USDA have been working in partnership on the plan through the National Animal Identification Development Team. The team, which includes a steering committee and five working groups, has produced a draft plan with the working name of the U.S. Animal Identification Plan (USAIP). It carries the tagline Protecting American Animal Agriculture.

The development of a national identification plan has been worked on for several years, but the recent BSE experience in Canada has reinforced the need for the U.S. to introduce a national plan as soon as practicably possible, said Neil Hammerschmidt, Chief Operating Officer of the Wisconsin Livestock Identification Consortium and co-chair of the development teams steering committee.

A national plan which IDs all food animals and livestock will allow the U.S. to identify any animals exposed to disease and will facilitate stopping the spread of that disease, said Glenn Slack, president and CEO of the National Institute for Animal Agriculture (NIAA). This will help protect American animal agriculture from the devastating effects that might occur in the event of a case of BSE, foot and mouth disease or other deleterious diseases ever being discovered in the U.S.

The draft plan draws on existing voluntary and compulsory animal identification programs currently in place in the U.S. and coordinates these into a truly national program for the first time. Details are still to be finalized, but the development team expects to complete its work within the next 60 days. It is expected that the plan will then be open to review and comment by industry stakeholders.

Without identification, our livestock industries would be vulnerable to any disease situation that required rapid tracking of animal movement, said Hammerschmidt.

The draft plan follows 18 months of intensive work by states, industry and USDA. In early 2002, NIAAs Animal Identification and Information System Committee organized an NIAA task force comprised of approximately 100 representatives of more than 30 stakeholder groups.

After months of work, the task force produced the National Identification Work Plan (NIWP). That plan was presented at the NIAA ID/INFO EXPO in Chicago in July 2002. The final draft of the NIWP was then presented to the U.S. Animal Health Association (USAHA) at its annual meeting in October 2002.

The USAHA accepted the plan with a resolution calling for USDA, APHIS, VS, to establish a National Animal Identification Team composed of state, industry and federal partners to further develop a national plan, using the NIWP as a guide."

With this charge, APHIS, VS identified key industry leaders to serve as the teams Steering Committee. These steering committee members then selected members of five working groups, including Communication, Transition, Standards, Governance and Information Technology.

An official Website (www.USAIP.info) containing details of the draft plan, background information, Frequently Asked Questions and Answers about the proposed plan and provision for comments about the plan is currently under construction.

17 Soybean Producers Appointed To Board

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Secretary of Agriculture Ann M. Veneman has announced 17 appointments to the United Soybean Board. All appointees will serve 3 year terms beginning December 2003.

Appointed members representing soybean producers by state are: David L. Feilke, Arkansas; Billy W. Sellers, Georgia; Kenneth L. Dalenberg, Illinois; Karen L. Fear, Indiana; Curtis A. Raasch, Iowa; Benny F. Cooper, Kentucky; Ike P. Boudreaux, Louisiana; Douglas A. Proehl, Minnesota; Terry L. Ecker, Missouri; Norman L. Husa, Nebraska; Richard J. Stern, Jr., New Jersey; Floyd L. Peed, North Carolina; Vanessa A. Kummer, North Dakota; Thomas F. Brown, Ohio; Michael H. Gerhart, Pennsylvania; George L. Christensen, South Dakota; and R. Bruce Johnson, Virginia.

The 62 member Board is authorized by the Soybean Promotion, Research, and Consumer Information Act. USDA selected the appointees from soybean producers nominated by the Qualified State Soybean Board. The mandatory program is funded at the rate of one-half of one percent of the net market price of the soybeans purchased.

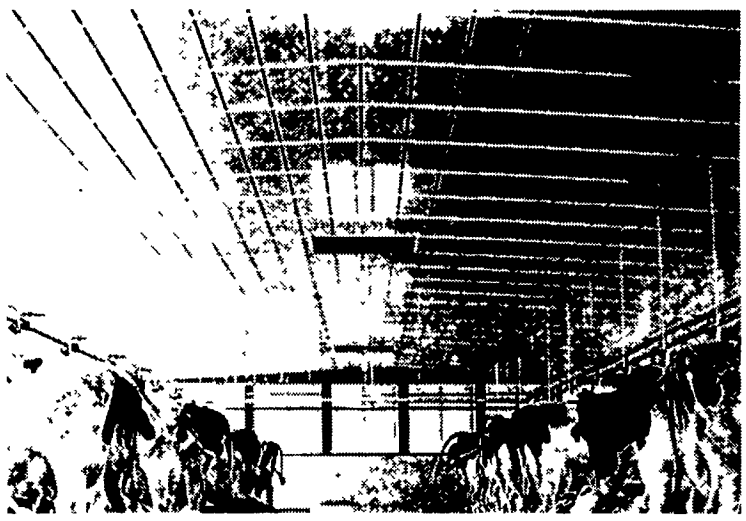
– Ceiling systems designed for your dairy, swine, and poultry facilities, as well – as shops, warehouses, garages, arenas, and more.

Tired of working in a cold, noisy shop?

These ceiling systems are designed to hold any amount of insulation, and with insulation above, produce sound reduction qualities much greater than steel.

Is the banding in your hog or poultry barn deteriorating?

Let us replace them with our heavier polyester bands which do not stretch or become brittle over time.



Are you frustrated with the birds in your implement shed?

Get the problem under control with a triply ceiling, as well as greatly improving the lighting.

Contemplating a drop ceiling?

Demand a triply ceiling above your drop ceiling if there is insulation being installed. This will serve as a vapor barrier along with permanently preventing falling insulation.

Providing the Ag industry with a very durable, attractive, waterproof, noncorrosive, alternative to conventional ceilings at a fraction of the cost.

Bull Proofs Released For Dairy Breeds

The USDA and dairy breed associations released their August bull proofs this week.

Following are TPI (Total Performance Index) proofs for Holsteins and JPI (Jersey Performance Index) proofs for top Jersey bulls.

Bull proofs for the other dairy breeds are scheduled for next week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

The Holstein TPI ranking emphasizes the following traits as follows:

- Protein, 36%
- Fat, 18%
- Type, 15%
- Productive Life, 11%
- Udder Composite, 10%
- Feet & Legs Composite, 5%
- Somatic Cell Score -5%

Top 100 TPI™ Bulls AUGUST 2003

(Semen Status is ACTIVE or LIMITED and Domestic U S reliabilities at least 80% for production and 75% for type)

The Jersey Performance Index (JPI), introduced in 2002, combines the production traits of PTA (predicted transmitting ability) protein and PTA fat with selected fitness factors to rank bulls by their overall commercial profitability.

The JPI is calculated from five factors: PTA protein (weighted 50 percent of the total), PTA fat (weighted 20 percent), the Functional Trait Index (weighted 15 percent), PTA somatic cell score (-5 percent), PTA Productive Life (5 percent), and the Functional Udder Index (5 percent).

Emphasis on fitness traits is 30 percent in the JPI, with particular emphasis on udder traits. Production traits account for the remaining 70 percent.

Note: While the following list of top JPI bulls highlights production traits, the JPI ranking in the last column includes all JPI traits, including type considerations.

NFU Urges Remedies To Dairy Crisis

WASHINGTON, D.C. — National Farmers Union recently urged the administration to immediately address the economic disaster rippling throughout the nation's dairy production sector.

Farm gate dairy prices are the lowest experienced in more than [illegible] vet input costs for all [illegible] operations continue to rise," said NFU President Dave Frederickson. "The U.S. Department of Agriculture has the authority and capacity to restore security and profitability for our nation's dairy producers."

In a letter to Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman, Frederickson outlined three immediate actions USDA should take to remedy the dairy crisis:

- Stabilize dairy prices by aggressively fulfilling its price support responsibilities.
- Address the influx of dairy derivatives such as casein and milk protein concentrates (MPC).
- Enforce domestic laws governing the use of MPC in dairy products.

The latest USDA dairy figures from January to April 2003 show a 20 percent increase in imports compared to 2002. U.S. dairy production increased only 1.3 percent for the same period. USDA has estimated commercial use of milk will increase by 5.5 percent during the current [illegible] Meanwhile MP[illegible] have surged [illegible] percent in the past [illegible]

"Simple economics can explain that U.S. dairy producers are not the cause for the domestic market collapse," Frederickson said. "We cannot expect America's dairy producers to receive an equitable price for their product if we continue to allow imports to take [illegible]

Ontario Ag Minister Visits Pa. For Trade Talk

cials are hard at work ensuring trade partners that both their meat and live cattle are safe for export.

They are asking for trade to return to normal as soon as possible.

The U.S. closed the border to Canadian beef and other ruminant meat when bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE), or mad cow disease, was discovered May 20 in an aged beef cow in the western Canadian province of Alberta.

Helen Johns, Ontario Minister of Agriculture and Food, paid a visit to Pennsylvania this week to ask ag leaders for support in moving ahead quickly to reopen the U.S. border to Canadian beef and live cattle.

The Tuesday visit from Johns and several other members of her department came four days after USDA Secretary Ann Veneman announced that "after thorough scientific analysis" the U.S. will begin accepting permits for importing certain boxed ruminant meats and wild game meat from Canada. Imports are expected to begin in early September.

Mexico also announced early this week that it will be partially lifting its ban on Canadian beef, in terms similar to the U.S. decision.

Johns met with Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Dennis Wolff and representatives from state ag organizations, including PennAg Industries, the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture, Pennsylvania Beef Council, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, Pennsylvania Farmers Union, and the State Grange. Others representing the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture included John Enck, state veterinarian, and Russ Redding, deputy secretary.

Johns said she came here for help because Pennsylvania is a key importer of cattle from Ontario, including dairy animals.

"We wanted to educate people," Johns said of her trip to Harrisburg. "We wanted people to understand that it was one cow in Alberta (with BSE). We wanted people to understand our food safety system."

While the USDA is opening the border to boxed meat imports, Johns said it also needs to be reopened for live cattle in order for Ontario to recover from an economic slump caused by the export ban and to stabilize the North American beef market.

Complicating the issue is Japan's refusal to import any U.S.-processed beef that may have originated in Canada. Japan is the top importer of U.S. beef. According to a recent post on the USDA Website, the USDA believes Japan's decision to ban Canadian beef is unnecessary, but will continue working with Japan to keep markets open.

In the past 13 weeks, Ontario has lost $245 million in revenue because of the border closing, according to Johns. The province produces about 20 percent of the beef raised in Canada, she said.

At risk is Ontario's $1 billion annual cattle and meat export trade, with 60 percent of that market represented by live cattle, according to Derek Nelson, communication specialist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

In 2002, Ontario exported $803.5 million worth of food products to Pennsylvania alone. Of that amount, $206 million was from live cattle and other ruminants, beef and other ruminant meats, feed, and pet food, according to a fact sheet provided by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. About half of the $206 million came from live cattle that went to Pennsylvania packing operations.

"It does affect meat processing centers in Pennsylvania," said Ag Secretary Wolff, noting that the state's total meat processing industry leads the nation.

Wolff also said the situation has decreased dairy cow numbers and milk production in the state, because Canada has been a significant source of dairy replacement stock.

While the impact on milk production might be boosting U.S. milk markets somewhat — and the border closing has pumped up beef prices — Wolff called it a "knee jerk reaction" to focus on these gains over the long-term benefits of a stable trade relationship with Canada.

But Wolff acknowledged the limited scope of Pennsylvania's role in easing the trade block.

"You have to understand that Washington has not asked our opinion in this matter," he told Johns.

tours, the intent is to address contemporary issues in the efficient production of food and fiber while answering questions related to modern family living and healthy lifestyles, according to event manager Bob Oberheim.

"We try to combine new, themed exhibits with many of the traditional activities that typify the diversity of the college's programs," he said. "Just about anyone can find something of interet at Ag Progress Days."

Exhibits, workshops and guided tours will present current research initiatives on such important issues as food safety, environmental protection and more efficient agricultural production. Faculty and extension staff will be available to answer questions and provide information on crops and soils; dairy, livestock, and equine production; conservation practices; and farm safety.

Home and family living issues such as gardening tips, lawn care, healthy food preparation and flower arranging will also be featured. Special exhibits will highlight the educational and career opportunities available to students in the agricultural sciences. A workshop also will review the impact of the U.S. Farm Bill on Pennsylvania agriculture and citizens.

Other planned activities include a skid steer rodeo and several new tours, including a tour of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's new Animal Evaluation Laboratory, which recently was completed near the Ag Progress Days site.

Other highlights of the event include:

• "Seeing the Forest for the Trees": Building on the exposition theme, faculty and staff will present activities and interactive displays focusing on research and educational programs to benefit the future of Pennsylvania's forests.

• Equine Experience: Visitors to the Experience can take the AQHA 4aHorse Test Ride — to ride an American quarter horse and receive free instruction from professional equestrians at this expanded educational effort of Penn State, the Pennsylvania Quarter Horse Association and the American Quarter Horse Association. Clinics in the Experience include mounted drill teams, a working sheep dog demonstration and the Preifert Texas Thunder Six Horse Hitch, which features the world's largest horse.

• Conservation Partnership Area: More than 15 federal, state, and local aged private entities will present more than five acres of demonstrations, tours, and exhibits at the exposition site.

• Animal Sciences Exhibit Area: This area will feature workshops and demonstrations of the latest in animal science technologies and practical techniques for improving management and performance.

• Horticulture, Lawn, and Garden Tents: Faculty and extension agents will be on hand to discuss plant, insect, mite and disease problems, and displays of "green roof" technology and other innovations will be presented.

• Pasto Agricultural Museum: The museum celebrates its 25th anniversary with a special exhibit that explores the growth of the museum's collection to more than 900 items since its founding. Many large items usually kept in storage are displayed, and the fourth annual silent auction will present special items.

• Family Learning Hub: Storyteller Jan Kinney returns with award-winning tales and traditional yarns. In the Family Room Building, test your hygiene skills at "Handwashing University," and get tips on increasing savings and reducing debt at "PA Saves."

• Crops and Soils Tent: This area again will present the latest developments in forage, corn, and soybean production. In addition to demonstrations of new tillage practices and displays of crop research, Penn State specialists will be on hand to talk about crop-related production issues.

Ag Progress Days is conducted at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center in Rockspring, nine miles southwest of State College on Rt. 45. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday; 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free through Aug. 22, or visit the Ag Progress Days Website at apd.cas.psu.edu.

PDA Tested Rams And Bucks To Sell At New Livestock Evaluation Center

PENNSYLVANIA FURNACE (Huntingdon Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture announced the results of the 2003 Performance Tested Ram and Meat Goat Buck Sale, which took place on Aug. 2 at the new Samuel E. Hayes Jr. Livestock Evaluation Center.

The 44 rams sold averaged $309, which was a bit higher than last year's average.

The 13 Suffolk rams sold at an average of $240; 22 Dorset rams, average of $305; five Hampshires, average of $375; and additional breeds including Southdown, Polypay, Arcott, and Finn sold at an average of $215.

In the first performance tested Meat Goat Buck sale, eight fall bucks sold at an average of $415 and eight spring bucks sold at an average of $362.

In addition to these sire sales, producers participating in the ram test offered ewes for sale. The ewe sale contained 16 Dorsets, nine Suffolks, four Hampshires, six of other breeds averaging $225 per ewe for the sale.

The top indexing Suffolk consigned by John Stewart of Hookstown was purchased by Roger Oberlin of Mifflintown for $250.

The top indexing Dorset ram which was from Spring Creek Farm of Mertztown went to William Robbins of Vincetown, N.J. for $200.

The top indexing Hampshire from Heth Hamps of Columbia went to Gordon Roup of Danville.

The second highest indexing senior Dorset was the high-selling ram of the day. He was consigned by Justin Smith and was sold to Maria Mulligan of Belmont, N.Y., for $950. The second high selling ram was the Hampshire consigned by Clyde Brubaker, that also sold to Marie Mulligan for $800.

The top indexing fall born goat, consigned by Victor Martin, started off the sale and sold for $575. The top selling meat goat of the day was the fall born, full blood also consigned by Victor Martin. This buck was selected by Sunset Acres, of Martinsburg, W.Va.

The highest indexing junior, a Boer buck, was the consignment from the Minik Farm and he was bought by Dennis Hamm of Lindley, N.Y. for $525.

The top selling junior goat was the consignment of Robert and Betty Herr that sold for $890 to Blue Grass Meat Goats.

This was the inaugural sale for the Pennsylvania department of Agriculture's new Samuel E. Hayes Jr. Livestock Evaluation Center. The Livestock Evaluation Center performs tests on bulls, boars, and gilts in addition to rams and meat goats. Producers from within the state and from adjacent states bring perspective sires to the center for testing and sale. By selecting for specific characteristics, the livestock industry can better the product they produce.

The new Samuel E. Hayes Jr. Livestock Evaluation Center will be dedicated on Aug. 20 during Ag Progress Days. Along with a special ribbon cutting ceremony, the new Livestock Evaluation Center will be hosting hog producers from around the state for its 28th annual performance tested boar sale and first ever performance tested gilt sale.

For more information on the New Samuel E. Hayes Jr. Livestock Evaluation Center, or the Pennsylvania Performance Testing Programs, contact Glenn Eberly, director, at 1494 West Pine Grove Rd., Pennsylvania Furnace, PA 16865; phone (814) 238-2527, or e-mail geberly@state.pa.us.

Davis Cow Tops At Kutztown Fair

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — For the second year in a row, Mike and Angela Davis led the same Holstein cow, "Gai," to a supreme championship at the Kutztown Fair Dairy Show.

The show on Thursday featured about 220 animals from eight breeds.

The Davis's manage a herd of 40 milking cows at Mikan Holsteins near Kutztown. They have two children — Mikayla, 2, and Tanner, 5 months.

Jennifer Davis of Leesport showed the reserve grand champion.

The Schantz family of Show-Top Farms, Alburtis, were named premier breeder and exhibitor in the Holstein show.

David and Kathy Schantz and children Megan, 17, Matthew, 16, and Nathan, 10, manage a milking herd of 160 Holsteins.

Matthew Schantz's cow, Show-Top Farms Glennwood Kate, was also 4-H grand champion. Matthew and his siblings are members of Eastern Berks 4-H Dairy Club.

Colored breed champion exhibitors were Kevin Buch of Fleetwood, Ayrshire; Natalie Buch of Fleetwood, Brown Swiss; Kara Brendlinger of Kempton, Guernsey; Travis Mast of Oley Valley, Jersey; Evan Mertz of Kutztown, Lineback; Laura Lesher of Bernville, Milking Shorthorn; and Doug Sattazahn of Womelsdorf, Red and White.

Paul Slayton, director of the Pennsylvania Beef Council, agreed that "there's a real need to open the border" but it is "really the USDA" who has the responsibility to decide.

According to Slayton, it could have also been a U.S. cow that turned up with BSE.

While U.S. beef producers are the group most concerned about reopening the border, it's important to remember that "this situation could be reversed," Slayton said.

"There should be very little concern, if any, about the one case of mad cow disease in Canada," he said. "Research has confirmed that it was just one case and the science was thorough enough."

Slayton said the U.S. has "used up and become pretty current" in its surplus beef supply in the past 90 days.

"It probably couldn't be a better time" to open the border, he noted.

The USDA has a responsibility to reestablish beef trade "without causing undue economic stress on our producers," Slayton said.

John Enck, director of Pennsylvania's Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission, said Pennsylvania experienced a similar situation in 2000 when an outbreak of avian influenza resulted in Japan banning U.S. poultry for six months.

Now, Japan's refusal to accept any Canadian beef processed in the U.S. has become a major factor in U.S. trade negotiations with Canada.

"The Japanese trade issue is key to the whole thing," Enck said.

According to a recent USDA statement posted on its Website, "We do not feel that the Japanese government is justified in its decision to exclude Canadian beef from our beef and beef products exported to Japan. Although the United States does not believe such steps are necessary, we are working to provide the industry a system that can be used to verify U.S. beef exports ... we will continue to work to convince Japan to remove this unnecessary requirement."

The USDA announcement to partially open the border came Aug. 8 after a close review of the international standards set by the International Office of Epizootics (OIE) — the standard-setting organization for animal health for 164 member nations; an exhaustive epidemiological investigation into the case by Canada, during which no other animals were found to be infected; and additional risk mitigation measures put in place by Canada in response to a review of their investigation by an independent expert panel.

Veneman said that USDA weighed these and many other factors as it evaluated the risk, including the preventive measures that Canada had in place prior to the detection of BSE, such as import controls, feed bans and surveillance measures conducted at levels that met or exceeded the OIE standards.

Based on these determinations, Veneman said that USDA will no longer prohibit the importation of hunter-harvested wild ruminant products intended for personal use and it will begin to accept applications for import permits for certain products from Canada, including:

- Boneless sheep or goat meat from animals under 12 months of age;
- Boneless bovine meat from cattle under 30 months of age;
- Boneless Veal (meat) from calves that were 36 weeks of age or younger at slaughter;
- Fresh or frozen bovine liver;
- Vaccines for veterinary medicine for non-ruminant use; and
- Pet products and feed ingredients that contain processed animal protein and tallow of non-ruminant sources when produced in facilities with dedicated manufacturing lines.

Veneman noted that the single BSE case in Canada and its impact on global trade call for an international dialogue on BSE to develop more practical, consistent guidance to countries regarding the resumption of trade with countries that have reported cases of BSE.

Veneman said that the United States, along with Mexico and Canada, have requested that the OIE include such a dialogue in an upcoming meeting of international experts in September.

USDA Permitting Process

Hunters can immediately begin bringing wild ruminant meat products intended for their personal use into the United States, but will need a "Veterinary Services Special Permit for the Importation of Hunter-Harvested Wild Ruminant Meat," along with one of the following: a valid Canadian export certificate for game meat, or a copy of a valid hunting license or a valid hunting tag. The permit can be downloaded from http://www.aphis.usda.gov/lpa/issues/bse/bse.html or obtained by calling the APHIS National Center for Import and Export at (301) 734-3277.

Certain other previously banned ruminant meat products may be imported with a "United States Veterinary Permit for Importation and Transportation of Controlled Material." The application can be completed on line at http://www.aphis.usda.gov/vs/import—export.htm or can be downloaded from http://www.aphis.usda.gov/vs/ncie , or can be obtained by calling (301) 734-3277.

Veneman said that a rulemaking process would begin immediately for the importation of live ruminants and ruminant products.

In a statement released by National Farmers Union this week, President Dave Frederickson said, "Farmers Union continues to monitor the steps the administration is taking to keep the threat of bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE) out of the United States. We commend the U.S. Department of Agriculture for working to assure Japan, our number one beef customer, that beef shipments to Japan will come only from U.S. cattle."

Frederickson also said, "The secretary should immediately do the same for U.S. consumers by implementing the mandatory country-of-origin labeling law passed by Congress and signed into law by President Bush last year.

"Before USDA moves to reopen the border for live cattle," said Frederickson, "we urge the secretary of agriculture to implement mandatory country-of-origin meat labeling.

Juniata County Farm Preserved By Conservancy

PORT ROYAL (Juniata Co.) — On Thursday, a ceremony celebrated the preservation of another Juniata County farm.

This 50-acre farm, owned by Drs. Meecee Baker and Robert Mikesell, has been protected by an agricultural conservation easement that keeps the farm available for agricultural uses in perpetuity.

An easement is a legal agreement or deed restriction between a landowner and a government entity or land trust such as the Central Pennsylvania Conservency that permanently restricts a property's uses to protect its conservation values; in this case, agriculture. Monitored by the Conservancy once a year, the easement stays with the land, even when ownership changes.

Counties, with state funding may purchase easements on some of the larger, most productive farms, but the waiting list is long, especially for small or average productivity farms. While land trusts such as the Central Pennsylvania Conservancy do not generally pay for easements, there are still several benefits: The owner can be assured his land will be protected and he may enjoy substantial tax benefits as well. In addition, out-of-pocket costs such as surveys, appraisals, documentation, and legal expenses may be reimbursed up to $5,000 by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The Central Pennsylvania Conservancy is a nonprofit land trust dedicated to the preservation of lands with natural, scenic, cultural, and agricultural value.

For additional information on easements contact your county conservation district or the Central Pennsylvania Conservancy at (717) 233-0221 or cpc@paonline.com.

FARMING, FINANCING AND WORKING TOGETHER

Remember when being efficient was all it took to be a successful farmer? With some help from mother nature, being efficient is still the key to successful farming. And that, by itself, is a tough job.

Today's farmer has to know financing and marketing as well as production. And today, as in the past, The Ephrata National Bank is here to help.

We've been financing local farming since 1881 and plan to for years to come.

Sounds Of Steam, Sawmill At Rough And Tumble

KINZERS (Lancaster Co.) — So what's all the steam and smoke about? Well, old time days were back again at the 55th annual Rough and Tumble Thresherman's Reunion here beginning Wednesday this week and lasting through today.

During the week, thousands visited the Rough and Tumble site, where they saw a shingle mill in operation, threshing machine demonstrations, a "pageant of threshing," a "parade of power," and other events. The event continues today.

PIT POWER

Farmers and composters - Here is a breakdown for compost and manure pits and manure piles! Pit Power is bacteria and bacteria feeders that break down solids in manure pits and septic tanks and breakdown compost faster

Clean out your pit with ease, use Pit Power! One gallon of Pit Power per 10,000 to 20,000 gal. of pit volume Should be repeated approx 2 times a year! If aeration of the pit is possible, it will help the bacteria to grow and work faster to break down solids Pit Power's purpose is to add life (bacteria) in the manure, which then is returned to the soil where a bacteria is working The smell of pit manure is not so strong. Pit Power is a non-toxic product - Life to Feed Life!

Price is $58.00 per gallon
(6 gal or more - $55 per gallon) Full UPS fee will be charged if payment is not with order Send orders to

Consumers Guide To Pa. Farm Markets Available

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — To boost consumer awareness of farm-fresh fruits and vegetables offered in the state, Agriculture Secretary Dennis C Wolff recently announced the availability of "A Consumer's Guide to Pennsylvania Farm Markets" while visiting the Pennsylvania Open-Air Farmers Market on the grounds of the Farm Show Complex.

"These markets provide the perfect opportunity for people of all ages to enjoy the tastes of Pennsylvania's finest," Wolff said. "I encourage all Pennsylvanians to take advantage of these venues, as well as the opportunities that are available for seniors and WIC participants to purchase produce through our Farmers Market Nutrition Program."

"The Pa. Department of Agriculture (PDA) and local farmers and retailers have created a partnership that enables consumers to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables through PDA's Farmers Market Nutrition Program," Wolff said.

Since 1992, the Farmers Market Nutrition Program has enabled participants of the WIC Program to take advantage of the health benefits of locally grown Pennsylvania produce.

In 1998, the Department of Agriculture expanded the program to include qualifying senior citizens. To qualify, seniors must be age 60 or older with an income last year of $16,613 for a single person and $22,422 for a couple.

Reading Fair Brings Out The Beef

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — First time proved the charm for Rachael Stafford, winning supreme champion dairy beef here last week at the Reading Fair.

Rachael, 10, is the daughter of Judy and Tony Stafford, Bernville. The Strausstown Elementary fifth-grader, in her first year of 4-H, selected the calf from the Hetrick-Dale Farm in Bernville.

Rachael noted that "he liked me more" than she did him, but as a calf, the steer had some champion qualities. She plans to show at this week's Kutztown Fair.

Reserve champion went to Stacey Manbeck, 13, daughter of Karen and Norm Manbeck, Womelsdorf. The dairy beef animal was purchased from the Hicks Farm in Sharltesville.

Stacey, during her third year in dairy beef and six years in Berks County 4-H, won for the first time with "Anto." She plans to show at Kutztown Fair. Kristy Dietrich, 18, daughter of Jim and Donna Dietrich, Hamburg, won grand champion beef at the fair.

Kristy, who is a freshman at Penn State Berks Campus and is studying animal sciences, exhibited "Who," an April 2002 calf that is a crossbred Limousin/Angus/Chianina/Maine Anjou.

Cathy Levan holds Shelby Rarick's supreme champion heifer at the Reading Fair.

Kristy has exhibited a champion at the Reading Fair before. The Tulpehocken High School graduate plans to exhibit at Kutztown Fair, Oley, Allentown, Keystone International Livestock Expo, and Farm Show.

Kristy won champion fitter, reserve showman, and champion middleweight at the fair.

Kevin Fuls, Richland, show judge, noted the champion animal was "outstanding," he said. "It's thick and stout and is how a show steer should look."

Shelby Rarick won grand champion heifer and reserve market steer. Shelby, 11, daughter of Keni Anne, Fleetwood, is in the sixth grade at Fleetwood Middle School.

The champion lamb and goat winner at the fair plans to show at Kutztown, Allentown, Oley, Keystone, and Farm Show.

U. S. Requests WTO Panel To Resolve EU's Position On Bio-Tech Products

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Trade Representative Robert B. Zoellick and Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman recently announced that the United States is taking the next step in its World Trade Organization challenge to the European Union's (EU) illegal five-year moratorium on approving agricultural biotechnology products by asking the WTO for a dispute settlement panel.

The United States, along with Canada and Argentina, initiated the case by requesting formal WTO consultations in May. Canada and Argentina are likewise requesting WTO panels to consider the EU moratorium.

"Delegations from the United States, Canada and Argentina consulted in June with EU officials, but the EU indicated no willingness to comply with its WTO obligations by lifting the groundless moratorium on biotech products," said Zoellick.

"The EU's stance leaves us no choice but to proceed with the establishment of a WTO dispute settlement panel," Zoellick sais. " For five years, the EU has kept in place a ban on biotech approvals a ban which is unsupported even by the EU's own scientific studies. This trade barrier harms farmers and consumers around the world by denying them the benefits of productive, nutritious and environmentally friendly biotech products."

"We have been extremely patient for almost five years," said Veneman. "We have had exhaustive discussions with the Europeans and it now is time to let the dispute settlement process work."

President Bush, in his May 21, 2003, Coast Guard Academy Commencement Address, said that "By widening the use of new high-yield bio-crops and unleashing the power of markets, we can dramatically increase agricultural productivity and feed more people across the continent. Yet, our partners in Europe are impeding this effort. They have blocked all new bio-crops because of unfounded, unscientific fears. This has caused many African nations to avoid investing in biotechnologies, for fear their products will be shut out of European markets. European governments should join - not hinder - the great cause of ending hunger in Africa."

The first step in a WTO dispute, which the United States, Canada and Argentina undertook in May, is to request consultations.

Other countries who expressed support for the case by joining as third parties to the consultations included: Australia, Chile, Colombia, Mexico, New Zealand, and Peru.

In addition, El Salvador, Honduras and Uruguay also supported the U.S. position at the public announcement of the case and have indicated their intent to join as third parties.

Where, as in this case, the consultations do not resolve the dispute, the countries that requested consultations may seek the formation of a dispute settlement panel. Dispute settlement procedures, including appeal, typically take about 18 months.

FARM TRANSITIONS NEED LEADERSHIP

Recently I met with a dairy farm family undergoing a farm transition. The farm was passed down through the mother's side of the family with three sons as possible heirs to the operation.

Although her marital relationship ended in divorce, the mother was able to successfully manage the business end of the farm and had accumulated adjoining land to the original farmstead, growing the acreage to about 700. At age 57, she said she was ready to begin the transition process of this 225- cow dairy operation to her son.

How did she get to this point? I believe that it's important to look at some of the essential decisions that were made along the way to arrive at this goal.

- Each son had the opportunity to work on the farm and to work for the operation or to make alternative career choices. No one was pressured to work on the farm. The two older sons selected other careers — one is a teacher and the other is a pilot.
- The youngest son expressed an interest in and commitment to the dairy. He decided to attend college and major in dairy business management, but came home every weekend throughout his college education to help with the milking.
- When the youngest son demonstrated his commitment to the dairy, he was encouraged to assume an active role in the business management decisions made on the farm. He actively participated in determining feed rations, herd management, and herd health and other farm business decisions.
- The mother and son are moving into a business partnership with each member contributing his/her share of the knowledge, assets, and experience.

What is also noteworthy is what didn't happen.

The other sons were advised of the decisions made about the farm, but their advice and consent in the farm transition process was not solicited. She said, "They weren't here helping with the crops or the cows. They were off doing their own thing. That's OK. My youngest son was here every weekend. He didn't miss any. I love all my sons, but the youngest is the only one that's going to be involved in the decisions about transferring the farm."

Their plan is to transition the farm assets through a limited liability company. She will keep her other sons informed of their decisions, but not involve them in the details. Other family assets or heirlooms will be given to these sons.

Farm transition planning requires leadership from the senior generation. Without it, families face the danger of squabbling over issues totally separate from what is good for the farm business. Siblings can get entangled in unending battles over equality that can result in no one taking over the farm.

Because of the desire to avoid conflict, decision-making can be delayed with the end result being more conflict and less time and opportunity for interested family members to take over the farm. And the farm business decisions that need to be made to ensure profitability for both generations can be delayed or neglected in favor of more immediate family concerns.

To learn more about farm family business planning and transfer, contact Pennsylvania Farm Link at (717) 664-7077 or attend our upcoming workshops on value-added marketing on Sept. 13 or our "Passing on the Farm" workshops on Nov. 18 and 20, Dec. 16, or Jan. 20 and 27.

PDA Releases New Farm Market Guide

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — To boost consumer awareness of farm-fresh fruits and vegetables offered in the state, Agriculture Secretary Dennis C. Wolff announced the availability of "A Consumer's Guide to Pennsylvania Farm Markets" while visiting the Pennsylvania Open-Air Farmers Market on the grounds of the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

"These markets provide the perfect opportunity for people of all ages to enjoy the tastes of Pennsylvania's finest," Wolff said. "I encourage all Pennsylvanians to take advantage of these venues, as well as the opportunities that are available for seniors and WIC participants to purchase produce through our Farmers Market Nutrition Program."

From late spring to early autumn, bustling produce markets can be found throughout the Commonwealth. These farmers markets and roadside stands play an important role in the patchwork of communities throughout the state. They provide a place for neighbors to buy fresh, locally grown fruits and vegetables while boosting the farmers' share of consumers' food dollars and growing the rural economy.

Wolff explained that the Department of Agriculture recognizes that there are members of the community who are less able to enjoy Pennsylvania's local bounty.

"The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) and local farmers and retailers have created a partnership that enables consumers to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables through PDA's Farmers Market Nutrition Program," Wolff said. Since 1992, the Farmers Market Nutrition Program has enabled participants of the WIC Program to take advantage of the health benefits of locally grown Pennsylvania produce.

Lancaster County Weekly Cattle

New Holland, Pa.
Report Supplied By USDA
Friday, Aug. 15, 2003

	CATTLE	CALVES
THIS WEEK	2560	1314
LAST WEEK	2449	2130
LAST YEAR	2563	1839

Compared to last week's closing prices, slaughter steers sold 2.00-3.00 lower to begin the week. Most producers loaded their steers for Thursday morning's sale fearing the market was heading lower due to the losses early in the week. However, late week prices were fully steady to firm on a run that was comprised of over 600 head. The quality of the steer runs in Lancaster County has been somewhat sub-par this week, which is due in part to producers sending their cattle to town pre-finished as there is some uncertainty in the market. Although, sub-par in Lancaster County means average Choice; and there are still enough high Choice and Prime cattle to go around to fill most orders. Feed, or lack of, is still an issue in the county which is another reason some cattle are coming to town early; although you can bet on some fancy fat cattle after the excellent corn crop is harvested this fall. Farmer/feeders are turning over a lot of rocks trying to figure a solid marketing strategy to hit the next 'high' market; and there are currently several bullish indicators. First, futures contracts at the CME are ranging from 76.00-78.00 from August 2003, until April of 2004; they may not be 80.00, but contracts are usually in the 60.00 range through those months. Boxed beef cutout values also remain fairly good with Choice values from around 140.00-141.00 as of Thursday. Select boxes are trading at a 10.00 discount to Choice, but are still from roughly 130.00-131.00. The western direct cattle trade moved 1.00 lower in the Southern Plains this week, with live cattle at mostly 78.00. The Northern Plains cattle moved steady to 1.00 lower from 80.00-80.50 live and 127.00-128.00 on a dressed basis. Local Holstein steer prices remain good, with prices this week fully steady to firm. The slaughter heifer supplies remain too mixed and too light to test. Slaughter cows sold 1.00-4.00 lower to kick off the week, with the late week demand still remaining good as an active Thursday market was 1.00-2.00 higher. It is unusual for a market to be higher late in the week, unless packers are extremely short bought. Usually packers are more active early in the week as they fill their schedules. However, for the past few months a higher late week market can be attributed to good buyer attendance and demand. Slaughter bulls sold 2.00-3.00 lower early, with late week prices trending with a firmer undertone. The reported supply this week in Lancaster County included 1034 head of slaughter steers, 159 head of slaughter heifers, 1031 head of slaughter cows, 159 head of slaughter bulls, and 177 head of feeder cattle.

Slaughter Steers: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1215-1485 lbs 80.10-83.00, few 83.00-84.00. Choice 2-3 1085-1485 lbs 77.00-80.75, few up to 81.50 on Monday, high yielding Charolais and Limi-crosses 80.00-84.00. Choice 4, few full 1150- 1290 lbs 73.75-77.50. Select and low Choice 2-3 1040-1490 lbs 75.00-77.50, higher dressing up to 80.50, heavyweights 1500-1550 lbs 74.00-77.50, Charolais- crosses 76.00-79.75. Select 1-2 1015-1490 lbs 72.00-76.00, up to 77.75, couple heavier muscled 83.00-83.75, several returning to feed 950-1285 lbs 71.50-77.60.

Holstein Steers: High Choice and Prime 2-3 1340-1600 lbs 69.75-73.75. Choice 2-3 1305-1575 lbs 67.50-70.00. Select and low Choice 2-3 1175-1575 lbs 63.75-68.75, few heavyweights 1635-1695 lbs 64.25-66.00. Select 1-2 1245- 1500 lbs 61.25-65.50. Standard 1-2 1145-1405 lbs 55.00-61.75.

Slaughter Cows: Percent Lean, Weight, Bulk, Low Dressing. Premium White, 65-70, Over 1600 lbs, 50.00-54.00, 45.00-50.75. High Dressing, 54.00-57.50. Breakers, 70-75, Over 1400 lbs, 43.00-50.25, 38.75-45.00. High Dressing, 49.00-53.50. Boners, 75-80, Over 1200 lbs, 39.50-45.25, 36.00-40.00, High Dressing, 43.75-49.00. Lean (Hi-Yield), 80-85, Over 1200 lbs, 38.50-44.75. Lean, 85-90, Over 1000 lbs, 34.00-40.00, 29.50-35.00. Lean (Light-Wt), 85-90, 750-1000 lbs, 29.50-36.00, 25.00-30.50.

Slaughter Bulls: Yield Grade 1 1005-2080 lbs 49.00-57.50, couple up to 58.00, few high yielding Charolais and Limi-crosses 63.00-68.75. Yield Grade 2 1090-2285 lbs 44.25-52.00, couple 2205-2435 lbs 46.00-48.50, individual 62.00. Bullocks: Couple Select 1-2 1265-1345 lbs 70.50-79.50.

Feeder Heifers: Medium and Large 2 black package 390 lbs 79.00.

Calf Summary: Compared to last week's closing prices, slaughter calves sold mostly steady. Holstein bull calves suitable for special-fed veal barns sold mixed for the week. The Tuesday run was quoted as higher, with the Number 2 and 3 calves in very good demand. Prices for the Number 3 bulls were as high as 117.00; with the Number 2's up to 187.00. However, the late week demand was not as good as most buyers had already filled their needs, and prices trended sharply lower. Producers continue to receive as much as 310.00 for their finished calves. This week in Lancaster County the PA Department of Agriculture graded 1314 head of bulls and heifers, compared to 1358 the prior week.

Slaughter Calves: Standard and Utility 50-120 lbs 20.00-35.00, weaker 10.00- 20.00.

Draft horses have long fascinated many people. Many associate the term "draft horse" with the famous Budweiser Clydesdales, seen all over America. However, the history of the draft horse goes back many centuries.

The term "draft" applies to the ability of a horse to pull heavy loads.

The first draft horse breeds came out of the Ice Age period, and were known to exist at the time of the Roman Empire.

During the Medieval Period, draft horses were used as mounts for knights due to their ability to carry an armor-clad knight into battle.

Up until the beginning of the 20th century, draft horses served many purposes for man, including plowing fields, logging, hauling ore from mines, and carrying families across the Plains.

The gasoline engine doomed the draft horse for many of these purposes.

Their population declined in the early part of the last century. However, in recent years, due to an increased interest in preserving the environment, some people have turned to the draft horse for farming and logging.

The recreational purposes of the draft horse have increased also. Many fairs and horse shows popularize the draft horse through showmanship classes and pulling classes.

The draft horse-pulling contest is a major attraction every year at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Draft horses come in many styles.

Some of the most popular breeds include the Clydesdale, Percheron, Belgian, and Shire. These intimidating animals can tip the scales from 2,000 pounds and up, and stand 17 hands or higher (1 hand equals 4 inches) at the withers.

Nevertheless, in spite of their size, they can be amazingly docile. Draft horses can be seen at many places around the country.

The Kentucky Horse Park, outside of Lexington, stables an assortment of breeds, and of course, the most famous is the Budweiser Stable of Clydesdales in St. Louis, Missouri.

If you cannot get to those places, keep on the lookout in your neighborhood for the next fair. There is sure to be a draft horse there somewhere.

breds were reported in the general equine survey (horses not used for racing). The two breed totals, when including the non-racing population are 21,132 for Standardbred and 21,117 for Thoroughbreds.

Numbers, Economic Value By County, District

The horse industry represents a highly diverse industry that supports a wide variety of activities in all 67 counties.

Top Five Counties by Total Equine Population:

1. Lancaster - 20,396 head
2. Chester - 15,504 head
3. York - 12,089 head
4. Washington - 8,572 head
5. Berks - 6,241 head

Together, the state's southeastern and capital regions account for more than forty percent of Pennsylvania's equid population.

Equine Operations

There are an estimated 38,000 households that own equine in the state of Pennsylvania, with a total of 190,000 people who participate in an equine activity. An additional 20 percent (7,600) of households within the state participate in an equine activity, but do not own a horse. An estimated 31,000 operations housed Pennsylvania's 216,000 equine in 2002.

Twenty percent of the farms/stables from the general equine survey reported being commercial operations (for profit), while 80 percent considered their equine operation for personal use. Racehorse operations reported 82 percent are commercial and 18 percent were for personal use.

General Equine Operations

The majority of operations, over 63 percent, were reported to be involved with personal, recreational or pleasure riding and/or driving (trail riding, youth and showing). (Owners were permitted to list more than one discipline to describe their operation.)

The second largest group was working horses at nearly 9.3 percent. These horses earn their living working on farms plowing fields and pulling carriages.

Eight percent of facilities are involved in boarding and caring for other owners horses; 5.6 percent reported operating an equine breeding facility; 3 percent were riding/lesson stables (teaching riding lessons, rent equine, etc.); 2.3 percent were training facilities; 0.9 percent were show/events facilities; 0.35 percent were racing stables (not reported in the "Racehorse Survey"); 0.3 percent were lay-up or equine therapy facilities; 0.17 percent were reported as guest farms for Bed and Breakfast operations involved in tourism and 7 percent were listed as other.

This group listed their facilities as retirement homes for horses, horse rescues, mounted police units, therapeutic riding facilities etc.

Racing Facilities

Almost half of the racehorse breed owners, 46 percent, consider their operations to be racing stables/barns (on and off-track facilities). Second most common were breeding farms (21 percent), followed by training barns (10 percent); boarding facilities (7.5 percent); lay-up/equine therapy facilities (4.4 percent); sale preparations (1.8 percent) and other (10 percent).

Put Milk in the Tank by Planting These...

High Energy Double Crops

Plant Now through Early September for Fall Harvest

MARSHALL Annual Ryegrass

Marshall has consistently been at or near the top for first cut yields in western Maryland trials and in our own test field this spring. It is a diploid variety with excellent winter hardiness. Best fits in double crop program followed by corn.

ZORRO Italian Ryegrass

Zorro best fits for grazing and multiple harvest cropping programs with sorghum sudan as the following crop. It is better than Marshall for no-tilling into thin alfalfa, and has better forage quality than Marshall. We were pleased with the good reports we got on Zorro this spring, even though Zorro, along with most annual and Italian ryegrasses planted late had some winter injury. Some early planted Zorro (that wasn't harvested due to wet fields) had injury because of excessive growth going into winter. In most cases it grew back very well.

A Comparison of Marshall and Zorro

	MARSHALL (diploid)	ZORRO (tetraploid)
FORAGE QUALITY	Very Good	Excellent, higher cell contents, less cell wall More milk per lb. Sweeter and more digestible.
YIELD	Very High Early Yield	Uniform Spring Yield
HEADINESS	Usually very heady after main growth	Very leafy, but some heads from mid May-late June Heady in Jul
WINTER HARDINESS	Similar (high for an. ryegrass)	Similar to Marshall
BEST FIT	One cut system in double crop with corn	Multiple cut system and grazing in double crop with BMR sorghum sudan or late corn

Cows love these forages!

PERUN Festulolium

A 3 year High Energy Grass- Perun Festulolium is a very impressive 3 year crop, perfect for short rotations and extending the stand life of newly planted, slightly thinning alfafa stands. The quality and yield of Perun has been quite impressive. Perun is similar to Italian ryegrass in quality, but less heady in the summer (still has some heads). Winterhardiness is excellent. We did not see any winter damage in early spring. Perun has been the highest yielder in our plots. In New York, Perun was entered in the 2001 planting of Cornell University ryegrass trial, and it yielded over 6.85 tons of dry matter in 2002. This was 21% higher than the top perennial ryegrass.

Note: Ryegrasses and festuloliums are slower to dry than most grasses. They are best used for balage and grazing.

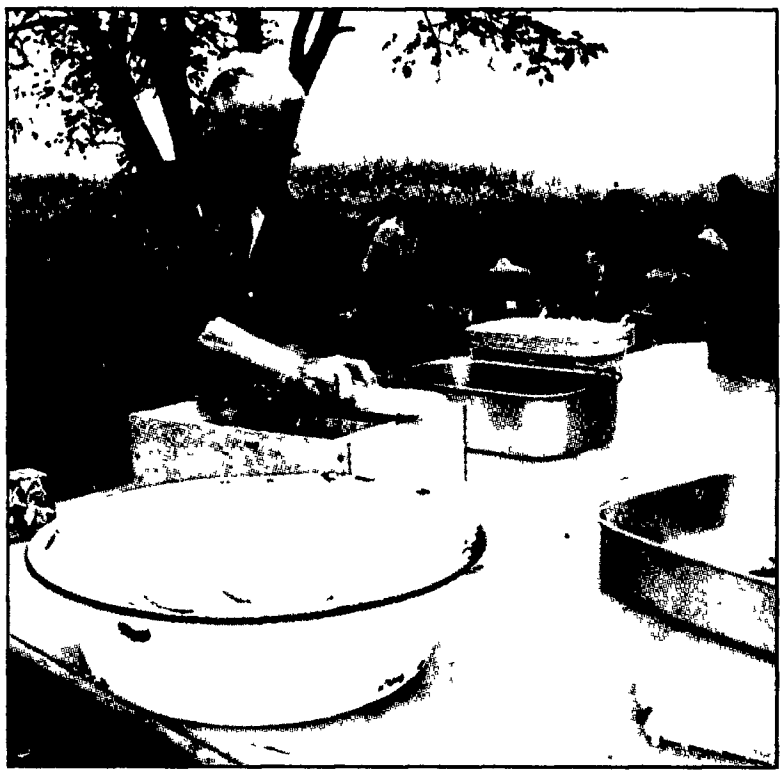
Corn Day At Yoder Farm



Turie Alwine, 84-years-old, uses her specialty-made corn cutter box devised by another participant at the event, Gib Knepp.

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family
Features Editor

BELLEVILLE (Mifflin Co.) — Night had barely faded when people gathered at Loren and Wanda Yoder's farm in Belleville Tuesday.

It was 6 a.m. Loren had already milked his dairy herd and picked two pickup truck beds full of lush yellow sweet corn.

About 35 people gathered for the fourth annual corn day located in what is known as Big Valley.

Eighty-four-year-old Turie Alwine and Wanda are said to have founded the annual event.

Turie explained, "Loren and Wanda are so generous. They had always planted extra corn to share with members at church (Barrville Mennonite). We wanted to help older people who didn't have their own gardens."

The plan was to preserve corn and give it to older people to enjoy throughout the year. The idea has mushroomed. It's no longer reserved only for older people, or for church members, but for anyone in the community who wants it.

After four years, the participants seemed to know exactly what to do. Some settle in lawn chairs and begin husking the ears. Some of the men build a fire in an outdoor cooker, which Loren designed especially for the event.

Dozens of freshly husked and silked corn are dumped into the boiling water for 10-minute blanchings. The corn is then transferred to a large trough filled with cold water. Water squirted from a hose continually cools the water.

After the corn has cooled, the ears are taken to the cutup crew.

Most use cream-style cutters, but some of the women prefer to use a knife to cut off the corn kernels.

The cut corn is passed on to women who fill plastic boxes and bags with the corn.

Necessity, they say, is the mother of invention, and that appeared true at this event. Plastic cups had the bottoms cut off and were used as funnels to guide the corn kernels into the bags without spilling.

When the bags and boxes were filled, Wanda hurried them to a freezer.

Wanda Yoder plans the annual corn-day event on her and her husband's farm, Belleville.

Age showed no limits. Participants from 9- to 89-years-of-age worked diligently to keep things progressing smoothly.

The Kuhns sisters Taylor, 9, and Kirsten, 11, help with unloading the ears from the back of the pickup truck and serve as runners for many errands. Their brother Chase, 13, and cousin Gabe Speck, 12, help with picking and with transferring the ears

(Turn to Page B3)

Most of the women use cutters that creamed the corn, but some prefer to cut if off with a knife.

The wood-fired outdoor cooker can boil 14 dozen ears of corn at one time, but not as fast as participants husked the corn.

This husking crew talked as fast as they worked.

from the boiling water to the cooling trough.

The oldest person attending was 89-year-old Elam Glick who helped husk the ears as fast as the younger participants. But, he admitted, "It's harder to pick something up (from the ground)."

Community members work together to get the job finished.

His friend said, "I think it's farther down than it used to be and farther to get up."

This was the first year the Yoders planted Honey Select sweet corn. At first, some of the oldtimers were dubious of the switch from the Incredible hybrid, but after tasting it, they agreed it was tender, sweet, and scrumptious — exactly what is desired in an ear of corn.

Some of the women such as Turie Alwine had brought along her specialty-designed "corn bowl," a wooden box that held a plastic bowl in position, and had a corn creamer/cutter on top. Gib Knepp, who had designed and made the box, was at the event also.

He rebuffed praise of his invention. He said, "The laziest, dumbest people always find an easier way to do things because they don't want to work hard."

His remarks garnered laughter, and continual banter interspersed conversations throughout the morning. Participants talked and laughed as fast as they worked.

The wood-fired cooker couldn't keep up with the speed of the huskers, and the cutters were periodically left with nothing to do. That gave Turie the idea to take a ride in a 4-wheeler with 9-year-old Taylor.

"I never did it before. It was fun," the 84-year-old said.

Coffee, tea, water, cookies, and other tasty tidbits were available for coffee breaks. People could help themselves to an ear of corn throughout the morning. At noon, burgers were placed on the grill, and a variety of food was served.

When the task was completed about noon, participants took corn along home with them, and some was frozen for later distribution.

Sadie Beiler said, "We get a lot done, but no one has to work hard because there're so many of us."

Craig Yoder samples an ear of Honey Select.

The STREAM MAP OF PENNSYLVANIA was completed in 1965 after a thirty-year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor

The map sold extremely well—until it was lost several years later Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's years of work to a landfill

Experts told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue

The few remaining copies became prized fisherman's possessions, known to some as the "Lost Stream Map " Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true Karl Ings and Larry Seaman of Vivid Publishing, Inc , a Williamsport firm, found new technology that enabled them to reproduce and republish the map Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day "

Before his death in 1993, Professor Higbee shared his knowledge of map making with Seaman and Ings, and supported the creation of new state stream maps Stream maps now cover 18 states, New York, Michigan, Ohio, Maryland-Delaware, New Jersey, Northern California, Washington, Colorado, Wisconsin, Virginia, Missouri and 5 New England States All 50 states will be available by the end of 2003

Professor Higbee's maps are the first and only highly detailed maps of their kind.

On Being a Farm Wife

Joyce Bupp

The air hangs heavy on this humid, sticky day.

"So thick you could almost cut it with a knife," was how my mother used to describe such hazy, stagnant air. A midday mistiness shrouds the meadow, casting a bluish tinge over the leafy green fencerows and woodlots, suggesting that fog rolling in is imminent.

Ominous, steely-gray clouds pile up on the horizon. Thunderstorms could wash out and freshen the air. Or, they might just stir the pot of heat and humidity, pouring in still more moisture to intensify this cauldron of steaminess.

Predictable.

Because it's mid-August.

Hanging in the air, equally as thick as the moisture droplets causing the August midday mist, is a tantalizing perfume beloved by farmers. It's a scent heavy with promiset, laden with potential in the form of delicate silky strands and minute bits of plant reproductive matter.

The corn is pollinating.

While we humans wilt in the oppressive overbearing humidity, corn plants thrive on summer sultriness and plentiful showers. Corn is a tropical plant, happily thriving in a moist, mid-80 degree environment. Plus, the haziness in the air probably helps somewhat to limit the sun's baking tendency, which can overheat and kill a corn plant's sensitive pollination mechanisms.

After an incredibly poor wheat crop, afflicted with fungus and diseases from prolonged moisture, and battling many-times-rinsed hay harvests, farmers relish the aroma of pollinating corn. It offers the promise of tall, thick stalks bearing ears of golden kernels to replenish bags, bins and bunkers, to feed livestock, to generate some return on pouring into the soil thousands of dollars worth of seed and fertilizers.

Only for these few brief August days does this corny fragrance float its enticement in the humid air. But as the scent drifts from the fields in through the kitchen windows, it blends with others marking these fleeting few weeks of fading summer.

A cantaloupe on the counter drifts a light, fruity aroma onto a welcome puff of breeze skipping through the screens. The melon's signature scent, coupled with a golden undercolor beneath its webbed skin, promises tasty ripeness in its tender flesh. While we've enjoyed melons all summer from the markets, nothing quite matches the flavor of a sweet, ripe melon plucked right from the vine and served lightly chilled.

Peaches are equally delicious, their luscious fragrance freshening the seasonal mildewy dampness of the basement. Picked and purchased just slightly underripe, they finish reaching full flavor and tenderness laid out in a single layer in a shallow cardbox and blanketed with newspaper. The aroma reminds me to check them every day and serve them up — in various ways — at peak taste.

Or just enjoy one eaten out of hand, yellow-orange juice dripping from one's chin.

While their scent is far more subtle, tomatoes command almost as much affection here as do the sweet fruits of August. Foliage of tomatoes are another August scent, not floral, not unpleasant, but definitely distinctive. And, even if you're not a green thumb gardener, picking tomatoes will give you one, at least until you wash the greenish stem stains away with a good, strong soap.

While not a fruit, the lusciousness of fresh sweet corn, plucked from the stalks and husked while a kettle of water is heating to boiling on the stove, is the epitome of seasonal culinary offerings. And the epicurean treats of August are so simple and basic steaming ears of sweet corn served a half-hour from the stalk, sunny slices of peaches oozing juice in a dish of cream, tender-crisp melon balls piled into a pretty dish for dessert. And ripe tomatoes. Finally.

And none of these would be as locally-grown-delicious without the steamy, sultry, stuffy days it takes to develop their full flavor and taste appeal.

Accepting that helps to make this sweat-soaked season a bit more appealing.

Well-Preserved

Pressure Canning Safety

The Well-Preserved news column is prepared by Lancaster County Cooperative Extension. It includes food preservation information and questions.

A question we often hear at the cooperative extension office: "Is it safe to use a pressure canner?"

If you have never used a pressure canner, using it for the first time can be an intimidating experience. One senses that the questioner visualizes the canner blowing up as the pressure in the canner increases or that she/he has had the experience of seeing a pressure plug blow.

Today's pressure canners are designed for safety. They are lightweight, thin-wall kettles. Most of them have turn-on lids fitted with gaskets that expand during heating to give an airtight seal. However one style is made of a heavier metal and has screw-down knobs around the canner but does not have a gasket. All the canners have removable racks, an automatic vent/cover lock, a steam vent, and a safety fuse or plug. This metal or rubber plug acts as a safety release.

If the canner gets above 25 pounds of pressure, the metal plug melts or the rubber plug pops out to release excess pressure. The pressure canner may have a dial gauge for indicting the pressure or a weighted gauge for indicating and regulating the pressure. Newer model canners have a lid lock that prevents you from opening the canner while there is still pressure in it. These added safety features should give you extra confidence when using a pressure canner. Also look for the UL (Underwriter's Laboratory) Seal of Approval.

Pressure canners come in various sizes. Some hold only one layer of quart or smaller jars, while others are deep enough for two layers of pint or smaller size jars. A pressure canner should be large enough to hold at least four quart jars. Smaller kettles are referred to as pressure cookers and are not recommended for canning because they cool down too quickly to maintain the higher temperatures needed to destroy harmful bacteria.

A pressure canner should not be confused with a steam canner. A steam canner does not operate under pressure and cannot heat foods above 212F. The use of a steam canner is not recommended as a safe canning procedure even for high acid foods by the USDA because process times for use with current models have not been adequately tested, heat distribution inside a steam canner is uneven, and pockets of air trapped between jars or under the dome can cause cold spots where temperatures are below 212F.

Learning to use a pressure canner properly will ensure its safety for both the user and the food canned. Watch the pressure dial or weighted gauge to avoid excess pressure. Adjust burner temperature to maintain a constant temperature. This is not the time to get distracted.

Two important procedures are adjusting pressure canner temperatures for altitude and venting the canner. The internal canner pressures and temperatures are lower at higher altitudes. Canners must be operated at increased pressures to adjust for these temperature changes. Check a USDA canning guide for adjustments needed for altitudes above 1000 feet. Air trapped in a pressure canner lowers the temperature obtained for a given pressure which results in under processing. All pressure canners must be vented 10 minutes before the petcock is closed or the weighted gauge is placed over the vent port. To vent a canner heat the sealed canner on high with the vent port uncovered until the water boils causing a visible funnel of steam that is continuously escaping the canner. After 10 minutes of continuous steam, the petcock or vent port can be closed to begin pressuring the canner. The canner will pressurize in the next 3 to 5 minutes.

Have the dial gauge checked yearly at you local Cooperative Extension office. If the gauge reads high or low by more than one pound, it should be replaced. If the gauge reads low by one pound or less, add that amount to the recommended pressure.

Processing procedures also affects safety. Constantly monitor the pressure during the processing. Loss of pressure at any time can result in under-processed and unsafe food. If at any time the pressure goes below the recommended amount, bring the canner back to the correct pressure and begin the timing process over. Start from the beginning and use the total original process time. Quick and large pressure variations may cause unnecessary liquid losses from jars. This may occur during processing because of burner adjustments or cooling the canner too quickly.

When the processing is completed, the canner should be removed from the heatset it off an electric burner. The heat in the canner at this point is part of the processing needed to destroy bacterial spores. Let the canner cool down naturally. The canner is de-pressurizing while it is cooling. Do not cool the canner under cold running water or open the vent port before the canner is fully depressurized. These are forms of forced cooling and will cause loss of liquid from jars and seal failures. These procedures may also warp the canner lid. Older heavy-walled canners require about 30 minutes to depressurize when loaded with pints and about 45 minutes when loaded with quarts. The newer then-walled canners cool more quickly and are equipped with vent locks that are designed to open when the pressure is gone. At this point the vent lock drops to a normal position. Then remove the weight from the vent port or open the petcock and wait 2 minutes as a safety precaution before unfastening the lid. Always lift the lid with the underside away from you to direct any steam coming out of the canner away from your face. Jars will be extremely hot when removed from the pressure canner. Avoid placing these hot jars on a cold surface or in a cold draft as the temperature extremes may cause the jars to break.

By following canner and processing directions exactly, you can have safely canned foods and be safe while you are doing it. Remember, pressure canning is the only safe method to process low acid vegetables such as corn and green beans, meats, and combination foods such as soups and tomato sauces with meat.

If you have food preservation questions, a home economist is available to answer questions on Wednesdays 10 a.m.1 p.m., call (717) 394-6851 or write Penn State Cooperative Extension, Lancaster County, 1383 Arcadia Rd., Rm.1, Lancaster, PA, 17601.

122nd Maryland State Fair To Run Aug. 22- Sept. 1

TIMONIUM, Md. — The 2003 Maryland State Fair is a sure bet for summer food, fun, and celebration. In its 122nd year, the 11-day festival will feature thousands of home arts and agricultural exhibits, daily livestock and horse shows, a wide variety of midway rides and games, and thoroughbred horse racing.

The Maryland State Fair opens Friday, August 22 and runs through Monday, September 1, 10 a.m.-10 p.m. at the Timonium Fairgrounds in Baltimore County.

Early risers are welcome to attend livestock and horse shows at 9 a.m., exhibit halls are open from 10 a.m.-10 p.m., and the Midway opens at 10 a.m. on weekends and 12 noon on weekdays.

Admission is $5 for adults and children under 12 are admitted free. Rides are individually priced.

The 4-H Livestock Show will begin Friday, August 22 and run through Sunday, August 24. The 4-H Livestock Sale is on Sunday, August 24 at 7 p.m. A variety of Open Class livestock shows will begin Monday, August 25 and run through Labor Day.

Thoroughbred Horse Racing begins Saturday, August 23 and runs throughout the Fair with live and/or simulcast races from a variety of other tracks around the country. Admission to the racetrack is included in the admission price of the Fair.

The Maryland State Fair features daily exhibits and presentations for visitors of all ages. New this year: University of Maryland Agriculture Fair Tours; The Toyota Concert Series featuring three concerts free with paid admission to the Fair by national artists Jars of Clay; The Rock and Roll Army (including Rare Earth, Mitch Ryder, Spencer Davis, and Mark Lindsey) and Brad Paisley. Seating is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Back by popular demand: the XTREME Air Ultimate Stunt Show; The Birthing Center where fairgoers have the opportunity to witness the birth of calves and piglets under the supervision of veterinarians and veterinarian students; the NASA/FIRST High School Robotics Display and Stack Attack Robotics Competition; and more.

Fairgoers are invited to explore the Farm and Garden, 4-H/Home Arts Buildings, the Cow Palace, Horse Show Ring, and other agricultural buildings and displays as well as the Exhibition Hall. For nature lovers, join the Department of Natural Resources in the State Fair Park for a chance to see native animals (such as owls, snakes, and turtles) at the "Scales and Tales" exhibit and learn about conservation, recreation, stewardship, and the protection of Maryland's natural resources.

Parking on the Fairgrounds for a minimal fee and free parking at the Park and Ride location on Deereco Road are available on a first-come, first-served basis. The Fairgrounds encourages use of the Light Rail with an easily accessible Light Rail stop at the Fairgrounds' Cow Palace Gate.

For general information, call (410) 252-0200, ext. 227; or visit the Maryland State Fair Website at marylandstatefair.com.

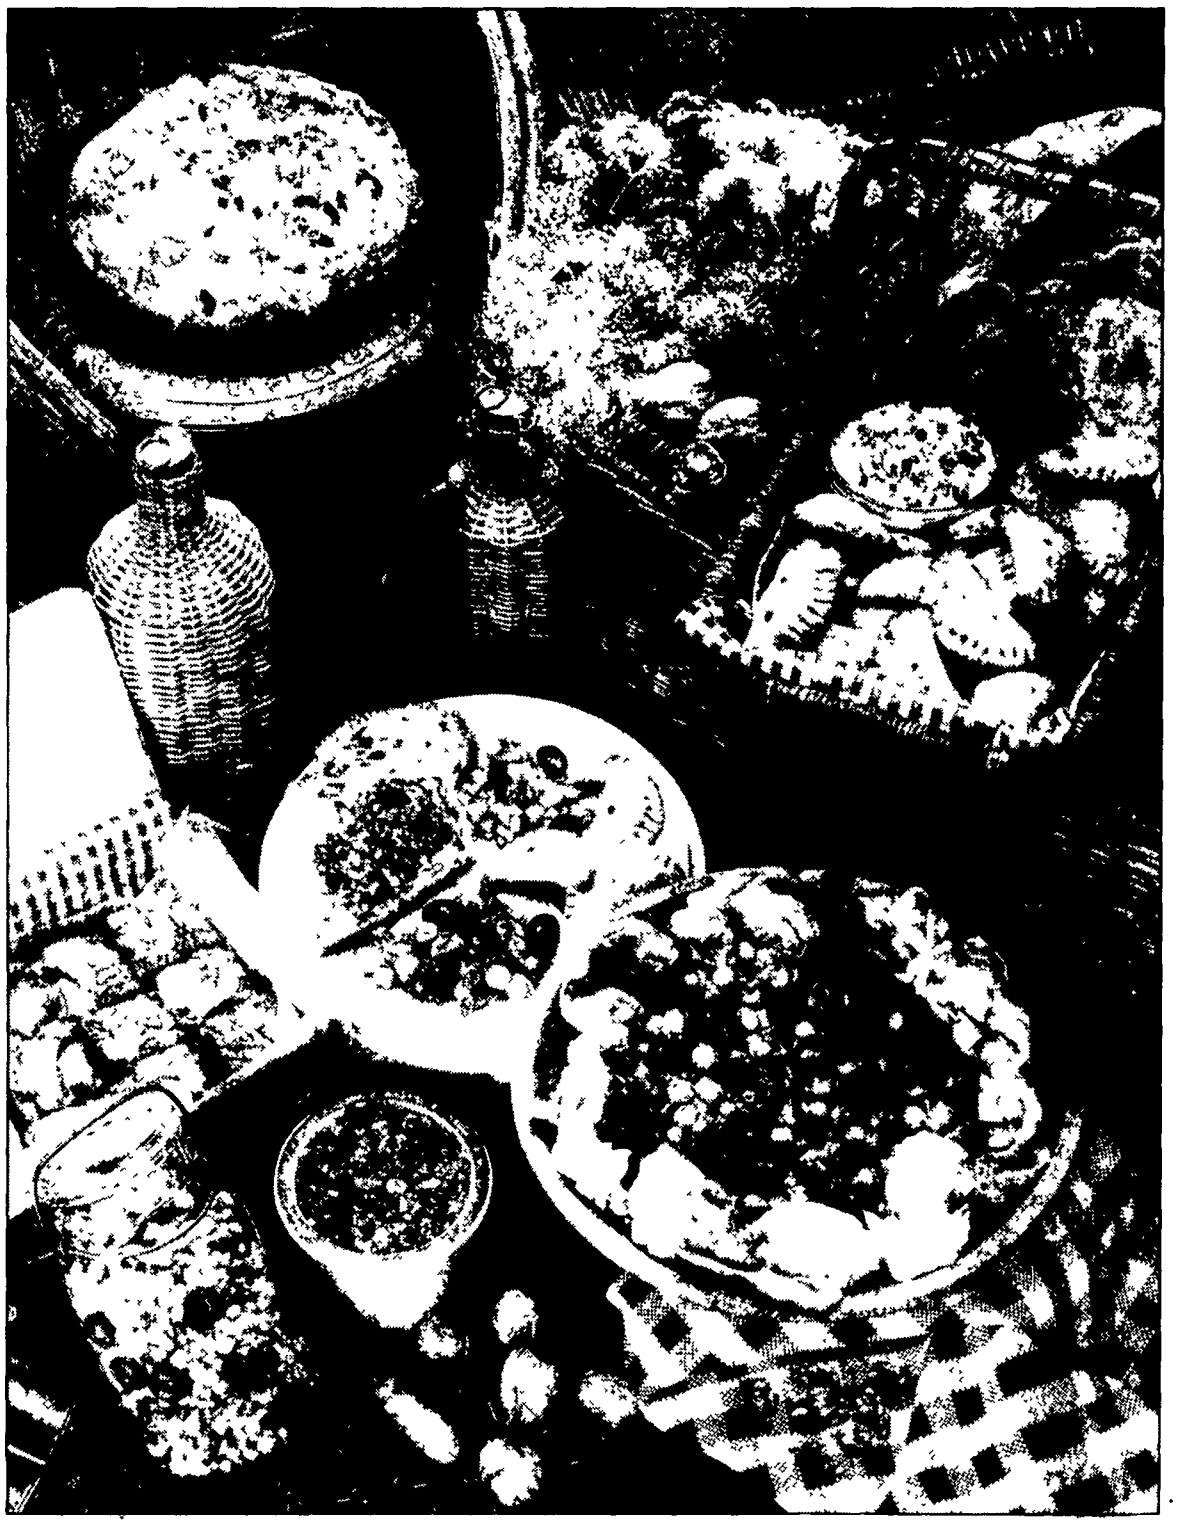
Going To A Picnic? Ideas To Take Along



The best picnics include traditional favorites and new ideas for recipe swapping.

CONTINENTAL ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

Saute the following over medium-low heat in 2 tablespoons olive oil for 5 minutes, stirring constantly:

- 2 cups sliced zucchini (zucchini that are 6-inch to 8-inch long)
- 1 diced green bell pepper
- 1 cup grated carrots
- 1 cup chopped onions
- 1 clove garlic, pressed or finely chopped

Add salt and pepper to taste

Combine the following:

- ¼ cup cultured sour cream
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- ½ teaspoon thyme

Stir the above into vegetables, and spoon into a 1½ quart buttered casserole dish. Top with ½ cup buttered bread crumbs to which 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese has been added. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 4-6.

CREAMY VEGETABLES

Cook 2 cups rice at beginning of preparations.

Saute 2 deboned and skinned chicken breasts, either sliced thinly or cut into cubes, just until juices are no longer pink. Set aside and keep warm.

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil over medium heat in large skillet. Add:

- 2 cups broccoli florets
- 1 cup diagonally slice celery
- 1 large onion, sliced into wedges
- 2 cloves garlic, pressed

Saute, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes, or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Add:

- 1½ cup half and half
- ¼ teaspoon basil
- 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper (use white pepper, if available)

Bring to boil. Reduce heat to low. Cook, covered for 5 minutes.

Combine 2 tablespoons cornstarch with ¼ cup chicken broth and add to skillet with vegetables. Add:

- ¼ cup chicken broth
- 1 cup thinly sliced red bell pepper
- ½ cup English peas

Cook, stirring until thickened and vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. Add chicken to vegetables. Serve over rice. Yields 4 generous main-dish servings. Angel hair pasta is a nice alternative to rice.

ZUCCHINI SKILLET MEDLEY

Saute in ¼ cup olive oil until tender-crisp:

- ¼ cup slice celery
- ½ cup sliced onion
- 1 clove garlic, pressed or chopped

Add:

- 1 pound 6-inch to 8-inch zucchini, sliced ¼-inch thick (about 4 cups)
- 2 peeled, medium sized tomatoes, but into eighths
- ½ cup green bell pepper strips
- ½ cup pared and coarsely shredded carrot

Saute 10 minutes.

Stir in the following:

- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- ¼ teaspoon dried basil
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Simmer 5 minutes.

Yields 6 servings. Sometimes, I'll add 1 pound cooked ground beef or sausage plus an additional can of tomato sauce, and serve the combination over pasta as a main course.

SQUASH ALLA PARMA

Saute the following in 2 tablespoons olive oil:

- 1 small onion, quartered
- ½ cup fresh parsley leaves, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, finely chopped or pressed

Stir the following into the sauteed vegetables:

- 2 pounds peeled, chopped tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, and simmer 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, cut into ¼-inch thick slices 2 zucchini and 1 yellow squash (all no more than 8-inch long). Overlap squash slices on top of tomatoes. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Uncover and continue to cook until squash is tender-crisp, about 10-16 minutes. Sprinkle with ⅓ cup Parmesan cheese.

CHOCOLATE WHOOPIE PIES

- 2 cups flour (slightly more can be added if dough is to thin)
- ½ cup cocoa
- ½ cup brown sugar, packed
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder

Sift all together except brown sugar. Add: ½ cup milk, ½ cup water, 1 medium egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup vegetable oil. Stir well until smooth. Add ¼ cup butter (room temperature).

Stir until creamy. Drop on a greased cookie sheet dusted lightly with flour. Bake at 400 degrees on top rack in oven for 8-10 minutes.

I usually bake mine at 450-475 degrees but then you have to check so they don't burn. Makes for a lighter cookie. Fill with whoopie pie filling. Wrap with cling wrap.

Filling:

- ¾ cup shortening
- 1 teaspoon butter or 2 tablespoons vegetable oil

Mix until very creamy. Add: 1 teaspoon instant whipped topping mix. Cream again. Add: ¾ cup confectioners' sugar, ½ teaspoon flour. Mix again. Add: 1 tablespoon vegetable oil. Cream all together.

SPANISH BAR BAKE

- 20 ounce can apple pie filling
- 4 large eggs
- 1 tablespoon apple pie spice
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- 18 ounce package yellow cake mix
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 cup walnuts, chopped

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. In blender combine pie filling, apple pie spice, and cloves; beat until smooth. Place in large bowl and add cake mix. Beat 4-5 minutes. Stir in raisins and nuts. Pour into greased 9x13-inch pan. Bake for 55 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool on wire rack 30 minutes.

Frost with the following:

- 8 ounce package cream cheese, softened
- ½ cup butter
- ⅓ cup dark corn syrup
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 tablespoon grated dry orange peel
- 3½ cups confectioners' sugar

Combine all frosting ingredients. Beat until creamy and of spreading consistency.

Having a picnic, a covered dish gathering, a reunion, or a cookout?

No matter what you call it, these events often require guests to bring a hot or cold dish. Maybe Aunt Flossie's crowd-pleasing whoopie pies and Grandma's red beet eggs are required at annual events. But, some cooks look for new recipes to take. They enjoy finding novel recipes to share and swap.

Today's collection includes a bit of both — new and traditional recipes from our readers. Especially of interest are the many recipes submitted using in-season produce.

Here's a novel recipe from Lee Laverty, Mount Joy. She writes that this is best if made the day before serving. Embellish with slices of tomatoes and cucumbers.

Keep in mind food safety at these events. This recipe, in particular, should be kept cold until serving. Never leave food set out longer than two hours.

SEAFOOD SALAD

- 2 cups elbow macaroni
- 12 ounces sea legs or krab legs, cut into bite-sized pieces

In a bowl, add the following:

- 1 teaspoon dried minced onion
- 1 tablespoon water

Allow to stand five minutes, add:

- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- ½ cup minced celery

Mix well and set aside.

In a large bowl, mix macaroni with sea legs. Pour mayonnaise mixture over the macaroni mixture and toss well. Refrigerate eight hours over overnight before serving. Arrange on serving dishes with tomatoes and cucumbers.

Going To A Picnic?

2 teaspoons baking powder
⅓ teaspoon baking soda
⅔ cup sugar
⅓ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
9 tablespoons shortening

Mix well. With rolling pin, roll in 10×15×1-inch pan.

Filling:
2 cans crushed pineapple
3 tablespoons tapioca or cornstarch
1 cup sugar
½ cup sqeezed lemon juice

Cook until thicken. Cool and pour on shell.

Topping:
2 containers cottage cheese
2 tablespoons tapioca or cornstarch
4 tablespoons melted butter
1 tablespoon vanilla
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
Pinch of salt
1 can (13-ounce) cream

Make cottage cheese smooth by forcing through sieve. Mix all ingredients together. Pour over filling very slowly. Use a measuring cup so you won't get custard topping mixed in with the pineapple filling. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

MUSTARD EGGS

8-10 hard boiled eggs
3 tablespoons yellow mustard
⅔ cup sugar
½ cup vinegar
⅓ teaspoon salt
1 cup water

Mix all ingredients but the eggs in a saucepan. Heat and stir until mixed thoroughly. Add eggs to liquid and store refrigerated for 24 hours.

CHICKEN SPAGHETTI

1 large fryer, cooked, boned, and diced (6 large chicken breasts will do fine also)
1 pound spaghetti, cooked in the broth of the chicken you just did
1 large onion
1 bell pepper
2 stalks celery
½ cup butter
1 can peas (do not drain)
1 can diced Ro-Tel tomatoes, diced tomatoes and chilies
1 pound Velveeta cheese, cubed
1 small jar pimento
1 jar mushrooms, sliced

Boil spaghetti until cooked; remove chicken from broth (reserve). Cook the spaghetti in the chicken broth until tender; drain the spathetti but reserve about ½ cup of the broth for a little later. Chop onion, bell pepper, and celery; saute in butter. Mix all ingredients together and pour into a baking dish. (Pour a little of the chicken broth over it to keep it moist.) Bake in 9×13-inch pan, covered, at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes until bubbly.

CORN-BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

1 can white corn, drained
1 can cream corn
1 box or more of broccoli (cooked)
1 stick butter, melted
1 box "Chicken in Biskit" crackers, crushed

Mix together, but reserve some of the crushed crackers for the top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

SIMPLE LASAGNA ROLL-UPS

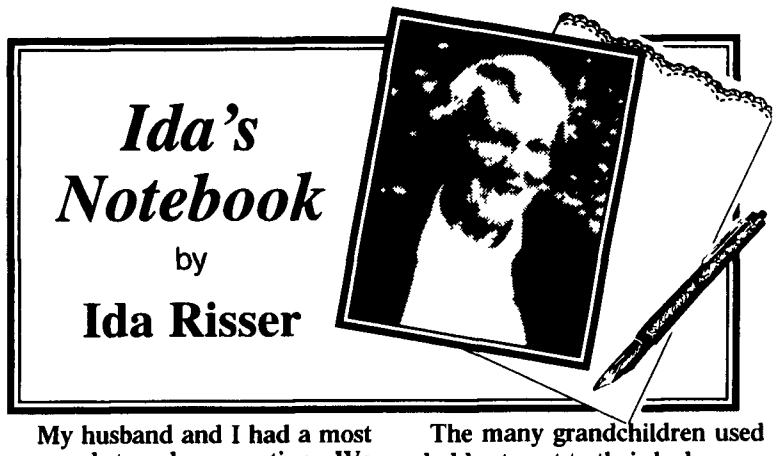
1 package (16-ounce) lasagna, uncooked
4 cups (32-ounce) ricotta cheese
2 cups (8-ounce) shredded sharp cheddar cheese
1 cup chopped fresh spinach
1 egg
3 cups (30-ounce jar) spaghetti sauce
Grated parmesan cheese

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. Lay flat to cool.

In large bowl, combine cheese, spinach, and egg.

Pour 1 cup sauce on bottom of 13×9×2-inch baking dish. Spread about ¼ cup cheese mixture on each piece of pasta to within 1-inch at one end; beginning at filled end, roll up jelly roll fashion. Arrange roll-ups, seamside down, in single layer in prepared dish; cover with remaining sauce. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese, if desired. Cover with foil. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Makes 10 servings.

Ashley Derr



My husband and I had a most unusual two-day vacation. We joined our children in Tioga County as they worked on building a very large cottage.

When we arrived on Wednesday evening, they had just finished a big chicken and steak meal. They all gathered around a big picnic table that my husband built a few years ago. We drove up a winding road through a thick woodland to get there.

Some 20 of us lived in a large room in the unfinished building. It was a bit primitive and open to the sky on one end. There were sleeping bags, mattresses, food and water containers and so many folding chairs. However, the men did not get a chance to sit down as they were continually hammering or sawing. They had a generator for power and installed many windows on the first floor.

The many grandchildren used a ladder to get to their bedrooms. Even the two-year-old scampered up in a hurry. The nine- and 12-year-old boys built a circle of flat stones to contain a fire and made a ring of benches around the fire. The boys and girls worked so hard to chop down small, dead trees for firewood with a machete. In the morning the heat felt fine.

The children also enjoyed going down a steep hill to a stream where they played in the water. One day we took a scenic ride on the Tioga Railroad. Thursday night we all ate in Wellsboro and then spent the night at the Penn Wells Hotel where hot showers were available. It was a noisy vacation in a quiet spot away from the rest of the world.

Wrinkle-Releasing Sprays

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Wrinkle releasing sprays might just be the best thing to hit home fabric care in decades. They relax and smooth fabrics to help remove wrinkles — without an iron. Here's how to do it right:

- Always read and follow the product label directions before using.
- Spray in a sweeping motion until the garment is slightly damp.
- Tug and smooth away wrinkles.
- Hang to dry.

Wrinkle removers are suitable for washable and dry cleanable fabrics. Read the labels. Some products should not be used on fabrics that may water spot. Use these products for home fabrics like slipcovers and curtains.

Do You Suffer From Fibromyalgia?

When I was introduced to New Image I was 50 pounds over weight and suffered from fibromyalgia I was so depressed and in pain the majority of the time I was taking steroids and four other medications one of which made me so 'groggy' I could hardly get out of bed and another gave me ulcers I began taking New Image secretly because I thought my family would make fun of me After a month, I discovered I had lost eight pounds and seven inches Wow!Then it dawned on me I was feeling better, the depression and pain were gone In two months I was off all medications "I feel SUPERIFIC!" Now, two years later I have lost 43 pounds and 30 inches Thank you New Image for giving me a new life again Judy Swift -Mt Washington, KY

QUESTION A reader wants recipes for dishes that work well to take to potluck dinners or covered dish events.

QUESTION — A reader wants recipes and ideas for quick summertime cooking.

ANSWER — Nellie Ibach wanted a recipe with exact amounts listed to make iced tea using regular tea bags and blue stem tea to give tea a minty flavor. Thanks to Kathy Wolf, Elizabethtown, for sending two recipes.

Meadow Tea Concentrate

5 cups fresh mint leaves, washed with large stems removed 5½ cups water
3 cups granulated sugar

Place washed mint leaves in a large bowl. Bring water and sugar to a rolling boil in a saucepan, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Pour over mint leaves. Cover and steep one hour. Strain mint leaves and discard. The remaining concentrate can be mixed at a ratio of three cups water to one cup concentrate to make meadow tea. The concentrate can also be frozen for later use, or can be used to make mint tea (recipe follows.)

Mint Tea

4 Lipton tea bags
2 cups boiling water

Steep tea bags in water, covered, for 5 minutes. Discard tea bags. Pour tea over one cup ice cubes. Add 3 cups cold water and ½ cup meadow tea concentrate.

Serve with 2 or 3 additional ice cubes and sprig of fresh mint per glass. Serves 4. This makes a refreshing and not overly-sweet beverage.

ANSWER — L. Kauffman wanted a pepper recipe to can sweet peppers that taste like the B&G Sandwich Toppers available at supermarket. She knows it has some oregano in it. Thanks to Mary Stover, Loganton, for sending a recipe. Although she never tasted the B&G brand, she said this recipe sounds similar.

Italian Peppers

½ bushel sweet peppers, any color, dice and put in crock

Pour in 1 gallon water and 1 gallon white vinegar. Stir well.

Soak 10 days, drain well. Add:
1 cup oregano
¼ cup garlic salt
Place in jars, put clove of garlic in each jar.
Mix together:
1 quart salad oil
1 quart olive oil

Cover peppers with oil mixture. Set lids loose on jars for three days. Tighten lids on third day.

ANSWER — Mary Lockhard, Columbia, requested a recipe to make pear butter. Thanks to Jean Wissler, New Holland; Anna Martin, Denver; and others for sending recipes.

Pear Butter

2 quarts pear pulp
4 cups sugar

Wash pear and remove core and peeling. (Hold pears in bowl of cold water so they don't turn brown). Cut pears into quarters. Add a small amount of water. Put them in blender and puree until you have 8 cups of puree. Pour into roasting pan (do three batches at a time), and stir in sugar until mixed well. Bake in 350-degree oven for three hours (no longer or it will scortch). Stir occasionally. Put in jelly jars and seal.

Pear Butter

2 quarts pear pulp
2 pounds sugar

Wash pears and remove core and peelings. Cut into quarters and add a little water. Cook until tender. To the pulp, add sugar and mix together well. Place in a 350 degree oven for three hours. Stir occasionally. Pour into jars and seal.

ANSWER — Those who are interested in making pear butter will probably like this recipe sent in by a reader.

Grape Butter

1 quart heaping full of grapes
2 pounds sugar
4 tablespoons water

Boil 15 minutes. Smash through strainer. Put into jars. Ready to use.

Pear Butter

Wash and slice ripe pears. Cook until soft. If needed, add water to prevent sticking. Press through sieve or food mill. Measure:
12 cups pear pulp
6 cups sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Boil until thickened. Pour, hot, into hot glass canning jars. Process pints and quarts 10 minutes in boiling water bath.

ANSWER — A Kutztown reader requested a recipe for German Swhwartze Brod (blackbread). The Baker and Mestermacher are some companies that make this naturally fermented, dark, solid bread with whole grains such as rye, sunflower, and 4-grain flours. She writes: It is a most nutritious tasting, satisfying snack with yellow butter spread on top. It's also great for breakfast. Thanks to Lee Laverty, Mount Joy, for sending the following recipe.

German Peasant Black Bread
(Makes two round loaves)

2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup warm water (110 to 115 F)
2¼ cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
⅓ cup blackstrap molasses
1 ounce square unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon instant coffee
2 tablespoons crushed caraway seeds
1 teaspoon crushed fennel seeds
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons grated onion
3½ cups all-purpose unsifted flour (approximate)
2 cups dark rye flour
corn oil
1 tablespoon instant coffee mixed with 3 tablespoons water
1 egg white mixed with 3 tablespoons water and ½ teaspoon salt yellow corn meal

Sprinkle yeast into the warm water in a large bowl; stir to dissolve and set aside.

Combine salt, butter, molasses, chocolate, instant coffee, caraway seeds, fennel seeds, vinegar and onion; pour the boiling water over and stir to melt chocolate and butter, blend all ingredients. Cool to 110 F.

Stir in yeast plus 2 cups of all-purpose flour. Beat until smooth. Add all dark rye flour and beat several minutes. Then add enough all-purpose flour to make a stiff dough — one that pulls away from sides of the bowl.

Turn out onto a floured board, cover with clean, dry kitchen cloth and let dough rest 15 minutes. Knead dough, adding flour to keep from being sticky. After 20 minutes of quick, gentle kneading, the dough should be elastic and satiny. Shape into a smooth ball.

Wash, dry and rub mixing bowl with corn oil; roll dough over in oil to coat. Cover with kitchen cloth and set in warm (80 F) draft-free spot. Let rise to double its bulk, about 1¼ hours.

Punch down, roll again in a bit of oil, cover and let rise in same warm spot for 40 minutes, til nearly double in bulk. Punch down and shape dough into 2 round loaves.

Butter two pie plates and sprinkle bottoms with corn meal. Place one loaf in each pan, or place on either one large or two small cookie sheets prepared the same way. Cover with a clean, dry cloth and let rise til double, about 30 minutes. Poke two fingers into dough at inconspicuous spot; if indentations stay, bread is oven-ready. Brush each loaf first with some of coffee wash, then with egg-white wash.

Bake in preheated 375 F oven about 35 minutes, or until bread sounds hollow when thumped with fingers.

ANSWER — Joyce Shoemaker, Mount Joy, wanted a recipe for stewed tomatoes with peppers, onions, and parsley. She likes the stewed tomatoes served at Country Table Restaurant. Thanks to Lee Laverty, Mount Joy, who writes, "I went to Country Table and asked if they would be willing to share their recipe for their great stewed tomatoes, but unfortunately, they won't. This is as close to their recipe that I can fine. Enjoy.

Stewed Tomatoes

2 (#2½) cans tomatoes
2 to 4 tablespoon brown sugar
2 to 4 tablespoon butter
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt and pepper to taste

The longer these tomatoes cook, the better they taste. Pour tomatoes into large stew pan; bring to a boil. Turn heat low and cook uncovered 3 to 6 hours, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. When tomatoes have cooked down so that no juice runs from a serving on a plate, they are done. Season to taste. Finely chopped onion or green pepper may be added ½ hour before tomatoes are done if desired. Do NOT add sugar until tomatoes are done or they will burn. Serves 4.

Eat Eggs It Does A Brain Good

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A full 50 years after its discovery, choline's dietary importance was finally recognized by the National Academy of Sciences in 1998 when it issued recommended daily intake amounts for the nutrient. Since then, researchers have shown many vital functions that choline plays in our health and are currently exploring even more links.

A building block for every cell, choline plays an important role throughout the body and throughout life. Jangled nerves? Researchers have discovered that our nerve fibers are insulated by choline. Choline also helps the efficient conduction of electrical impulses between nerves. These findings make this essential nutrient extremely important in a society where people say they are feeling more stressed than ever before.

But more important than any other discovery is what researchers have found out about choline and its relation to brain function. Not only does choline play a major part in the development of children's brain and memory function, but its effect predates the child's birth. It has been found that prenatal deficiencies of choline have a negative impact on the development of the areas of the brain related to learning and memory. In fact, a growing number of studies show that when rats have been supplied with adequate choline both before and after birth, they showed enhanced memory and brain function throughout their lives, extending into old age.

So where can you find this amazing stuff? In your egg case. This cost-effective, nutrient-dense, source of high-quality protein now has another reason to boast. With 280 mg of choline, one egg provides over 50 percent of an adult's daily requirement.

Ready, Set, Go
Getting Children Ready
To Go Back to School

I'm beginning to see the ads for all those school supplies; pencils, pens, backpacks, notebooks.

Is it really that time again? Where did the summer go?

How well I remember those final weeks of summer just before school started. Our daughter would secretly feel the stress of the unknown and exhibit behaviors that we did not recognize. She was cranky, irritable and just generally hard to be around, very different from her usual pleasant demeanor.

We discovered after some investigation that she was concerned about the upcoming school year. How would this year's teacher conduct class? Who were the other children in her class and how would they treat her? What things would she be learning? Could she handle all this new material? What about the bus ride?

These concerns and many others are on the minds of our children, especially those who will enter school for the first time this year. Some of the best gifts we can give our children are the skills needed to do well in school. As a parent you can help your child succeed. Following are some suggestions to help ease the transition and give them some skills for going to school.

Talk to your children about your own school experiences and how you felt. Ask them to share their feelings with you.

Be enthusiastic about the upcoming change. If you are excited and confident your child will be too.

Visit your child's school before the year begins. If possible meet the teacher and see the classroom.

Gradually change your child's bedtime and morning routine to mirror what you will practice for school days.

If this is your child's first experience with school, visit your library and find books about going off to school.

To help with their language skills read aloud to your child regularly, at least 20 minutes every day is best.

Play "Let's find everything in the house that starts with the letter M' (or any letter you choose).

To help with math skills, talk about numbers in your daily routine, for example, "How many plates do we need on the table? One for Mommy, one for Grandpa, and one for Jenny."

Ask your child questions such as "Which has more or less?" Or, "Which one is bigger/smaller?"

To help build science skills take your child to visit oceans, swamps, parks, airports, etc. and talk about what you find there.

Hopefully going off to school will be a smooth transition for you and your child.

Chester County Garden Tour

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — The Trial Garden is part of an education promotion program of the Penn State Horticultural Trial Garden and Penn State Master Gardener's in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Floral Industries Association and Pennsylvania Landscape and Nursery Association.

Each year superior plants from Penn State Trial Gardens are distributed to Penn State Pennsylvania Counties where they are displayed and evaluated in local Trial Gardens planted and maintained by the local Master Gardener's.

The purpose of the local Gardener Selects Trial Garden is to increase awareness of these plants, encourage ornamental horticulture, provide experience in evaluating plant performance, and promote the Master Gardener Program.

Educational tours of the Pennsylvania Gardener Selects Trial Garden will be conducted at the Chester County Government Service Center, 601 Westtown Road, West Chester, Thursday, Aug. 28 at 4 p.m., demonstration on dividing perennials, and Monday, Sept. 8 at 4 p.m., demonstration on repotting a pot-bound houseplant. Meet outside of the Government Services building main entrance for the tour.

For more information, call the Penn State Chester County Master Gardener's at (610) 696-3500.

Plenty Of Work, Fun, Smiles At Lancaster 4-H Fair

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Ten-year-old Megan Ackley knows that in raising livestock for 4-H projects, things don't always go as planned.

It certainly did not for her.

Her plan to raise lambs for 4-H competition suffered a devastating blow several months ago when neighboring dogs knocked down the gate to the pen where her two lambs were kept.

The dogs attacked the two lambs, and Megan's favorite did not survive.

"I miss Scooter," Megan said of her deceased lamb.

Megan thought her opportunity to show lambs in competition vanished with the death of her market lamb.

But rules allowed her to purchase a replacement lamb. So, last week, Megan prepared Lily, a Suffolk lamb purchased from Joanne Zimmerman, Reinholds.

Megan daily walked Lilly and Skittles in preparation for competition.

Well, almost every day. When Megan went on vacation with her parents, Russell and Cheryl, her grandparents provided lamb care.

"It takes two sets of grandparents to take care of a family of four," said Megan's grandfather Charles Achley. They also cared for the lambs that Megan's brother Josh, 13, was showing.

Families are important to most 4-H success.

In breeding sheep competition, Katrina Frey carried on the family tradition when her champion bred and owned ewe was named supreme champion ewe over all breeds at the Lancaster 4-H Fair.

Katrina's grandmother Joan MacCauley and her mother Nancy Frey have been instrumental in showing sheep through the generations under the name Breezeview Farm.

The lamb was a pleasant surprise to a rough start for the ewe.

"It was a bottle-fed lamb because its mom rejected it," Katrina said.

When the lamb was born on George Washington's birthday, it slipped between wooden slats in the pen. It was almost dead when found. The Frey family took turns tube feeding the ewe around the clock.

The pampered ewe lived in the Frey's laundry room until it was healthy enough to survive in the barn with 65 other ewes.

The supreme ewe came from champion stock. Its grandmother was the supreme champion at the 4-H Fair in 1999, and her mother Valentine-Breezeview 15 was named champion bred and owned in 2001.

Those champions had been sired by a ram also from Breezeview, which has sired champion lambs all over the U.S., and had been named top champion in the whole country in 2000. The Breezy View ram sold for $23,000 at a Missouri sale. That was the top price in 25 years for a lamb.

Another lamb exhibitor, Shannon Wettig, confidently prepared her lamb Oreo.

It was the first year For Shannon showing lambs.

The confident 9-year-old said, "I watched the seniors. All I need to do in the show ring is set her up."

Although it is her first year of showing sheep, Shannon has experience helping with the families five horses, which her parents' Tim and Emily Wettig show.

"I like to show sheep. They behave better than horses," Shannon said.

Shannon said her lamb was wild when it was purchased. She walked it for a couple of hours to calm it.

She also walked it every day after that. The stubborn little black lamb named Charcoal would fall down and play dead if she didn't want to walk.

At first, Shannon picked her up and carried Charcoal to finish the walk. But Shannon said the lamb is very tame and cooperative now.

For 4-H'ers, the annual Lancaster 4-H Roundup involves much more than showing animals. Competitions were conducted for talent, square dancing, line dancing, and all types of general exhibits. Many of the older 4-H'ers help with judging and with conducting activities for friends and family who attend the event.

In her first year of showing sheep, Shannon Wettig, 9, faced the event with confidence as she prepared Oreo for the show ring. "All I need to do is get her ready and set her up — I watched the seniors do it," Shannon said.

Life turned out better for Megan Ackley, 10, than she expected. Several weeks ago, neighboring dogs broke into her sheep pen and killed her 4-H lamb. Megan purchased a replacement lamb. Here she prepares Lily, a Suffolk, for 4-H market lamb competition. Three generations of Megan's family came to watch Megan in her first week of showing at the Lancaster County 4-H Roundup. With Megan are her parents Cheryl and Russel Ackley, grandparents Charles and Joy Ackley, and brother Josh, 13.

Winning is a family affair for Katrina Frey, who holds her homebred Suffolk yearling named supreme champion ewe at the Lancaster 4-H Roundup last week. Katrina is the third generation to continue showing Breezeview Farm champions. With her are her grandmother Joan MacCauley, who oversees the breeding program; Katrina's parents Fritz and Nancy Frey, brother Freddie; and Aunt Chris MacCauley and her children Betsy and Kyle; and Johannes Theis, a family friend from Germany who helped fit the lamb.

Adams Co. 4-H/FFA Livestock Show and Sale

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — The 20th Annual Adams County 4-H/FFA Jr. Livestock Show and Sale was conducted on July 14 the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville.

Thirty-two 4-H and FFA members exhibited a total of 30 market swine, 29 market lambs, and 7 markets goats before Judge Dennis Grumbine of Myerstown.

Britteny Valtin, right, New Oxford FFA, exhibited the grand champion market lamb that was purchased by Gary Diemler & Sons Construction, of Harrisburg, represented by Gary Diemler.

Missy Jeffcoat, Littlestown FFA member, exhibited the grand champion market swine, which was purchased by Reicharts' Slaughter Shop, Littlestown, and Welty Backhoe Service, Fairfield for $580. The grand champion market swine trophy was donated by Sensenig's Meats of Littlestown, and a traveling plaque was presented from Reinecker Ag Products, York Springs.

The reserve grand champion market swine, shown by Hunter Hood, 4-H member from Hanover, was purchased by Caroline Roche, of Reisterstown, Md., for $1000. The reserve grand champion market swine trophy was donated by Windsor Electric Co., Inc., Owings Mills, Md.

The grand champion market lamb was exhibited by Britteny Valtin, New Oxford FFA member, and was purchased by Gary Diemler & Sons Construction, of Harrisburg, for $530. The grand champion market lamb trophy was donated by Carlisle Livestock Market, Inc., Carlisle, and a traveling plaque was presented by Adams County FFA.

The reserve grand champion market lamb was shown by Ben Weikert, 4-H member from Gettysburg, and was purchased by Stateline Gas Service, McKnightstown, for $300. The reserve grand champion market lamb trophy was donated by Rick Crouse & Family, Biglerville.

The grand champion market goat was exhibited by Cole Riebling, 4-H member from New Oxford, and was purchased by Shetron Welding & Fab., Inc., Shippensburg, for $240. The grand champion market goat trophy and a traveling plaque were donated by

Consuming Thoughts

Penn State Extension Home Economist for Berks Co.

As families juggle jobs, school, child care, and household duties, many find the day-to-day task of food shopping and preparation a hassle.

A large share of family food budgets is being spent by teenagers, putting them in an unprecedented position of influencing what the family eats.

Whether parent or child is doing the food shopping, making choices among products can be overwhelming. Supermarkets commonly stock between 30,000 and 50,000 items with new products being added all the time. The average size of a newly-built supermarket is almost 44,000 square feet, roughly the size of a football field. Some markets are even larger.

As a parent, you can help your teenager tackle the task of food shopping by talking with him or her about how to use information on product labels and in the store. Unit price stickers help shoppers quickly spot the best buy among various package sizes and brands.

Nutrition and ingredient labels on packages help shoppers choose products that fit specific needs. Many stores are posting nutrition information for products without labels, such as produce or meat.

But knowing how to use available shopping tools are not enough in today's marketplace. A myriad of advertising claims can lead even the most savvy shopper astray. To be a wise consumer see how well you do in answering the following questions.

If the label says "light," is the product low-cal? The word "light" could mean fewer calories, but it could also mean a "light" color, texture or flavor. Only the nutrition label will reveal whether a "light" product has fewer calories than a similar product without a claim.

Are foods labeled "natural" better for you? The word "natural" is often associated with pure, simple, safe, or nutritious. But legally, the term is not defined and can be used by advertisers in many different ways. The exception is poultry and meat, which to be labeled "natural" must not contain any artificial ingredient or chemical preservative and must be either fresh or minimally processed. To make sure a "natural" product is what you expect, read the nutrition and ingredient information.

Is a vegetable oil carrying a "no cholesterol" claim healthier than one without the claim? Cholesterol is found only in products of animal origin. No food products derived from plants contain cholesterol, so there is no cholesterol in any vegetable oil.

Is a product sweetened with honey healthier than one with sugar? Your body can't tell the difference between honey and sugar. Once they are digested, they are chemically identical. Although honey is no more nutritious than sugar, some people may prefer the taste of honey.

If you answered these questions correctly, consider yourself a smart shopper.

Free Ice Cream Sundae

HARFORD, Md. — Do you have an ice cream sundae of your dreams? Maybe, vanilla ice cream with peanuts, strawberries, chocolate syrup, crushed cookies and topped with real whipped cream, and a cherry?

Make your dream come true at the Harford Fair on Thursday, August 21 at 3 p.m in the dairy barn arena. Free sundaes will be served by Susquehanna County Dairy Princess Shana Mack and dairy ambassadors and dairy maids.

Last year more than 600 people were served free ice cream sundaes while visiting the Harford Fair.

Good Food, Good Times In Louisville Angus Beef Cook-Off Is Success

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Creative costumes and first-rate food were found at the 20th annual All-American Certified Angus Beef (CAB) Cook-off sponsored by the American Angus Auxiliary. The event was conducted July 15 at the 2003 National Junior Angus Show, in Louisville, Ky. More than 40 teams competed in this year's event.

Here are some of the winning recipes.

Steak Sandwiches
With Chive Butter

For the Steaks:
- 4 beef tenderloin steaks, about 6 ounces each, salt and freshly ground peper to taste
- 1-1½ cups watercress sprigs, tough stems removed
- 4 slices of white bread, firm-textured

For the chive butter:
- ¼ cup unsalted butter, at room temperature
- 2 tablespoons fresh chives, chopped or 2 teaspoons dried chives
- 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper

To prepare the chive butter, in a small bowl, combine the butter, chives, lemon juice, salt, and pepper. Using a fork, beat vigorously until blended. Transfer to a sheet of plastic wrap and shape into a log about 2-inches long and 1-inch in diameter. Wrap in the plastic wrap and chill until firm.

Prepare fire in grill.

To prepare the steaks, sprinkle them lightly with salt and pepper, and place them on the grill rack. Grill, turning every 2 minutes, for about 8 minutes total for rare, 10 minutes for medium, or until done to your liking. About 4 minutes before the steaks are done, arrange the bread slices on the rack and grill, turning once, until lightly browned.

Transfer the bread to individual plates. Place a small handful of watercress on each bread slice, and place a steak on the watercress. Cut the chive butter into 4 equal slices and place a slice on each steak. Serve at once.

Out-Of-This World
Stuffed Tenderloin

- 4 pounds of beef tenderloin, trimmed
- 1 medium onion, diced
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- ½ pound fresh spinach, chopped
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- ⅓ cup Parmesan cheese, shredded
- 3 tablespoons dried tomatoes in oil, drained and chopped

Saute onion in hot oil in a large skillet over medium heat until tender. Add spinach, salt, and pepper. Saute until spinach wilts, about 1 minute. Remove from heat and stir in cheese and dried tomatoes.

Cut tenderlion lengthwise down the center, cutting to, but no through the bottom. Lay flat and spoon spinach mixture down the center of tenderlion. Fold tenderlion over mixture and tie with string at 1-inch intervals. The tenderlion won't completely close. Chill for 2 hours. Place cut side up on the grill and cover exposed filling with a strip of foil.

Grill on medium to high heat until the meat thermometer inserted in the thickest portion of the tenderlion reaches 145 degrees. If the roast is taking longer than expected, cut it into thick filets and finish off on the grill. Let the tenderlion set for 10 minutes before slicing.

This can be served with a blue cheesy cream sauce that can be poured over the meat, new potatoes, and sauteed summer squash.

Yields 10 servings, prep time is 25 minutes, and grill time to temperature.

Fearfully Delicious Short Ribs

- 4 pounds short ribs
- BBQ spice rub (see recipe below)
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 4 garlic cloves, minced
- 3 tablespoons onion, finely chopped
- 1 fresh jalapeno chili pepper, finely chopped
- 1 cup honey
- ⅔ cup chicken broth
- ⅓ cup vinegar
- 2 tablespoons apple juice
- 1 tablespoon yellow mustard
- ½ teaspoon black or brown mustard seeds
- ½ teaspoon ground black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- Salt

BBQ spice rub: In a small bowl combine 4 teaspoons paprika, 2 teaspoons chili powder, 1½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground coriander, 1 teaspoon garlic powder, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon ground black pepper, ½ teaspoon crushed dried basil, ½ teaspoon crushed dried thyme, ½ teaspoon ground cumin, and ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Preparation: Trim any fat from ribs: cut ribs into 1, 2, or 3 rib portions. Place ribs in a Dutch oven. Add enough water to cover ribs. Bring to a boil, reduce heat. Simmer, covered about 1½ hours or until tender. Drain ribs; let stand until cool enough to handle (about 20 minutes). Pat dry with paper towels. Sprinkle BBQ spice rub evenly over both sides of ribs; rub in with your fingers.

Sauce: In a medium saucepan heat oil over medium-high heat. Add the garlic, onion, and jalapeno peppers; cook for 2-3 minutes or until tender. Stir in honey, broth, vinegar, apple juice, yellow mustard, dry mustard, mustard seeds, black pepper, and cayenne pepper. Bring to a boil; reduce heat to low. Simmer, covered, for 10 mintues. Stir together cornstarch and cold water; add to mustard mixture in saucepan. Cook and stir until slightly thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Season to taste with salt. Remove from heat.

Place ribs, bone side down, on a lightly greased rack of the grill directly over medium coals. Brush some of the sauce over ribs; grill for 15-20 minutes or until ribs are heated through and glazed with sauce.

To serve, reheat remaining sauce until bubbly; serve with ribs. Makes 4-6 servings.

American Idol Fajitadillas

- 4 8-ounce Quick-N-Easy™ Top Sirloin steaks
- 4 ounces shredded Monterey Jack (or favorite cheese)
- 2 10-12-inch flour tortillas
- 1 tablespoon olive oil or melted butter
- Salsa
- Sour cream
- Guacamole
- Fajita seasoning

Over medium heat on a grill heat top sirloin steak until warmed through, approximately 4-5 minutes on each side. Remove from heat and slice in thin strips across the grain. Season with fajita seasoning. Brush oil (or butter) lightly on one side of flour tortilla shell. Place the oil side down while filling the tortilla.

Scatter cheese on tortilla shell. Top with strips of meat (4-8 ounces). Leave a half-inch border from the edge of the shell. Top with more shredded cheese. Top with a tortilla. Brush top of tortilla lightly with oil (or butter).

Place on grill on medium heat. Leave on 4 minutes or until edges of tortilla begin to char and grill marks appear on the bottom of tortilla. Turn the tortilla over and grill the same way. Cut into 6-8 wedges. Serve with sour cream and guacamole. Makes 1 fajitadilla.

Steak And Salad Roll-Ups

- Quick-N-Easy™ Prime Rib slices, thinly sliced
- 1 bottle Greek salad dressing
- Romaine lettuce
- black olives, sliced
- Feta cheese
- Red onion, thinly sliced
- Tomatoes, chopped
- Flour tortillas

Heat prime rib according to package directions. Remove from package and thinly slice prime rib. Drizzle ¼ cup (or to taste) Greek salad dressing over prime rib — set aside.

In a medium bowl, mix together 4 medium-sized handfuls of romaine lettuce, sliced black olives, feta cheese, thinly sliced red onion and chopped tomatoes. Pour bottle Greek salad dressing over salad (to taste). Toss.

To assemble: Divide salad equally among 4 flour tortillas. Divide prime rib slices into four equal portions and lay on top of salad.

Fold right and left sides of tortillas over filling; fold bottom edge over and continue to roll up tightly. Cut rolls in half diagonally; secure with wood toothpicks if necessary. Cut diagonally in the center of the roll.

Talgate'n Steak

- 4 (12-ounce) Quick-N-Easy™ Top Sirlionn steaks
- 1 medium sized red bell pepper

Peach salsa:
- ½ cup peach preserves
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon lemon peel, freshly grated
- 1 large garlic clove, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon fresh ginger, grated
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Warm or just sear steaks for medium doneness — warm to the touch. Top with red bell pepper ring and garnish with peach salsa.

Clampett's Stew

- Quick-N-Easy™ Pot Roast
- 1 package frozen stew vegetables
- 1 can beefy mushroom soup
- 1 can French onion soup
- Pepper to taste

Cook pot roast per package directions. Steam vegetables according to package directions. Cut pot roast into 1 to 1½-inch pieces. Combine soups together. Drain vegetables and add to soup mixture. Pepper to taste. Heat through and serve.

Beef 'N' Cheese Wraps

- 4 flour tortillas
- 1 carton (8-ounce) onion and chive cream cheese spread
- 1 cup carrots, shredded
- 1 cup (4-ounce) Monterey Jack cheese, shredded
- 1 pound roast beef, thinly sliced
- Leaf lettuce, shredded

Spread cream cheese on a side of each tortilla; top with carrots and Monterey Jack cheese. Layer with beef and lettuce. Roll up tightly and wrap in plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 30 minutes. Cut in half or into 1-inch slices. Makes 4 servings.

Deli Beef Strata

- 2 pounds deli roast beef, thinly sliced
- 1 pound baby Swiss cheese, thinly sliced
- 2 packages refrigerated crescent rolls
- ⅓ cup mayonnaise (not salad dressing)
- ¼ cup ground horseradish
- 1 large green bell pepper, sliced thin
- 1 medium sweet onion, sliced thin (Vidalia or red works well)
- 2 tablespoons butter

Melt butter in small skillet. Add green pepper and onion and saute until tender, about 5 minutes. Lightly season with salt and pepper. Meanwhile spray a 9x13-inch pan with cooking spray. Unroll 1 package of crescent rolls, leaving in rectangles, and press in bottom of pan to form a crust. Mix mayonnaise and horseradish and spread half over crescent rolls in pan.

Layer half of the beef slices, half of the cheese slices, all of the onions and peppers, half the cheese slices and half the beef slices over the bottom crust. Spread remaining mayonnaise and horseradish mixture over top layer of beef. Unroll the other package of crescent rolls, leaving in rectangles and press over top layer of beef to form top crust.

Bake in oven at 400 degrees for 20 minutes, or until crust is golden brown. Let it cool for a few minutes before cutting into squares. Makes 12 servings. This is good with a fresh vegetable or green salad and fruit for a quick, easy meal. The strata can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated; bake immediately before serving.

Roast Beef, Veggie Wraps

- 2 cups coleslaw or broccoli slaw mix, shredded
- ¼ cup and 2 tablespoons ranch dressing
- 4 large flour tortillas
- 1 container (8-ounce) whipped cream cheese
- 16 slices thin deli roast beef (12-16 ounce)

Im medium bowl toss slaw mix with ¼ cup ranch dressing to coat evenly. In small bowl, stir cream cheese with 2 tablespoons ranch dressing to mix well. On one side of each tortilla, spread about ¼ cup cream cheese mixture; top with 4 slices roast beef, and then about ⅓ cup slaw mixture. Roll tightly and wrap with plastic wrap. Refrigerate until serving. To serve, cut in half diagonally or into 1½-inch slices. Makes 4 servings.

Blues Brothers Dip

- 1 16-ounce can sauerkraut, drained
- 1 pound Swiss cheese, cubed
- 3 8-ounce packages corned beef, chopped
- ½ cup Thousand Island dressing

Combine all ingredients in crockpot and heat on medium setting 10-15 minutes until cheese melts. Serve on squares of hearty rye bread.

Grow Tomatoes Not Mosquitoes

(NAPS) — Areas in and around a garden can be ideal breeding grounds for mosquitoes. Aside from being a seasonal nuisance, mosquitoes may carry and transmit numerous diseases, such as West Nile virus. With over 4,000 cases of West Nile virus reported by the Centers for Disease Control in 2002, it's becoming increasingly important to protect against mosquitoes and their bites.

Rebecca Kolls, Master Gardener and host of the television program "Rebecca's Garden," offers some advice for reducing mosquitoes around the garden and preventing mosquito bites.

One way to help avoid mosquito bites is to limit outdoor activity at dusk and dawn, when mosquito activity is highest, said Kolls. However, as most gardeners know, these are the best times to work in the garden. Therefore, when you're outdoors, remember to protect yourself:

- Use a DEET-based insect repellent such as Ultrathon insect repellent from 3M. Originally developed to protect U.S. troops, Ultrathon insect repellent lotion was rated the number one insect repellent by a leading consumer magazine.
- Wear long-sleeved shirts, long pants, socks and a hat to minimize the areas of exposed skin.
- Consider replacing your outdoor floodlights with yellow bug lights.

The general rule of thumb is that if it can hold water, it can breed mosquitoes, said Kolls. Since gardening and water go hand-in-hand, gardeners should be on the lookout for the following:

- Be sure to empty excess water from the saucers underneath outdoor plants every couple of days.
- If left outside, gardening tools, watering cans, buckets, and wheelbarrows become ideal collectors of rainwater. Therefore, bring these materials indoors after use, or turn them upside-down outside when not in use.
- Cover rain barrels with a fine mesh, such as window screening, to keep mosquitoes out.
- Holes in the garden hose and dripping outdoor faucets should be mended to prevent puddles of water from forming.
- Empty and replace the water in birdbaths every two to four days.
- Water gardens and ornamental ponds are natural places for mosquitoes to lay eggs. If you don't have fish in these ponds, consider adding them. If adding fish is not an option, change the water in the pond at least once a week, particularly when the weather is warm. Finally, keep ground cover, overhanging plants and other surrounding vegetation trimmed and away from the water surface.

You ask you answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it. However, if your question requires someone to mail items to you, you must include your address or phone number for publishing.

QUESTION — In Williamsville, New York, outside of Buffalo, there is a former gas station/minimart of which Polly E. Mathys, Spring City, Pa. is part owner. She writes: "We are selling the ground, and the building will in all likelihood be torn down. In this building are store-type items such as display shelves, a walk-in cooler with five glass door fronts, and five 6-foot-long chest coolers (you know the kind you reach into in the store to get your Popsicle or whatnot). The buyer of the ground doesn't want them and neither do we. But rather than get a certified refrigerant remover to come in and then trash all this equipment, we're looking for a food bank, a farm, a produce stand, or whoever to come to Williamsville and claim these items. None of this stuff is new, but to our knowledge, it all worked the last time the electricity was on." Call Polly at (610) 495-6185 for more information.

QUESTION — L. T. Burke, Southampton, wants to know where to buy outdoor iron furniture from the 1960s-1970s that is in new or very good condition. He wants straight and rocking chairs.

QUESTION — Naomi King, Lititz, wants to know where to purchase replacement thermos lids with attached spouts to drink from. They are the 2-quart Rubbermaid jugs with screw-on lids.

QUESTION — Amy Marple, Mullica Hill, N.J., wants to know where to purchase Pride of Wisconsin cantaloupe seed. Her father grew them in the 1950s. The cantaloupe were of great size and excellent flavor, she writes.

QUESTION — Bruce Nattiess, Fleetwood, wants to know if anyone knows of a source to buy replacement tips for the cone on a Woodbuster PTO driven log splitter. Or, perhaps a reader has an extra one to sell. Call (610) 944-9162.

QUESTION — Betty Jakum, Littlestown, wants to know where to purchase a gasoline-powered rotary lawn mower that cuts 18 inches or less to use for trimming.

QUESTION — Mary Sasscer, Maryland, is looking for a Dick and Jane reader that dates back to about 1943-1944. The book contained a story about a neighbor who was restoring an old rocking horse, which was white with dapple spots on the rump and the platform was red. Mary has a rocking horse like the one in the story and has always remembered the story. Hers had leather ears, real horse hair mane and tail, a saddle, bridle, and reins. She would like to have the book to keep with her rocking horse. The rocking horse is well over 100 years of age and belonged to her father. Any information on the Dick and Jane reader would be appreciated. Call her at (301) 627-5178.

QUESTION — Dick Herring wants to know where to find railroad ties.

QUESTION — Jennifer is trying to locate an article that she believes appeared in one of our June issues about a father and son team from the Allentown/Lehigh area who specialize in painting old farmhouses. Anyone know to whom she is referring?

QUESTION — Diane Gray, 70 Damascus Rd., Blandon, PA 19510, wants information and bottles from the former Lebanon or Lebanon Valley Dairy.

QUESTION — W. Spence Haines, Lansdale, has several push, old-style reel mowers, which she heard may have some value. She asks how she can find out the worth of the mowers.

QUESTION — Jean W., Newmanstown, wants to buy the book, "It Happened in the Hills of Kentucky," by John Vogel, copyrighted 1952. Call (717) 949-2846.

QUESTION — C. Faus, Hegins, wants to know how to store raw vegetables such as carrots, squash, kohlrabi, and more to store for winter use.

QUESTION — Nicolette Wagman, Seven Valleys, is doing research for a book about musical instruments and makers in York County. She wants information and photographs of instruments and their makers from any era. Call her at (717) 428-1856.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerner, Wysox, writes that some time ago she had clipped an answer in this column from Joyce Raubenstine who told how to make creams from aloe vera. The instructions were unclear, and she asks if someone can tell her the exact amount of aloe vera to use. The directions she has are as follows: To prepare a herb ointment or salve, crush the leaves of the aloe vera and mix with four parts melted fat (lard or shortening) and one part dry white wine. Heat gently for 20 minutes. Cool slightly and strain.

Shirley writes that her husband's chronic back problem was aggravated during haymaking. She rubbed aloe vera leaves on his back, and it helped instantly. He was amazed. It was a sloppy procedure, so they'd like to make the salve if possible.

Shirley adds a bit of humor by writing that she can't boil water without a 3x5 card, "so you can see my problem with the aloe vera (instructions)."

QUESTION — Kenneth Wirtz, White Hall, Md., is having trouble finding replacement parts for his electric three-point hitch that is on a 10HP Sears garden tractor purchased in 1977. The parts are no longer available through Sears. The item is Model number 917.253130 electric 3-point hitch. Wirtz would appreciate hearing from someone who no longer uses the part. He doesn't need the complete hitch, just the power assist lift. He is willing to pay a fair price for the item. Call him at (410) 329-2175.

QUESTION — Sharon Heller writes that they have 75 acres in Perry County. About half of the acreage is mowed by a neighbor who sells the ⅓ ton mixed hay rolls for his own profit. She wants to know how to find an average rental for the acreage. What is the best way to advertise the available acreage?

QUESTION — Cindy Eshleman, R.3, Box 7957, Jonestown, PA 17038, wants to know what day of the week the Selingsgrove Horse Sale is conducted. Also, she asks, if a sequel was written to "Gone With the Wind" and "Scarlett"? If so, what is the title of the book? Eshleman also wants the May 2003 issue of "Paper Horse." She is willing to pay postage.

QUESTION — Mike White, Bernville, writes that the last few years, he has a problem with black birds (grackels) after he plants field corn. When the corn first comes up until it is two to three weeks old, the birds either pull out the small plants or tear them off. This year, he had to replant a three-acre field because of the destruction the birds caused. No one else in the area seems to have a problem, but White has witnessed the birds digging and pulling out the corn. It seems the area is hardest hit on the hills where the morning sun first shines. He has tried scarecrows, which only works in a 20-feet area around the scarecrow. Any help or suggestions will be appreciated.

QUESTION — Marie Hixson, Crystal Spring, wants to know how to grow wild rice. They live on a farm with some wet areas that she believes would be suitable for growing rice. Anyone know where she can find information?

QUESTION — Warren Glidewell, Bloomsburg, wants to know where to find Flemish giant rabbits in a fawn color.

QUESTION — C. Gutshall, Carlisle, is looking for proper cleaning instructions for printed cotton seed sacks made in the 1940s. She also would like a Web site address that offers information on older cotton and burlap feed sacks.

ANSWER — In response to A.M. Hurst's request for a copy of the Wenger Family history book dates 1727-1959, which has a black cover, Anna Martin, Denver, writes that she contacted the Mennonite Historical Society. Copies of that book are no longer for sale. However, the Wenger Family History book was brought up to date in 1978. It sells for $49.50 plus shipping and handling. The price includes a free index, which used to sell for $35 separately. Contact the Mennonite Historical Society at (717) 393-9745.

ANSWER — Mrs. Ivan Rissler, Mohnton, writes that her family had the same problem with itchiness after swimming in a farm pond. They searched for a solution for years. She agrees with the reader whose response was in last week's issue. She writes the most common parasite problem in ponds is swimmer's itch, which is caused by a small, free-swimming parasite that burrows under the skin where it dies and causes itching for about a week. A brisk rubdown with a towel immediately after the swimmer emerges from the water minimizes the irritation caused by the parasite. The most practical way to control the parasite is to control the snails that serve as intermediate hosts, by draining the pond and letting it dry for several months. Stocking of redear sunfish may be effective since they are natual predators of snails. The Risslers purchased swans to help control that algae in the hope that less algae is less homes for snails. No chemicals are registered for controlling snails. Rissler's information is from the Penn State publication "Management of Fish Ponds In Pa." It is available at local county extension offices or call University Park (814) 865-6713.

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — The "I Am Your Child Campaign" is a national public awareness effort devoted to making early childhood development a top priority in the U.S. It was created by the Reiner Foundation and works with many other child-centered agencies and organizations, such as the American Academy of Pediatrics and the Coalition for America's Children.

The I Am Your Child (IAYC) video series addresses critical early childhood and school readiness issues, including early bonding and attachment, quality child care, early literacy, discipline, health and nutrition, and child safety.Video topics include:

• The First Years Last Forever Hosted by Rob Reiner, this introductory video provides information on the inportance of bonding, communication, health, nutrition, child care, and other issues discussed in the video series.

• Ready to Learn — Hosted by LeVar Burton and Jamie Lee Curtis, lead a discussion on the importance of early literacy and show parents and caregivers how to help young children develop language skills through everyday activities like talking, singing, and playing.

• Quality Child Care — Hosted by Maria Shiver, this video focuses on the importance of finding quality child care. It shows what to look for when choosing a care provider, whether at a child care center or in a private home.

• Safe from the Start — Gloria Estefan shows parents and caregivers how to keep children safe from accidental injuries.

• Your Healthy Baby — Children's health and nutrition is the focus of this video, hosted by Phylicia Rashad. Your Healthy Baby discusses children's changing health needs as they grow and provides useful information on prenatal care, breastfeeding, visiting the pediatrician, children's nutritional needs, and exercise.

• Discipline — Renowned child development experts Dr. Berry Brazelton explains why children actually look for behavioral limits. The video shows that a firm but gentle approach is best and demonstrates useful techniques to promote discipline.Copies of these videos can be obtained, free of charge, by picking them up at county Cooperative Extension offices.

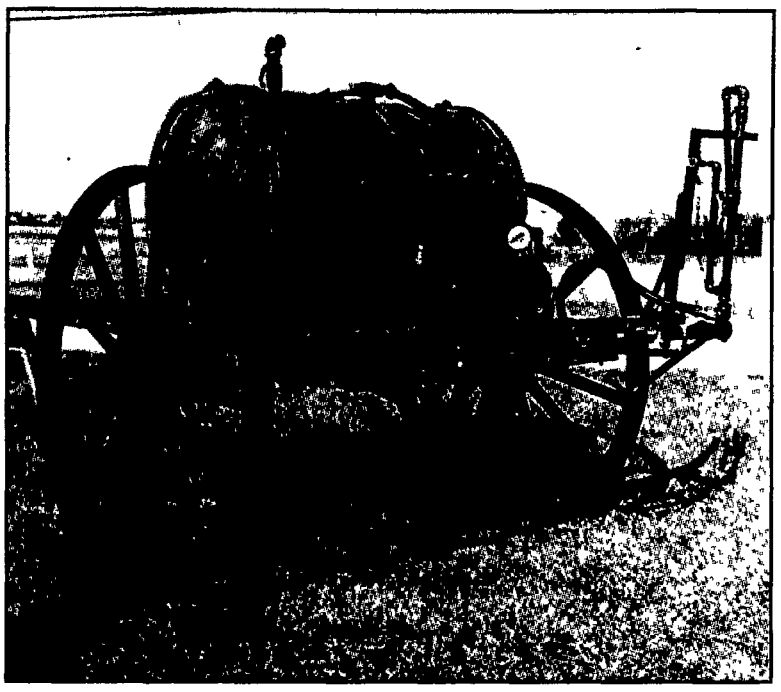
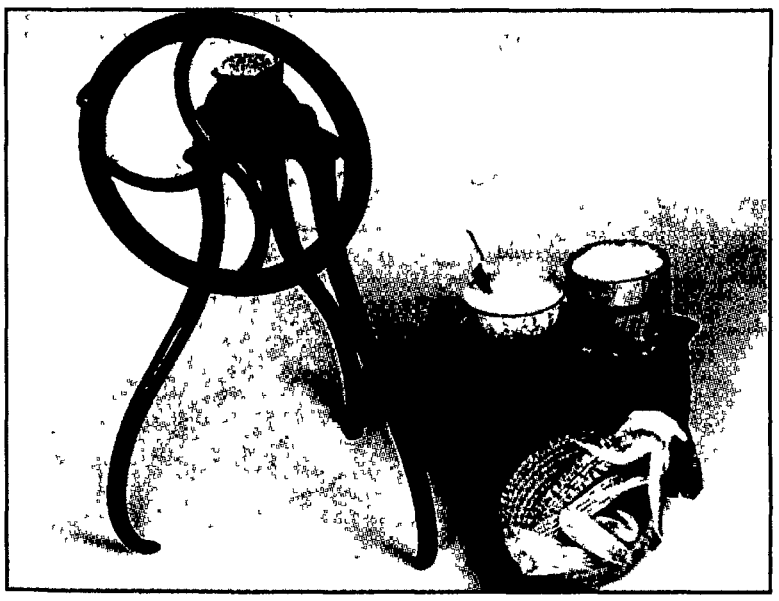
Museum Showcases Agricultural History

Free Admission To Special Museum Exhibit During Ag Progress Days Aug.19-21



Horse-drawn "Yellow Jacket" potato sprayer after disassembly, cleaning, and oiling. Painted emblems on each end of tank: "Field Force Pump Co. The Leader 'Ospramo' Line of Sprayers Elmira, NY." Nine brass spray nozzles each have a patent date of Dec. 14, 1911. Wooden wheels are 50 inches in diameter.



Cast iron cornmill is adjustable, for grinding corn into flour, meal, or chick feed. Made by F. Wilson, Easton. Pat. US Aug. 30, 1881, Canada, Aug 26, 1882. The mechanical usefulness of this hand-operated mill ended by the 1930s. However, its beautiful design has given it enduring value. The mill was donated to the Pasto Ag Museum in 1993 by Philip Mitchell.

The Galloway Pat'D Spreader after complete disassembly, cleaning, and oiling is pulled by two large horses, the box is removable so the heavy duty running gear can be used for other purposes. Cast iron drive gears 30-inch diameter are clamped to the inside of each rear wheel. Front end gate is removable with original stenciling. "Detachable Power Feed."Purchased new in 1920, it was last used in the early 1940s and stored under cover when "the boys went to war (WWII)."

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — History on display takes viewers back in time during Penn State's Pasto Agricultural Museum's 25th anniversary.

During Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21, the museum will feature a special exhibit titled "Twenty-Five Years and Growing." Twenty-nine photographs and accompanying text will illustrate the growth of the museum's collection to more than 900 items since 1978.

The idea to gather and preserve pieces of agricultural history began in 1974 with the College of Agricultural Sciences Alumni Society, according to the museum's volunteer curator, Darwin Braund. With $1,500 and a few display cases in the Agricultural Administration Building, the Pasto Agricultural Museum was born.

In May 1978, the Ag Alumni Society decided to move forward with a building project, and a year later the building at Rockspring was dedicated. It was officially opened to the public on Aug. 22, 1979 during Ag Progress Days.

Starting with an initial collection of about 150 items, the total collection of more than 900 items far exceeds available exhibit space in the museum.

"In honor of our 25th anniversary, many larger items, including several horse-drawn vehicles, will be moved from storage and displayed in an adjacent tent," said Braund. "Less than two-thirds of the collection can be exhibited in the museum at any given time."

In 1980, the museum was named for its first curator, Dr. Jerome K. Pasto, associate dean emeritus of the college and professor emeritus of agricultural economics. In 1998, Darwin Braund, professor emeritus of animal science at North Carolina State University and 1956 Penn State alumnus, took over as curator.

The Pasto Agricultural Museum serves between 8,000 and 10,000 visitors per year. Visitors during the 2003 Ag Progress Days who sign the guest book will receive a special bookmark.

Tours can be scheduled from April 15 through Oct. 15 by calling (814) 863-1383, by sending an e-mail to pastoagmuseum@psu.edu, or by registering on the Web at http://pasto.cas.psu.edu.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days is conducted at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rockspring, nine miles southwest of State College on Rt. 45. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Aug. 19; 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Aug. 20; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Aug. 21. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free now through Aug. 21 or visit the Ag Progress Days Website at http://apd.cas.psu.edu.

Made by Schaeffer, Merkle, and Company this one-horse tread power "The Buckwalter Champion" thresher is on display at the Pasto Agricultural Museum.

Schaeffer, Merkle, and Company's "The King" thresher is showcased in Pasto Agricultural Museum.

Lithophanes Coming To Light At Auction

There has always been something magical about lithophanes. For one thing you may have one and not even know it.

Unfortunately many people have discarded lithophanes simply because they never held them up to the light. Mostly forgotten, until recently, when a few examples came to auction, collectors are now showing interest. At the James Julia spring lamp and glass auction a variety showed up and did well. Among them a lamp with a five-panel lithophane shade that fetched $977.50, and a lithophane panel in a holder that sold for $146.

Most collectors were initially introduced to lithophanes when they held a Japanese porcelain cup or saucer to the light, often accidently. Presto! Like magic an image of a Geisha girl or an erotic figure appeared. These 20th century examples are a far cry from the quality and diversity of subjects made in the 19th century. The same could be said for the German regimental steins, popular with collectors. Held to the light, the image of a soldier and other military subjects appeared.

So what is a lithophane and how does it magically show up against the light? To make a lithophane, first a wax positive of a subject was carved.

Next a plaster of Paris mold is made of the wax positive and porcelain paste poured into the mold. The lithophane is fired first at a high temperature. If color is to be used, it is fired again at a lower temperature. If the carver sharpens the details several times up to 30 molds can be made from a single wax.

The first lithophanes were

Pennsylvania German Folklife Festival Celebrates Harvest

SCHAEFFERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — The Schaeffer Farm comes alive with the fruits of the harvest for a two-day Pennsylvania German Folklife Festival, Sept. 13-14 from 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Enjoy 18th and 19th century crafts, cooking, baking, and apple butter making, cider pressing, rock crushing, saw milling, pie judging, live musical entertainment, free tours of the Schaeffer House and much more. All this is included in the $5 per person admission fee. Children under 11 with an accompanying adult are free. Discounted two-day admission passes available. For more information call (717) 949-2244.

The Festival is part of Historic Schaefferstown, Incorporated (HSI), a nonprofit educational organization whose mission is to collect, preserve, study, and disseminate of the history and folk culture of the Pennsylvania Germans in South Central Pennsylvania, with particular focus on Schaefferstown.

The Schaeffer Farm is located at 213 S. Carpenter Street (Route 501) just south of Schaefferstown's Main Street stoplight.

Antique Detective

made in Paris from a process invented by the Baron de Bourgoing in 1827. It was thereafter licensed to potters in England and Germany. None were known to have been made in America.

They were so popular that they were made in about 25 factories in the 19th century. Not only England and Germany but France, Denmark, Portugal, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia made them. By the 1860s they were at the height of their popularity.

Though they were not made in America, popular American subjects were used.

Portraits of famous Americans and American themes, such as Niagara Falls and the Capitol, were exported to America. European subjects depicted generals and royalty as well as copies of famous paintings. Among them, Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper."

It was the Worcester Grainger factory in England that made the earliest lithophane panels for window decorations, night lights, and lampshades. These are among the scarcest.

They became popular as paneled lampshades, first with kerosene then early 20th century electric lamps. Five or more panels were used, each carrying out a central subject.

During their heyday lithophanes were used to decorate many objects. There is even a nut cup with the likeness of Admiral George Dewey made around 1899. A lithophane of his likeness is on the bottom. Candle holders, water fonts, and pitchers also used lithophanes.

CLUES: No individual lithophane artists are known. Pieces only have the manufacturer's name. Reproductions are being made from old molds, and have been since the 1950s.

They are much thicker and lack the delicacy of early molds. Test by holding to a 25 watt bulb, as used with early examples. If it doesn't clearly show the image, use a 75 watt bulb. The new lithophane panels are made to fit into old lamps and plaque holders.

The popular old German Regimental steins, were presented by Germany from 1890-1915 to members of their armed services, with lithophanes of soldiers and military subjects, have long been reproduced. So have the Japanese Satsuma tea sets.

Many American companies are making new lithophanes. Check the Internet.

Patches and Patterns From Other Days

CHICAGO, Ill. — How can I find out more about antique quilts and their value, and how to recognize their various patterns?

Sandra O'Brien, Jewett, TX

Aside from keeping folks warm, the charm of old quilts have captured the hearts of collectors who are wrapped up in their history, and the unforgettable stories they tell relating to their past, purpose, and patterns.

Among the most sought after patterned examples are house quilts designed with a house, school, church, or some other structure as a motif. Other quilt motifs included baskets of triangular posies, pinwheel designs, stars, stripes, squares, cubes, triangles and circles. An unusual design on a quilt is a Calico Cup and Saucer pattern. Another charming pattern is Thousand Pyramids, and still another, is the Double Monkey Wrench.

Yet among the most sought quilts were those made by the Amish. Especially desirable are Amish crib and doll-size quilts that often command sizable sums. One is a lovely, hand woven, plum and pewter color crib quilt designed with faceless Amish dolls made to stand out in relief.

Old quilts were made from all types of cloth ranging from calico to chintz to gingham to muslin and other material. "Crazy quilts" had hit and miss patterns fashioned from irregular-sized pieces of silk, velvet, brocade, moir and heavy ribbon stitched together (often in a feather stitch design).

Some crazy quilts were quite elaborate with fancy stitching, names, initials, dates, and sometimes even figures or faces of famous persons. One I saw was embellished with the figure of John L. Sullivan.

Others were stitched to commemorate the 1876 Centennial designed with American flags, eagles, shields, stars, and other patriotic motifs. Presidential quilts also were made, such as one charming example stitched with the portraits of America's first 26 presidents, as well as the American flag, U.S. Capitol, and the American eagle with shield.

Still others were stitched to represent fairs such as the Century of Progress and the 1893 World's Fair.

Some quilts were family records, designed with stitched and patched motifs made to represent family lifestyles. Then, too, there were friendship quilts as well as album quilts with signed and stitched names and dates.

Some quilts passed from generation to generation, were made from scraps of cloth, or "snibbles" as they were sometimes called, kept in scrap or "piece-patch" bags. Often the "snibbles" were made from wedding dresses, favorite frocks, shirts and other pieces of clothing that were especially treasured.

Painted Floorcloths Workshop

SCHAEFFERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Make a traditional painted floorcloth with noted folk artist, Tish Bachleda on Saturday, Oct. 18, from 1 p.m.-4 p.m. at the Brendle Museum in Schaefferstown. Painted floorcloths were used in colonial homes as a decorative way to protect their floors.

All the supplies needed to complete a 2x3-foot floorcloth are included in the $40 per person fee. Workshop participants will leave with a partially finished floorcloth that will need to be stained and varnished at home.

Advance registration and payment are required by Oct. 1. To register, send participant's name, mailing address, phone number, and workshop fee to Historic Schaefferstown, Inc., P.O. Box 307, Schaefferstown, PA 17088.

For more information, call (717) 949-2244.

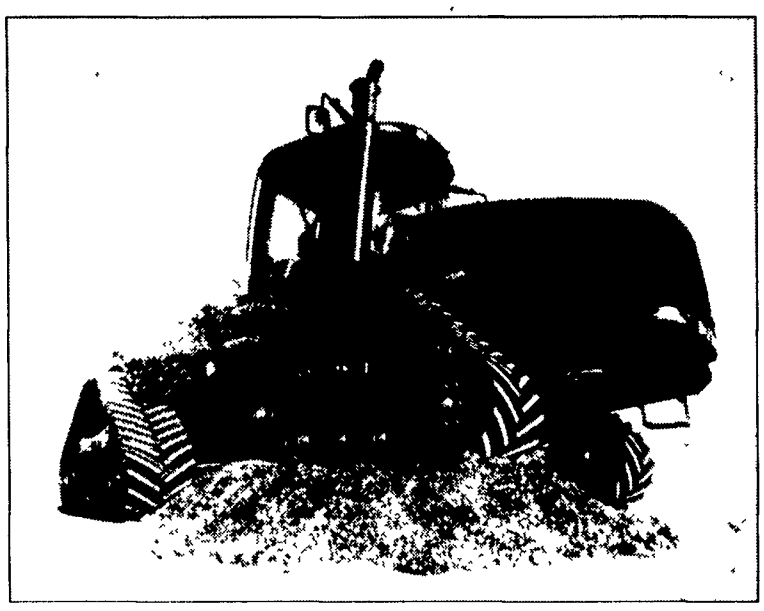
❖ BUSINESS NEWS ❖



The Case IH STX500 Steiger Quadtrac tractor provides a smooth ride for the operator and implement. Farmers can look forward to a comfortable ride — even when angling across rows to driving through ruts.

New 500 HP Tractor Expands Case IH Steiger Line

RACINE, Wis. — When it comes to horsepower, no one in the industry tops the new Case IH STX500 Steiger tractor. Its 500 horsepower engine can pull the heaviest loads in the harshest conditions. The new tractor, available in wheeled and Quatrac versions for agricultural applications, expands the STX Series line to 10 models.

"Farmers are demanding more load-lugging ability, so we returned to the basics and increased the engine muscle," said Drew Fletcher, Case IH product specialist for high horsepower tractors. "The new STX500 builds on the Steiger tradition of industry-leading power, track design and comfort."

The upgraded STX500 tractor features a new turbulated tube radiator to increase enging cooling capacity. A lengthened air filter delivers the extra air needed for the increased power levels while maintaining long filter life.

Because of their superior design, STX Series Steiger tractors effectively direct power to where farmers need it the most — on the ground. The extended wheelbase and position of the center-pull drawbar efficiently transfer enging horsepower into pulling power.

"Horsepower is useless for towing, seeding or tilling unless the tractor directs that power to the pulling point," Fletcher said. "Like the rest of the STX line, the STX500 is configured to best utilize the available horsepower."

In addition to a superior design, the STX500 provides up to 39 percent torque rise and up to 50 horsepower growth in tough spots. Pulling full loads through low spots, on hillsides and in wet conditions without downshifting is not a problem.

"An engine with that amount of backup power can conquer just about anything a farmer wants to tackle," Fletcher said.

Dick Witter far left and the Taurus staff present a framed farm scene picture to Herb Steele to say thank you for his years of service.

Celebrating 50 Years In A.I., Herb Steele Honored By Taurus, Inc.

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — With more than 175 people in attendance at the Carriage Inn in Tunkhannock, Wyoming County, Herb Steele was congratulated for his commitment and service to the Artificial Insemination industry for the past 50 years by Taurus Service, Inc.

"For more than a half century, you have helped to build successful dairy farms while earning the admiration of many people," said U.S. Congressman Don Sherwood (R-10) in recognition of Steele. "While using your expertise to help establish successful breeding services and distributorships, you have also enabled countless families in our region to continue to stay in farming."

Sherwood presented Steele with a letter of accommodation for reaching this golden milestone.

Eileen Spencer, representing Rep. Sandra Major (R-111), presented Steele with a accommodation from the House of Representatives, stating "The House of Representatives congratulates Herb Steele on his richly deserved recognition and proudly notes his exemplary record of service."

Many of Steele's friends and family members were on hand to share their memories and stories and recognize his accomplishments.

Steele of Lemon, Wyoming County, began his AI career in 1953 after completing his AI Breeding training and started to work with the Broome-Tioga ABC, a forerunner to New York ABC and Eastern AI. Other early highlights of Steele's career included the formation of Golden Genes with Woodburn Farm and Pineyhill Farm and importing fresh and frozen semen from top Canadian Holstein bulls.

Herb Steele has been a part of Taurus Service, Inc since its early days, helping the company to find distributorships and becoming a shareholder director in 1973.

Steele played a key role in the company's early years when he processed semen through his independent semen business, Steele's Semen Service, until 1982 when the Taurus bull stud facility was built and he became the company's production manager.

"Herb Steele has been a wonderful partner and one of the greatest assets to Taurus," said Dick Witter, president of Taurus Service, Inc. "Herb is truly one of the most respected person ever in the AI industry and Taurus is extremely proud to have him as a part of the organization. We are recognizing Herb; and look forward to working with Herb for many years to come."

Witter presented Steele and his wife Leola with a framed farm scene print in recognition of his 50 years of work.

Although Steele is semi-retiremered, this active 74 year old, still works three days a week as a sales representative and serves on the board of directors at Taurus. Outside of work, Steele participates in several local dairy activities such as the Wyoming County Fair Dairy Show Committee, Northeast Championship Holstein Show, and Wyoming-Lackawanna Counties Holstein Club. In 2000, Steele was named to the Wyoming-Lackawanna Holstein Hall of Fame.

For Steele, he sums up his work in AI and this honor: "I have been through thick and thin and have traveled a long road, and there is more road yet to travel. I don't deserve it (this award). I just work day to day. It was worth it."

DDS Technologies USA, Inc. Completes Equity Financing

BOCA RATON, Fla. — DDS Technologies USA, Inc. (OTC Bulletin Board: DDSU), announced it has completed a financing for approximately $1.4 million through the private placement of 392,000 units, each unit consisting of one share of restricted common stock and a half warrant. Each whole warrant will entitle the holder to purchase an additional share of common stock for three years at an exercise price of $7.00 per share.

The Shemano Group, a leading San Francisco-based investment banking and institutional broker/dealer firm which serves as DDS' financial adviser and investment banker, facilitated the financing and private placement.

DDS Technologies USA, Inc. holds the rights to a revolutionary processing technology which maximizes the net output of a broad spectrum of agricultural products.

The company's new DDS System utilizes a new longitudinal micrometric separator, along with other technologies, to separate various fractions (proteins, fiber, starch, etc.) and converts processing waste streams into value added products for further processing or resale.

The DDS System is a unique process whereby fragments of organic and inorganic matter are "crushed to collision" through violent accelerations and decelerations causing the dissaggregation of the structure. As part of the process, the matter is separated into the various fractions contained therein.

DDS Technologies USA, Inc. is a development stage company, which holds the exclusive license for the DDS dry dissaggregation system in North America, South America, Central America, the Caribbean (excluding Cuba) and Africa.

CLUTCHES/GEAR REDUCTION ASSEMBLIES

Our Specialty
We stock them, stock the parts, pinions, gears, bearings, seals & gaskets, splined out puts, shafts, housing adaptors/reducers, and pilot bearing holders. With little or no changes, these new clutch/gear reduction assemblies could fit your gas or diesel engine - 50-100hp. Five different gear ratios. A valuable link between your engine and power take-off shaft equipment

CLUTCH / 5.8:1 Planetary Gear Reduction Assemblies

For 8-30 HP

Engines
Fits most — Honda, Robin, Kohler, Kawasaki, others (1–2 cyl.)

- Fits most standard crankshafts – 1", 1⅛", 1⅞"
- Aluminum Castings/Housings
- Ball & roller bearings, hardened gears

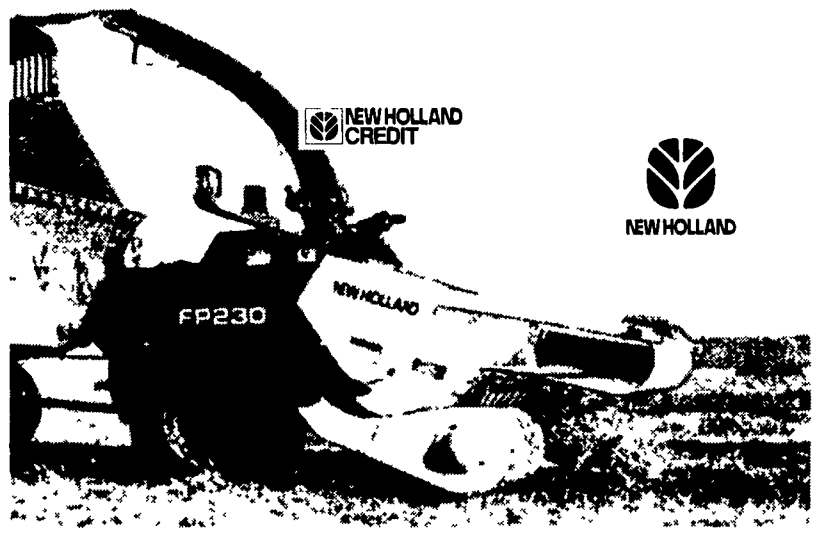
Big capacity. Uniform chop.

Only the FP230 and FP240 forage harvesters from New Holland give you best-in-class and chop quality.

- Rugged 1,000-rpm driveline matches higher-horsepower tractors up to 225 and 300 PTO hp.
- Massive 12-knife cutterhead produces a uniform length of cut from 3/16" to 1-5/8" with four knives.
- Knife sharpening and shearbar adjustment are easy to keep cutting performance at its best.
- Optional on-board Crop-Pro™ crop processor makes feed more digestible and saves the expense and time of using a stationary roller mill.
- Optional Metalert® III electronic metal detector gives you peace of mind.

Stop in and see the FP230 with Crop Processor today.



The fastest 10-foot cut

Choose the New Holland 1411 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner to speed you through your day's work.

- Eight discs make a 10'4" cut through thick, tangled, wet crops–fast.
- Disc modules are sealed in their own oil and connected by independent drive shafts for easy maintenance or repair.
- Chevron-design intermeshing rolls deliver proven plug-free conditioning

Hoober – 4WD Headquarters for over 25 Years. Hoober Technicians are 4WD Experts

Hoober introduced Steiger 4WD tractors to the East in 1975. Since then, Mid-Atlantic Farmers have reaped the benefits of Steiger's increased productivity, and Hoober's knowledge of power to ground mechanics

For over 25 years Hoober technicians have specialized in servicing and supporting 4WD tractors. Hoober technicians know how to make 4WD tractors operate at maximum performance and productivity

WATER — A Challenge To Farming

Get the Most from the Moisture You Have Available

The Case-DMI Ecolo-Til 2500 Breaks through the hardpan, unlike conventional tillage tools.

AND

Increases water absorption and air exchange for better nutrient flow up and down the soil profile and root system.

AND

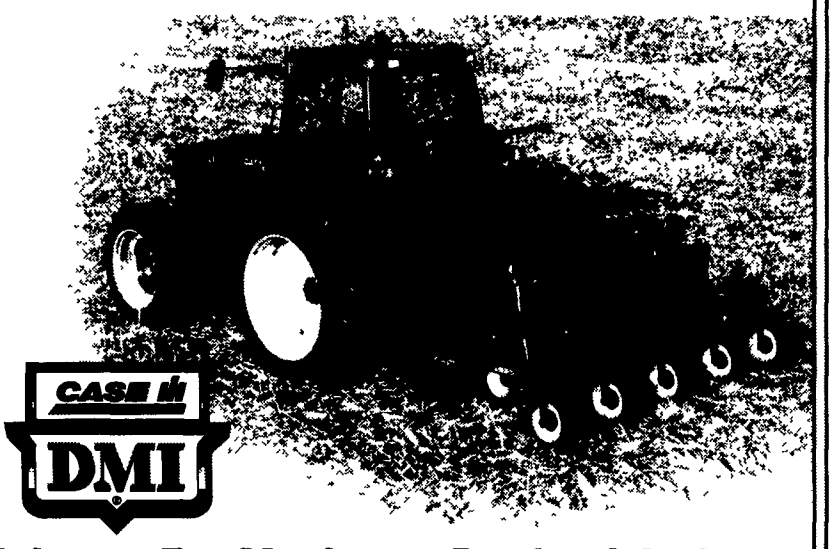
AND

Delivers more uniform crop germination.

AND

Will put more money in your pocket by getting more bushels out of your field.



CASE IH DMI

Are You Managing Your Moisture For Maximum Productivity?

WE WILL BE FEATURING A 5-SHANK CASE-DMI ECOLO-TILL 2500 ON OUR LOT!

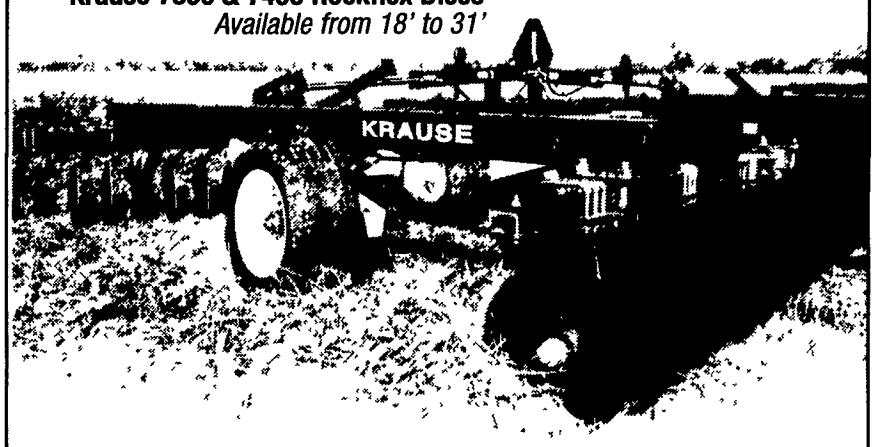
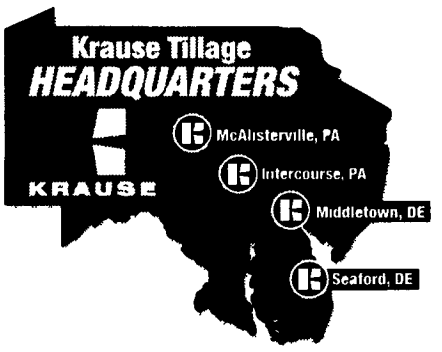
Krause 7300 & 7400 Rockflex Discs
Available from 18' to 31'



Krause engineered the first "Rockflex" disc in 1965. Improvements in materials and design over the past 38 years have produced the best disc for rocks available today. The 7300 and 7400 discs are in a class by themselves when it comes to getting the job done in tough eastern conditions!

- Rugged, Dependable Performance
- Excellent Penetration in Tough Conditions
- Level Job Every Time
- More Timely Planting
- Higher Resale Value When it's Time to Trade



For over 25 years, Hoober has proudly exhibited Krause discs at Ag Progress Days.

NEW LEADER

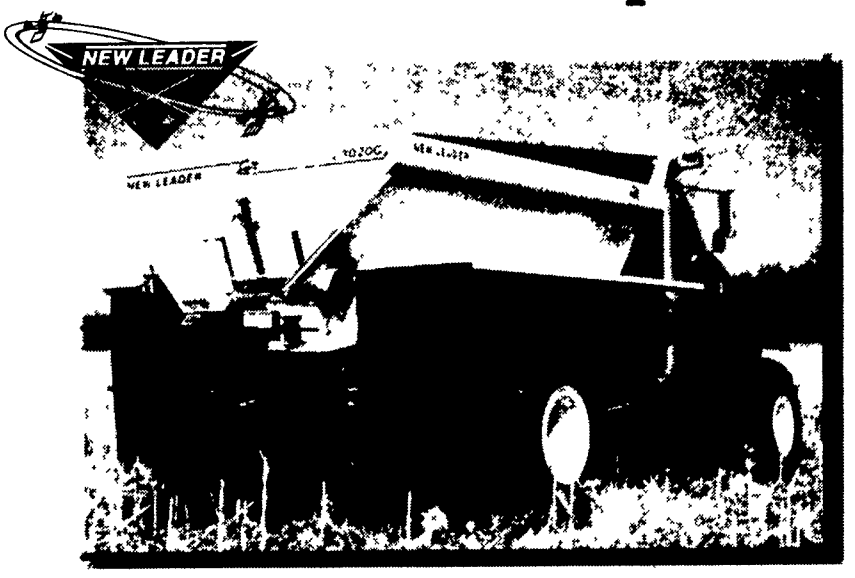
Fertilizer and Lime Spreaders



The New Leader G4 Series Spreader can spread more acres per day-- with a wider range of material application rates--than any other granular applicator currently on the market. The new L3020G4 variable rate broadcaster allows you to

- Spread lime with effective swath widths up to 60'.
- Spread fertilizer with effective swath widths up to 90'.

The New Leader L2020G4 is also available.

ARE FENDT VARIOS.
ON THE REST
25,000 and counting. That's how many VARIO CVT transmissions there are in fields around the world today. And all of them have a FENDT wrapped around them. Because nobody has more experience with stepless, variable speed powertrains than FENDT. While others talk about the versatility of infinite speed, FENDT customers can tell you all about proven efficiency, productivity and reliability. They've been there and done that for over seven years. The fact is, nothing performs better than a FENDT VARIO CVT.

TK crawlers work where conventional tractors can't

A TK crawler turns tighter than conventional tractors, too. That's a big advantage in cramped quarters or when making head land turns.

For extended road transportation, TK tracks can be fitted easily with clip-on steel pads or "street plates" got service?

WE DO!! At CFS we are committed to providing the very best repair and maintenance service available. Our techs attend continued training sessions to keep up with the constantly changing technology of today's machines. We can provide "ON FARM" or "IN HOUSE" repairs on your CASE IH, CASE, or IH equipment. We provide loaner programs and are proud to say we are one of the very few dealers providing "NO CHARGE" warranty service. Visit us at the CASE IH booth at AG Progress Days.

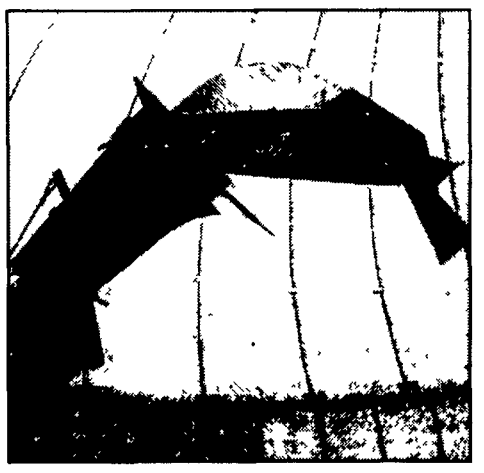
Silage Spreaders with a Heritage of Quality

Lancaster Level-Flo has been the leader in non-motorized silage spreaders for more than 25 years. Each spreader is specifically designed to meet the needs of the individual operator.



Choose the spreader that best matches the equipment you use to fill your silo.

The Model 1030 Multi-Flo is our standard silage spreader With a 9" gooseneck, it is designed for average capacity blowers and silo sizes

The Model 1200 Multi-Flo has a 12" wide gooseneck Its larger size all but eliminates plugging problems, even when you blow in haylage It is especially helpful in larger silos

The BlueMax is built for those who push high-capacity silo filling equipment to the limit All parts of the BlueMax subject to wear are made 25% heavier - and the stainless steel plate is twice as heavy For strength, there are reinforcements all around Even our well-known non-binding hinge is heavier

For more information or the location of the Lancaster dealer nearest you, call today 1-800-635-8708.

EVERLAST II EVERLAST II EVERLAST II

Metal Roofs Aren't Created Equal

EVERLAST II IS BETTER:

- it is galvanized heavier, like old times.
- it is heat formed, less paint cracks.
- is cut while hot, prevents early edge rust.
- won't scratch as easy, paint is harder.
- won't bend or buckle as easy, stronger design.
- laps are tighter, and virtually invisible.
- nail/screws seal better, ribs fit tighter to head.
- zinc phosphate, not chromate under paint.
- still priced about the same or less.

EVERLAST II
is excellent for houses and barns.
DOUBLE DIPPED GALVANIZED is proven best for animals.
STANDING SEAM
is ideal for houses.

Everlast laps better.

Everlast II metal roofing and siding overlaps are stronger, tighter, and virtually invisibile. Lap edges are less subject to deforming bends during erection. Driving rain is less likely to penetrate at the laps.

Let us answer your questions about roasting grain.
* How can roasted corn be an alternative for high-moisture corn?
* What place do roasted beans have in the dairy ration?
* Why should I roast my barley?
* What is unique about roasting over other methods of heat processed grains?
* How can I reduce my over-all feed costs?

NOTICE OF AUCTION AND HEARING TO CONSIDER APPROVAL OF THE SALE OF AGWAY'S NEWBURG TSPF HEIFER FARM

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, as follows

1 On July 21, 2003, Agway, Inc , one of the above captioned debtors and debtors in possession (' Agway or the Debtor") filed a motion (the Procedures Motion ') with the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of New York for an order (I) authorizing, pursuant to sections 105(a) and 363(b) of the Bankruptcy Code, an auction sale (the Auction ') of the Newburg TSPF Heifer Farm (the ' Sale Assets)' as set forth in that certain Agreement For Purchase Of Real Estate ("Real Estate Purchase Agreement) and that certain Asset Sale Agreement (the Asset Sale Agreement' and together with the Real Estate Purchase Agreement, the Agreements') between Agway and Red Knob Farm (Red Knob'), (ii) scheduling a date for the Auction (the 'Auction Date) (iii) approving, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 6004(f)(1) the terms and conditions of the Auction including bidding procedures and the Break-Up Fee² (the Bidding Procedures') (iv) authorizing, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2002 the form and manner of notice for the Auction, and (v) scheduling a date and time for a hearing to consider approval of the proposed sale resulting from the Auction (the ' Sale Hearing") The successful bidder at the Auction (the "Successful Bidder") will agree to purchase the Sale Assets on the same terms and conditions as those set forth in the Agreements

2 By order dated August 8, 2003 (the Procedures Order") the Court authorized the Debtor, among other things to conduct an Auction of the Sale Assets at the United States Bankruptcy Court, Alexander Pirnie U S Courthouse 10 Broad Street Utica New York 13502, on August 28 2003 at 2 00 p m (EDT)

3 The Debtor will conduct the Auction pursuant to the following Bidding Procedures

• Bids for the Sale Assets must (a) be in writing, (b) at a minimum, provide for a purchase price of $1,580,000 (the "Minimum Bid "), (c) be received by (i) the attorneys for the Debtors Weil Gotshal & Manges LLP ("WG&M"), 767 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10153 (Attn Marvin E Jacob, Esq and Judy G Z Liu, Esq), Menter, Rudin & Trivelpiece, P C , 500 South Salina Street, Suite 500, Syracuse, New York 13202 (Attn Jeffrey A Dove, Esq), (ii) the attorneys for the prepetition and postpetition lenders, Paul, Hastings, Janofsky & Walker LLP, 1055 Washington Boulevard, Stamford, Connecticut 06901 (Attn Leslie A. Plaskon, Esq and W Andrew P Logan, Esq), Hancock & Estabrook, LLP, 1500 MONY Tower I (Zip Code 13202), P O Box 4976, Syracuse, New York, 13221-4976 (Attn Stephen A Donato, Esq), (iii) the attorneys for the Official General Unsecured Creditors Committee, Pachulski Stang, Ziehl Young Jones & Weintraub, 461 Fifth Avenue, 25th Floor, New York, New York 10017-6234, (Attn William P Weintraub, Esq and Robert J Feinstein, Esq), by no later than 4 00 p m (EDT) on August 22, 2003 (the "Bid Deadline") With the exception of Red Knob, any parties that do not submit written bids by the Bid Deadline reflecting the Minimum Bid will not be permitted to participate at the Auction

• Agway will only entertain bids that are on the same (or better) terms and conditions as those terms set forth in the Agreements and the documents set forth as exhibits thereto

• All bids must constitute a good faith, bona fide offer to purchase the Sale Assets for cash only, and shall not be conditioned on obtaining financing and/or the outcome of due diligence by the bidder

• As a condition to making a competing bid, any competing bidder (with the exception of Red Knob) must provide Agway on or before the Bid Deadline, with (A) a letter stating that the offer is (i) irrevocable until Agway closes a sale of the Sale Assets with a third party (the "Closing"), (ii) not contingent upon due diligence, and (iii) not contingent upon obtaining financing, (B) sufficient and adequate information to demonstrate, to the satisfaction of Agway, that such competing bidder has the financial wherewithal and ability to consummate the Sale Transaction, and (C) a certified check payable to Agway in an amount equal to five percent (5 00%) of the Minimum Bid

• Agway shall, after the Bid Deadline and prior to the Auction, evaluate all bids received, including Red Knob's bid, and determine which bid reflects the highest or best offer for the Sale Assets (the "Pre-Auction Successful Bid") Agway shall announce such determination at the outset of the Auction

• Subsequent bids at the Auction shall be made in increments of at least $20 000

• Except as otherwise provided in a written offer that has been accepted by Agway, subject to satisfaction or waiver of the conditions to closing set forth in the Agreements, the closing shall take place at the offices of Salzmann, DePaulis & Fishman, P C , 455 Phoenix Drive, Suite A, Chambersburg, PA 17201

• If for any reason the Successful Bidder fails to consummate the Sale Transaction, or any part thereof, the offeror of the second highest or best bid at the Auction for the Sale Assets will automatically be deemed to have submitted the highest or best bid To the extent such offeror and Agway consent, Agway and such offeror are authorized to effect the Sale Transaction as soon as is commercially reasonable without further order of the Court

• All bids for the purchase of the Sale Assets shall be subject to approval of the Court

• Agway, in its sole discretion, may reject any bid not in conformity with these Bidding Procedures, the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code, the Bankruptcy Rules or the Local Bankruptcy Rules of the Court or contrary to the best interests of the Debtor and parties in interest

• No bids shall be considered by the Court unless a party submitted a competing bid in accordance with the Bidding Procedures and participated in the Auction

• The Debtor reserves the right to change the location of the Auction and/or adjourn the Auction by announcing such Adjournment at the Auction

• Such other terms and conditions as may be announced by the Debtor at the outset of the Auction

4 The Procedures Order further provides that the Sale Hearing will be held following the Auction on August 28, 2003, at 2:00 p.m. (EDT), before the Honorable Stephen D Gerling, Chief United States Bankruptcy Judge at the United States Bankruptcy Court, Alexander Pirnie U S Courthouse, 10 Broad Street, Utica, New York 13502 The Sale Hearing may be adjourned from time to time without further notice other than an announcement in open court of the adjourned date or dates at the Sale Hearing or an adjourned hearing

5 At the Sale Hearing, Agway shall request that the Court enter an order (a) approving the sale of the Sale Assets to the Successful Bidder(s), and (b) approving the Agreements

6 At the Sale Hearing, the Court may enter such orders as it deems appropriate under applicable law and as required by the circumstances and equities of these cases

7 All requests for information concerning the sale of the Sale Assets should be directed by written request to Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, 767 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10152 Attention Julie T Goldenberg Esq

Northumberland County
This is two farms by same owner which can be sold separately The one farm of 132 acres is a modern dairy with 153 free stalls and a double 8 DeLaval milking parlor There is room for expansion This farm is level and very fertile They have not needed commercial fertilizer for at least 7 years.
The other farm is presently quarter horses, and this land is identical to farm #1 This one has 113 acres with most of it tillable. The residence is unique, having been built in 1803, and #1 was built in 1830 Both have 5 bedrooms and modern baths There is a 24' by 80' silo on each, as well as many other pluses The second would make a beautiful beef farm or make a dairy here as well Priced separately or both together as a package deal Call today
Central Northumberland Co. 71 acre Amish equipped dairy farm The setting is ideal, excellent soils, beautiful 3 bedroom farm house w/modern kitchen, Parquet oak floors and lots of excellent living area There is a large horse barn, milk stable, implement shed and much more Let me give you a private tour You can have settlement now to honor your tax deferred exchange with possession at a later date. I'll handle those details for you It won't last long - it's priced right
Bradford County, 2 New Opportunities
I have just listed a large modern dairy with lots of ground There is multiple housing, great location and the possibility for you to buy a turnkey operation also is a plus Could be rather quick possession or let's do an IRC 1031 Tax Deferred Exchange and keep your investment intact from the sale of your present property
Opportunity #2: Over 100 acres of good farmland with bordering woodland and wooded patches rich in game and the elevation for building a hunting lodge or permanent residence surrounded by the farmland and neighboring tracts of woodland makes this a great place for retirement also. Big rack deer, bear and lots of turkey abound. Priced right. It should sell quickly. Call me for a private showing.

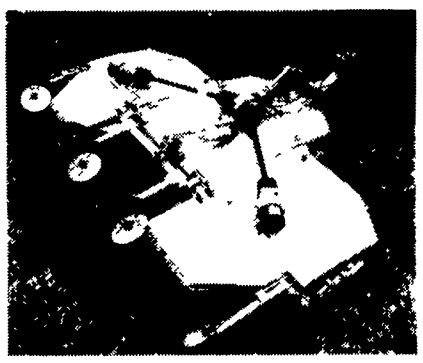
BATWING 3180 - SPINDLE MOWER



The Woods model 3180 is the toughest Batwing® mower we've ever built. A "clean deck" design that resists cut material build-up, innovative Intra-Drive™ gearboxes engineered and built by Woods, and the fastest blade speeds of any mower in its class. The 3180 Batwing® cuts through brush, up to three inches in diameter. A blade overlap of over six inches, and you have a mower that delivers a quality cut, without streaking. From its heavy-gauge deckplate to its heavy-duty drivelines, we build the 3180 to last. What's more, they come complete with a 36-month gearbox warranty.

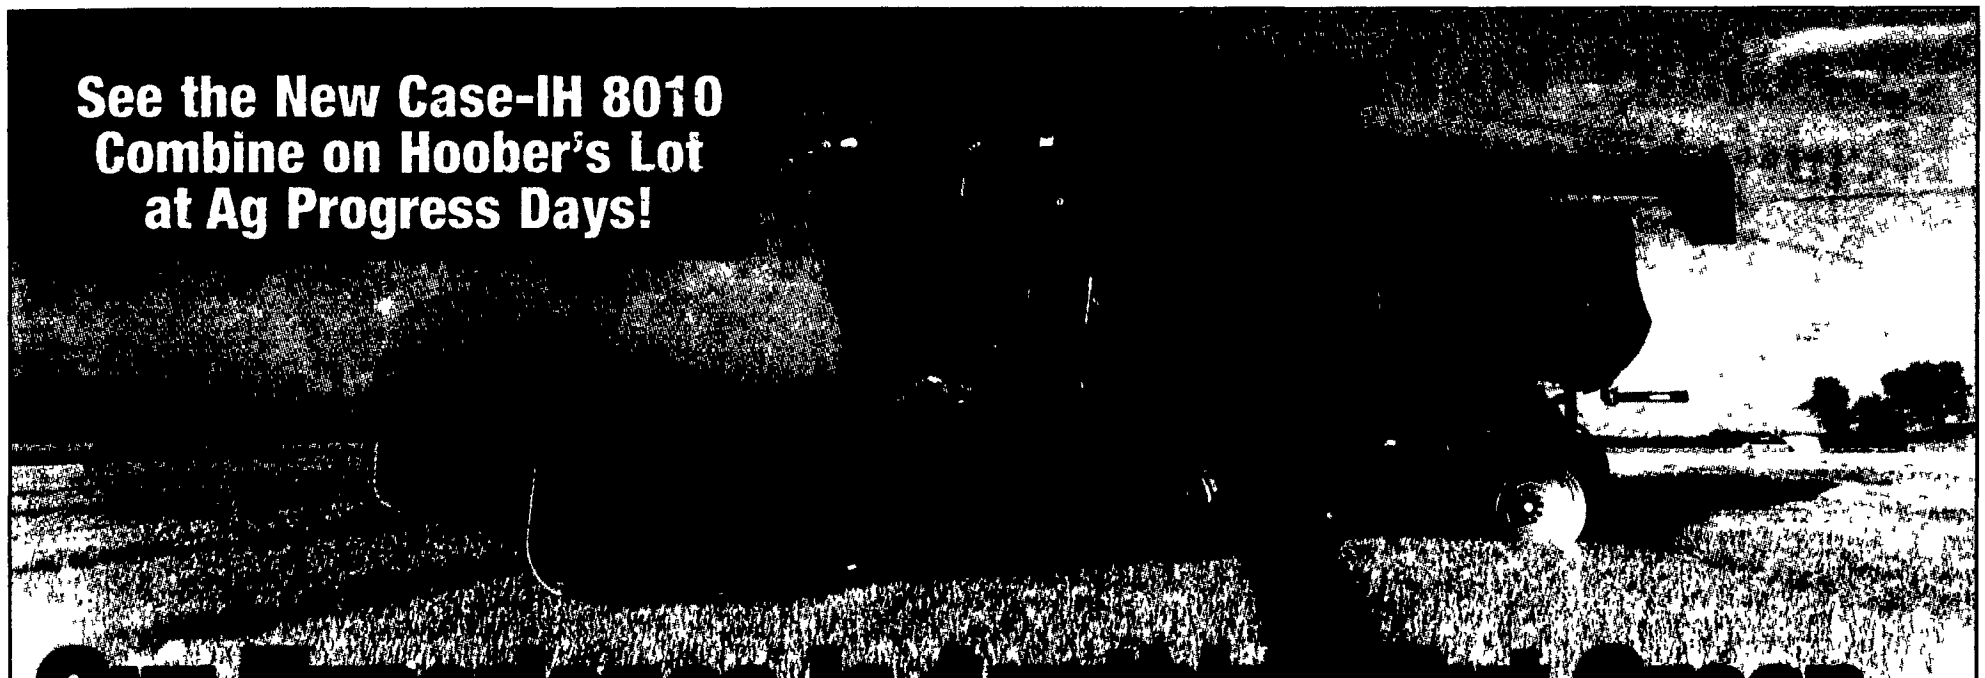
See the New Case-IH 8010 Combine on Hoober's Lot at Ag Progress Days!



Our Experience Is Apparent... Rotary Specialists for 27 Years

The new AFX 8010 will make you even more productive with the following enhancements:

More Efficient Threshing Process

The new AFX rotor uses enhanced graduated pitch impellers to promote smooth crop flow and increase rotor throughput capacity in tough conditions by up to 25%. In addition, the transition cone is five inches larger in diameter and provides for faster crop acceleration into the rotor cage.

Clean Grain Sample

The patented Cross Flow cleaning system now self-levels automatically, up to a 14% slope, preventing valuable crop losses. The fan's diameter has been increased for greater air volume, and the cleaning area and active grain pan now provide 43% more cleaning area.

AXIAL-FLOW ROTARY LEADERSHIP 27 yrs CASE IH

Matched Capacity

The feeder-house is a full 54" wide and takes full advantage of the extra capacity of the new AFX rotor. This ensures the crop material flows smoothly through the machine with no restrictions or slowdowns along the way.

New Drive Systems

The new Power Plus Drive systems provide a dedicated drive for the rotor and a separate one for the feeder. This continuously variable transmission (CVT) design offers the efficient power transfer of a mechanical transmission with the convenience of hydraulic, variable speed control. ALL WITHOUT BELTS!

- 330 Bushel grain tank capacity (largest in the industry)
- Unloading rate of 3 bushels per second
- Self-leveling sieve and grain pan for hillside application
- Continuously variable transmission (CVT) for rotor drive and feeder drive - NO BELTS!
- 375 HP, 10.3-liter, 24-valve, full-authority electronic engine.
- Backed by Hoober's 27 YEARS EXPERIENCE with Axial-Flow technology

The New AFX Rotor

The New AFX Rotor Can also be Retrofitted to 1600, 2100 & 2300 Combines

- Achieves up to 25% increased throughput
- Uses less HP than previous rotors
- More Aggressive than Previous Designs

INCREASED PRODUCTIVITY

"I used to have a CIH 950 6 row planter, and going to the 12 row I've noticed a big difference – it's mind-boggling. This past wet spring I knew I made the right decision because I was able to plant 400 acres of corn in one week. I'm by myself doing the work and I can plant 16 acres per hour. This planter has helped me become more efficient and productive."

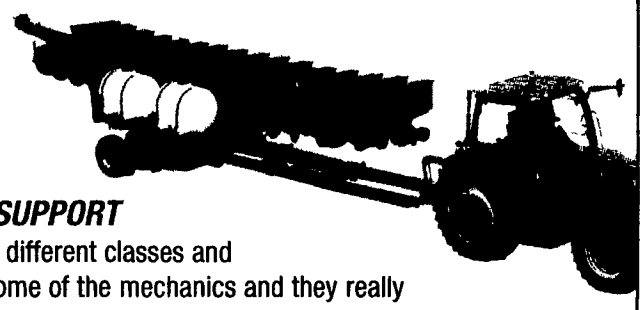
SEEDING ACCURACY

"I was amazed – it will take corn right out of the bin and plant at 98% accuracy going 6 MPH. The vacuum holds the seed against the plate and the seed only has to travel a matter of inches from the plate down the tube and into the ground."

JOE MATEJIC
Mechanicsville, PA

NARROW TRANSPORT - ONLY 12' 6"

"The pivot transport was a big plus. I have a lot of narrow roads and it's so much easier transporting. The narrow transport is controlled from inside the cab, and within 2 minutes I'm ready to go."



DEALER SUPPORT

"I've been to different classes and schools with some of the mechanics and they really know their stuff. The parts and service men are always trying to make it easier for you. When you buy from Hoober, you're not just buying a piece of equipment – you're buying the Hoober family of employees."

AgrAbility To Provide Health Screenings At Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — AgrAbility for Pennsylvanians has teamed up with Agromedicine for an unprecedented offering of free health screenings at the 2003 Penn State Ag Progress Days (APD) here Aug. 19-21.

The screenings will take place at the AgrAbility/Agromedicine tent located at the end of West 6th Street on the APD grounds.

Please note the following schedule:

- Stroke screenings - all three days.
- Blood pressure screenings - all three days.
- Osteoporosis screenings - all three days.
- Respiratory screenings - Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday.
- Tetanus shots- all three days.

AgrAbility for Pennsylvanians assists farmers and farm family members who are coping with a disability or health condition. The project is funded through a grant of the USDA and is conducted in Pennsylvania through a partnership between Easter Seals Central Pennsylvania and Penn State Cooperative Extension.

AgrAbility is also sponsoring a daily cash drawing for those entrants who visit with 10 of 14 identified "AgrAbility Partners" who are also exhibiting at APD. Participating partners include Agromedicine, American Trauma Society, Best Line Leasing, Bergman Manufacturing, Blazing Technologies, DeLaval, Genex Cooperative, Pennsylvania Grange, Hoober's Equipment, Jiffy Hitch Systems, Land O'Lakes, Ryder Supply Co., Valley Equipment Supply, and Walters Enterprises. Entry forms can be cut from farm newspapers; or may be picked up during the event at the APD information booth or from any of the participating partner locations.

For more information regarding AgrAbility services, call toll-free within Pennsylvania, (866) 238-4434 or visit the Website: http://AgExtEd.cas.psu.edu/agrab/

Bus Trip To Ag Progress Days

WESTMINSTER, Md. — MidAtlantic Farm Credit, along with the Baltimore, Carroll, and Harford County extension offices, is once again coordinating a bus trip to Rockspring on Wednesday, Aug. 20.

The bus will leave at 6:15 a.m. from:

- Baltimore — Hereford Park and Ride, Parkton, Md.
- Carroll — Carroll County Agricultural Center, Westminster, Md.
- Harford — Mill of Whiteford, Whiteford, Md.

Ag Progress Days offers farmers and producers the opportunity to see the latest technology in agriculture. The event includes field demonstrations, more than 350 commercial exhibits, tours, and various hands-on demonstrations on more than 200 acres of land.

"Anyone involved in agriculture can find something to see at this event. Whether you grow corn, bale hay, raise horses, or operate a greenhouse — there is some type of demonstration for you," said John Stump, a MidAtlantic Farm Credit account executive.

Anyone interested in attending can contact one of the local county extension offices or MidAtlantic Farm Credit at (800) 442-7334. The cost is $10 per person, which includes dinner on the return trip.

The Hatfield Fore FFA mascot stands tall at one of many food stands at the Ag Progress Days site.

BETTER BEATS BIGGER.

How do you shatter the world plowing record set by a 425 hp track tractor? You don't have to get bigger. You don't have to get tracks. You just have to get better. That's what happened when the Massey Ferguson 8280 fixed frame wheeled tractor set a new world record. The MF 8280 fine tuned to deliver 387 hp, outdid the predecessor by nearly 100 acres, plowing 621 acres in 24 hours.

What makes the MF 8280 better? Take a world class engine, a transmission that won't quit and add a powerful hydraulic system. Throw in a high tech control system that automatically monitors and adjusts the flow of power to the wheels for less slip and you've got better...more than 24 acres an hour better.

So don't just get a bigger tractor next time you have a big job to do. Get a better tractor. Get a Massey Ferguson 8280 and shatter some records yourself.

Penn State Professors Honored For Produce-Checking Research

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Two professors in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences were part of a team that won a prestigious Secretary's Award from the USDA for research work to increase the efficiency, security, sustainability, and profitability of the fruit and vegetable industry through application of new technology.

Paul Heinemann and Joseph Irudayaraj, professor and associate professor, respectively, of agricultural engineering, are part of the Northeast Multi-State Research Group nominated for the honor from the USDA's Cooperative State Research, Education and Extension Service. Researchers at 12 other universities and Penn State, as well as at several USDA laboratories, have been investigating how nondestructive, noninvasive technologies can be used to reveal the condition of fruits and vegetables.

"As a group, we have looked at what advanced sensor technologies — such as X-rays, nuclear magnetic resonance imaging, infrared spectroscopy, and machine vision — can quickly and efficiently reveal about produce," said Heinemann. "Most of these technologies have come from medical disciplines, and the major advantage is that they don't damage the fruit or vegetables, unlike other laboratory tests that are much slower and result in a waste of produce."

Using advanced technologies allows processors to check for such things as pathogens, bruises, spoilage, surface blemishes, and size along the production line at a packing plant, where it would be impractical to do laboratory tests. Some of these technologies are already in commercial use to protect food safety.

"It's very important to the public directly," said Heinemann. "This technology affects the quality of what folks see and buy in the grocery stores. We tried to apply existing technologies to detect the presence of pathogens and other defects before the produce gets to market."

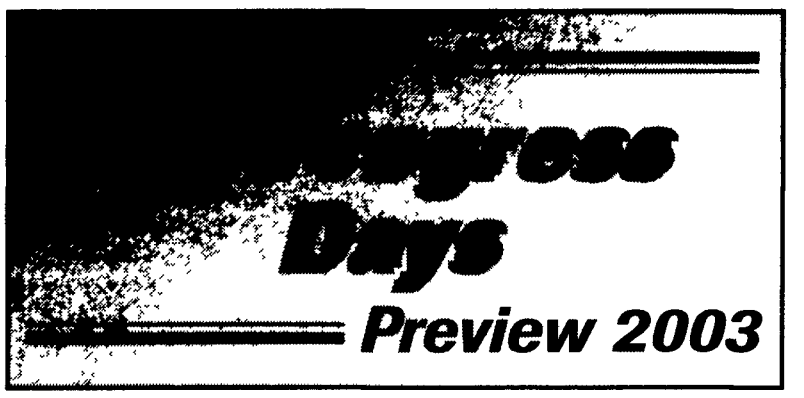
In recent years, Heinemann, who earned his master's degree in agricultural engineering from Penn State and his doctoral degree in agricultural meteorology at the University of Florida, has concentrated on applying "electronic nose" technology.

"The electronic nose is a device that attempts to mimic the human sense of smell," he said. "The one I have been working with has 32 sensors, and each one is sensitive to a different compound. For example, we have used it to detect e. coli on apples. This technology shows promise in detecting the presence of bacteria before fruit or vegetables even go into a processing plant. It will be a first-step filter."

Irudayaraj, who received two master's degrees from University of Hawaii — one in agricultural engineering and the other in computer science and a doctoral degree from Purdue in food process engineering, has focused his research on optical sensors for food quality and safety assessment. This technology can reveal the presence of certain defects or surface characteristics on produce by detecting differences in the way light is reflected.

For instance, a chemical incident on an apple may not be easily visible to a human eye, but may be readily apparent in the infrared fingerprint. Spectroscopic fingerprints of foods with different levels of contaminants, as well as with different microorganisms, indicate that differentiation and classification is possible. In more complex situations, "markers" need to be identified for classification.

"We are using visible, near-infrared, and mid-infrared light wavelengths to evaluate the quality of produce and to look for contaminants and undesirable chemical components," Irudayaraj said. "Rapid detection and evaluation will allow the discovery of pathogens without laboratory analysis, yielding immediate results."



Museum Celebrate's 25th Anniversary At Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Penn State's Pasto Agricultural Museum will celebrate 25 years of preserving the history of agriculture and rural living here during Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21.

The museum will feature a special exhibit titled "Twenty-Five Years and Growing." Twenty-nine photographs and accompanying text will illustrate the growth of the museum's collection to more than 900 items since 1978.

The idea to gather and preserve pieces of agricultural history began in 1974 with the College of Agricultural Sciences Alumni Society, according to the museum's volunteer curator, Darwin Braund. With $1,500 and a few display cases in the Agricultural Administration Building, the Pasto Agricultural Museum was born.

In May 1978, the Ag Alumni Society decided to move forward with a building project, and a year later the building at Rockspring was dedicated. It was officially opened to the public on Aug. 22, 1979 during Ag Progress Days.

Starting with an initial collection of about 150 items, the total collection of more than 900 items far exceeds available exhibit space in the museum. 'In honor of our 25th anniversary, many larger items, including several horse-drawn vehicles, will be moved from storage and displayed in an adjacent tent," said Braund. 'Less than two-thirds of the collection can be exhibited in the museum at any given time."

In 1980, the museum was named for its first curator, Jerome K. Pasto, associate dean emeritus of the college and professor emeritus of agricultural economics. In 1998, Darwin Braund, professor emeritus of animal science at North Carolina State University and 1956 Penn State alumnus, took over as curator.

The Pasto Agricultural Museum serves between 8,000 and 10,000 visitors per year. Visitors during the 2003 Ag Progress Days who sign the guest book will receive a special bookmark.

Tours can be scheduled from April 15 through Oct. 15 by calling (814) 863-1383, by sending an e-mail to pastoagmuseum@psu.edu, or by registering on the Web at http://pasto.cas.psu.edu.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days is conducted at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rockspring, nine miles southwest of State College on Rt. 45.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free until Aug. 21 or visit the Ag Progress Days Website at http://apd.cas.psu.edu.

Ag Progress Days Preview 2003

Lawn, Landscape, Gardening Advice Available at Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Is your landscape lacking? Do you have bugs on your begonias, or grubs got your grass?

Gardening fans with questions can get answers to all their problems at the Landscape, Lawn and Garden Tent at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21.

Visitors can ask the experts questions on landscaping, horticulture, entomology, plant pathology and turfgrass. You can learn about new products and get tips on managing your landscape and garden plants.

"Penn State faculty and cooperative extension agents can help diagnose your plant and pest problems," said Jim Sellmer, assistant professor of ornamental horticulture. "Additional advice will be available on indoor plants, flowers, tree and small fruits, woody ornamentals, and vegetables."

Professional growers and home gardeners interested in cut flowers can learn about varieties, weed control, and business opportunities.

The variety trial includes more than 100 new varieties from asters to sunflowers, as well as some unusual flowers not widely known in the market. Flower arranging demonstrations will be held daily in the tent at noon and 2 p.m., with an additional demonstration at 7 p.m., Wednesday. Visitors can get information on starting and managing field-grown cut flowers, or just enjoy a few quiet minutes walking through the flower beds.

Visitors are encouraged to bring samples of turf, plants, diseases or insects to receive an on-the-spot evaluation.

Exhibits outside the landscape, lawn and garden tent will feature examples of landscape mistakes, "green roof" technology, and a high tunnel for extending your growing season.

Because of concerns over the possible transmission of foot-and-mouth disease and other foreign animal diseases, visitors who have been overseas within two weeks of attending Ag Progress Days are asked not to visit the event's live-animal exhibit areas.

Get To Know 'Good,' 'Bad' Plants At Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Corn, soybeans, hay and other crops — including weeds — will be growing all around the Crops and Soils Tent at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21 here at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center.

Organizers say the plots will help farmers and others to understand the differences between the plants they want and the ones they don't.

New for this year is the Field Crops Garden — 20 field and forage crops, including sorghum, various corns, and small grains.

Sjoerd Duiker, assistant professor of soil management, said the garden will show the great variety of crops grown in Pennsylvania.

"A lot of people who visit Ag Progress Days don't know what soybeans look like, for instance," Duiker says. "People may drive by crops near the highway and not know what they're looking at. Or they may know it's a soybean field but they've never seen one up close."

"Farmers who see the crops might be prompted to think of questions about production," said Ronald Hoover, senior project associate in crop and soil sciences. "The new addition should encourage some one-on-one discussions between producers and specialists.

"Our faculty and staff enjoy talking about potential production problems with producers. The exchanges often are beneficial to all concerned. I enjoy it when they come in, point to something we are displaying and say, 'This looks like what I'm seeing at home. What's going on?'"

Along with grain and forage crops, Penn State crop and soil sciences faculty will be growing common weeds of Pennsylvania, including some invasive weed species.

The area again will present the latest developments in forage, corn, and soybean production. In addition to demonstrations of new tillage practices and displays of crop research, Penn State specialists will be on hand to talk to producers about crop-related production issues.

This year's tillage demonstration will focus on conservation of residue, with daily one-hour demonstrations of equipment from up to eight manufacturers. Duiker says the popular demonstrations give exhibitors a chance to show their equipment in motion.

"Growers appreciate seeing what happens when equipment goes to the field," he said. "They get to see how several pieces of equipment they may be considering perform 'head-to-head,' and they can ask questions of company representatives."

The tilled area created by the demonstration also will be shared by the Natural Resource Conservation Service to show no-till and reduced tillage techniques of manure incorporation. Duiker said the techniques help control erosion, reduce odor and conserve surface residues.

"Plowing manure under requires plowing the whole field," he said, "but new equipment allows farmers to inject manure into the soil, protecting against soil erosion while conserving surface residue."

Children again will flock to the ever-popular "A-Maze-N Corn" exhibit, which features an all-new corn maze design. Within the maze, they're asked a question at each station. The correct answer sends them in the right direction through the maze.

"It's extremely popular — tons of kids come through," Hoover said. "We ask general questions about agriculture, so that as the kids wander around and have fun, they're also learning more about crop production. Children can spend time in the maze while the adults can get advice on weed control, forages, corn, soils, soybeans, and small grains."

The region's finest hay also will be selected at the exposition's annual Hay Show. Visitors wishing to compete for prizes in the Hay Show can submit their entries at the drop-off points near the Ag Progress Days parking areas. Hay samples in 25 classes of variety and cutting will be judged on nutritional and visual quality by a forage specialist. Entries will go to the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January.

Also new this year is the "Mystery Crop Contest," which challenges visitors to identify a crop grown in the U.S. but not in Pennsylvania. "We want to make people aware that crops have requirements," Duiker says. "You can't grow everything everywhere, before you plant something, you should know if the climate is suitable. It makes people think about agronomy."

Ag Progress Days Natural Resource Conservation Partnership Area Has Something For Everyone

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — From nutrient management, sustainable agriculture, forested buffers, conservation practices, and grazing management to worms, backyard composting, fly casting, and tattoos to snakes, soil monoliths, and backyard gardens; the Natural Resource Conservation Partnership Area of Ag Progress Days has something for everyone.

Encompassing about five acres of the 200-acre Ag Progress Days site, the Conservation Partnership area, formerly known as the Conservation Education Tent, is full of demonstrations, presentations, tours, and exhibits. Located at the end of West 11th Street, partnerships are apparent when you see that many of the exhibitors have worked together on projects putting conservation practices on the land.

"It's all about conserving and improving the resources," said one state exhibitor. And that seems to be echoed by all of the federal, state, and local agencies and private entities represented.

Tours will include a forestry tour that leads you on an easy walking trail through parts of "Penn's Woods." A grazing tour will present facts on grazing assistance programs for producers, native warm-season grasses for biofuels and carbon sequestration, wildlife and warm-season grasses. A tour will also be offered to see what forested riparian buffers can do for a stream and why they are important.

The presentation tent will be busy as usual. Federal, state, and local partners will present information on their Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program, an opportunity for farmers to protect the soil, improve water quality, and provide wildlife habitat. There will be a grazing forum where farmers can question NRCS Project Grass coordinators on what is working for most Pennsylvanians. The Dirt and Gravel Road Program, which is reducing sediment in streams as well as making neighborhoods cleaner, and a one-day presentation featuring the "Snakes of Pennsylvania" will round out the programs.

There will be a special presentation on Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the Alumni Pavilion. Federal, state, and private partners will present information on the specifics and benefits of the Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program (CREP). Landowners will have an opportunity to ask questions of program managers and farmers who have participated in the program and found it beneficial on their land.

The main exhibition tent is full of federal, state, and local agencies as well as private organizations and they all have something for kids and adults. The Fish and Boat Commission will have a fish tank and will offer fly casting exhibitions. They are also sponsoring the "Snakes of Pennsylvania" presentation on Wednesday at 11:00 a.m.

The Natural Resources Conservation Service will have worm containers, touch boxes, tattoos, and special displays on grazing and CREP. Children can make soil profiles and teachers can learn how to make soil monoliths for use in science curriculums. Conservation professionals will be on hand to answer questions on Farm Bill programs.

The Pennsylvania departments of environmental protection, conservation and natural resources, and agriculture will have exhibits on nutrient management, farm energy, and forestry. The Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts will have an exhibit featuring fencing and watershed conservation. The Chesapeake Bay Foundation will focus on buffers and the benefits they provide all Pennsylvanians. The Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture, Pennsylvania Certified Organic, Pennsylvania Groundwater Association, Penn State Extension Service, Farm Service Agency, and others will also be part of the area.

Additional demonstration areas will show conservation practices on the ground. Looking like an outdoor shower, the USDA Ag Research Service will have a rainfall simulator to demonstrate the benefits of analyzing field and pasture runoff, particularly as it pertains to nutrient management. Check at the exhibit for times. Several grass plantings are available to show how native plantings can help your soil health and water conservation efforts. Livestock watering equipment and fencing types are also demonstrated as well as no-till planting, injection systems, and several native grass plots.

Stop by the information booth on the main grounds or at the Natural Resource Conservation Partnership for times and details of the tours and presentations. Exhibits and demonstrations are ongoing. There is truly something for everyone.

For more information on partners or activities in the Natural Resource Conservation Partnership Area, contact Stacy Mitchell, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, (717) 237-2208.

Tillage demonstrations drew crowds at last year's Ag Progress Days.

PennAg Democrats Schedule Ag Progress Days Reception

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The PennAg Democrats, Pennsylvania's Democratic farming organization, announced that Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Dennis C. Wolff will be a featured guest at their Ag Progress Days reception, Tuesday, Aug. 19, from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. in the Board Room here at the Nittany Lion Inn.

"Since his recent appointment, Secretary Wolff is already well into a long and ambitious agenda to advance Pennsylvania agriculture. We look forward to an informal discussion with him about the plans and progress," said Doug Kilgore, PennAg Democrats president. "Ag Progress Days is a great gathering point for our industry during August and we invite visitors to drop by our reception."

The annual reception at Ag Progress Days also serves as a fundraiser. Proceeds are donated to Democratic candidates with a history of supporting agriculture. The cost is $25 per person to be paid at the door. The event includes appetizers, beverages, and a cash bar.

For more information, contact Doug Kilgore, PennAg Democrats president, at (717) 862-3117 or kilmcfarm@supernet.com.

Demonstrations At Livestock Area Of Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — A series of demonstrations and discussions giving farmers practical information they can use in their operations will highlight the Animal Sciences Exhibits Area at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21.

The demonstrations, offered by the departments of dairy and animal science and veterinary science, will include some new approaches and review some basic techniques, according to Mike O'Connor, professor of dairy science and exhibit coordinator.

"We want to present useful techniques and information that farmers can consider," he said. "We're also highlighting some new technologies and concepts adaptable to livestock management."

Scheduled presentations:

Tuesday, Aug. 19

• 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. — Forage Quality and Influence on Metabolic Diseases and Transition Cow Health. Extension veterinarian Bob Van Saun will focus on the influence of forage quality on the major metabolic problems occurring at calving time and on the importance of maintaining health of the transition cow.

• 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. — Are Your Cows Sorting Their Ration? Monitoring Feed Particle Sizes. Jud Heinrichs, professor of dairy and animal science, will demonstrate how to determine if cows are sorting their TMR by measuring feed particle size with the new Penn State Particle Size Separator.

• Noon — How to Measure Colostrum Absorption and Monitor Calf Health. Bob Van Saun will demonstrate the use of rapid calf-side tests to measure absorption of antibodies from colostrum in calves. Interpretation of antibody levels and influence on calf health will be included.

• 3 p.m. — Frequent Milking of Fresh Cows Improves Milk Yield. Zhiguo Wu, assistant professor of ruminant nutrition, will lead a discussion about the new concept of milking fresh cows more frequently to improve milk yield.

Wednesday, Aug. 20

• 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. — Correcting Common Causes of Lameness. Extension veterinarian Dave Wolfgang will demonstrate trimming techniques and discuss therapies to correct common lameness problems in dairy cattle.

• 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. — Ultrasound Technology to Evaluate Reproductive Status and Analyze Compositional Differences in Livestock. Keith Bryan, senior instructor in dairy and animal science, will demonstrate the use of ultrasound technology in animal agriculture.

• Noon and 3 p.m. — Review Your Artificial Insemination Technique. Mike O'Connor will demonstrate the use of reproductive specimens and radiographs to insure accurate artificial insemination technique in cattle.

Thursday, Aug. 21

• 10 a.m. and noon — Making Hard Calvings Easier. Dave Wolfgang will show how to use a "phantom cow" with artificial uterus to instruct participants in techniques to deliver calves with less stress on themselves, the cow and the calf. Wolfgang will also discuss methods to correct common malpresentations that make delivery difficult.

• 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. — Those Nasty Mastitis Bugs — What to Do About Them. Extension veterinarian Bhushan Jayarao will discuss the most common bacteria that cause mastitis. Strategies for control, treatment and prevention will be presented.

• 2 p.m. — Why Antibiotics Don't Work the Way They Used To. Brenda Love, research assistant in veterinary science, will talk about the emergence of resistance to antibiotics by bacteria. Implications for antibiotic use in prevention and treatment of bacterial diseases will be included.

Equine Owners Advised To Vaccinate Animals Against EEE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Dennis C. Wolff Wednesday advised all equine owners to have their animals vaccinated against Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis (EEE) as soon as possible.

"EEE kills almost all unvaccinated horses that become infected," Secretary Wolff said. "Owners should be aware that as a result of this year's wet conditions, EEE may be more of a risk than usual this year. The vaccine is an effective means of prevention, and all horse owners should consult their veterinarians for vaccination protocols against this disease."

EEE is a serious disease that can lead to encephalitis. It is considered to be more deadly than West Nile Virus in humans and horses.

EEE is transmitted by mosquitoes and other blood-sucking insects that pick up the virus from infected avian populations. Approximately two days after infection, clinical symptoms begin to appear.

Initial symptoms in horses include fever, anorexia, and stiffness, then progress to sleepiness, neurological abnormalities, convulsions and eventual death.

Vaccines are available through veterinarians, but there is no effective treatment once infected. EEE cannot be transmitted from horse to horse or horse to human.

While not prevalent in Pennsylvania, EEE has been identified in neighboring states this year, and human and horse fatalities have occurred. The disease is more common in coastal states, such as Florida, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

EEE can also affect ratites (ostriches, rheas, and emus). For more information on prevention options for ratite owners, contact your veterinarian.

"In addition to vaccinating horses, I encourage everyone to use similar precautions against EEE as they would against West Nile Virus. This includes wearing protective clothing and using insect repellent while outdoors, and getting rid of mosquito habitats such as standing water around homes and farms," Secretary Wolff said.

Pennsylvania Forage And Grazing Conference Set For March 5 6

Irish Brothers, Genetic Researcher On Slate

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co) — This year's Pennsylvania Forage and Grazing Conference will take place March 5 and 6 at the Holiday Inn in Grantville

This conference has something for forage producers and graziers at all levels of experience The conference is sponsored jointly by the PFGC, the Pennsylvania Grazing Research and Education Center Pennsylvania's Grazing Lands Conservation Initiative, and Penn State Extension

The first day of the conference kicks off with brothers John and Tom Roche John works as a grazing researcher/consultant in New Zealand, and Tom manages the home dairy farm in Ireland These brothers have recently been exploring the possibilities of starting a grazing dairy here in the U S Over the course of the conference they will discuss 'hands on" experiences as well as differences, similarities, and opportunities of grass farming in the U S and around the world,

Other talks on the first day will include topics such as animal genetics for grazing (sure to stimulate discussion), effectiveness of equipment to speed hay drying, keeping and using accurate farm records, large rectangular bale storage and marketing, and health concerns of animals on pasture.

Dr Steve Washburn from North Carolina State University will be leading the discussion on animal genetics for grazing The evening of the first day will include discussion sessions between attendees and speakers

The second day of the conference starts with a look at grazing and family life, impact of the Farm Bill and new regulations on forage and grazing farms, and pasture maintenance Presentations include recognizing the challenges of grassfed beef, farmer health concerns, and farm liability The day continues with a presentation by the Roche brothers on grazing opportunities in the Northeast. The conference will conclude with a brief "wrap up" session and awarding of door prizes.

Producers will give many of the presentations during the two-day conference

The PFGC will conduct its annual reception and awards program Wednesday evening followed by informal discussions with the day s presenters

The conference will also include a trade show with com-

Nevin Mast discusses his crossbreeding program during a pasture walk on his Berks County dairy farm last September. Dr. Steve Washburn, one of the presenters set to speak at the upcoming PFGC conference, joined the group of graziers on Mast's farm.

OLEY (Berks Co) — Nevin Mast has been crossbreeding Holsteins and Jerseys for about 10 years

"I just like the cross so well" the dairyman said during a pasture walk on his organically certified farm last September

Mast hosted about a dozen farmers who were interested in seeing his grazing operation Joining the group was Mena Hautau, Berks County extension agent, and Dr Steve Washburn, a dairy researcher from North Carolina State University

Grass and hay are the main source of feed for the 50 cows on Mast's 110-acre farm He supplements milking cows with 12-14 pounds of grain per day Heifers between the age of four months and their first calving receive no grain

Advantages of the Holstein/Jersey cross include easier breeding and calving, hybrid vigor, and greater survivability, according to Mast and Washburn

'The biggest gains are in the survivability traits," said Washburn who studies the benefits of crossbreeding in dairy herds. He predicted that crossbreeds will have an increasing impact on commercial dairy production in the future

Washburn is one of the speakers slated for the upcoming Pennsylvania Forage and Grazing Conference scheduled for March 5 and 6 in Grantville

A typical average first-conception rate for purebred Holsteins when using artificial insemination is between 30 and 40 percent. In crossbreeds, that number can reach nearly 50 percent, according to Washburn.

Washburn said dairy farmers need to have a plan when it comes to crossbreeding The plan should include researching the fertility of the daughters of bulls used in the cross breeding program, and knowing the bulls production data While hardiness and reproductive traits are important production must be a primary goal

As Washburn put it, "Milk still pays the bills"

In crossbred cows, production levels tend toward the higher-producing breed, he noted.

While Jersey and Holstein genetics make up the main part of the gene pool on Mast's farm , he also enjoys experimenting with different types of crossbreeding. For example, Mast said he recently purchased a White Park bull to breed to some of his heifers

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co) — Project Grass is on the move.

Last year, the grassroots, grassland management group expanded to include every region of Pennsylvania, and has been at work developing new programs to foster grass-based farming and conservation practices in the state.

Last November marked the first-ever Project Grass Conference More than 100 people attended the two-day event at State College.

The conference included presentations on the history of Project Grass — first formed In Southwest Pennsylvania in 1980 research findings on the economic and environmental benefits of livestock grazing

Performance Tested Boar Sale

PENNSYLVANIA FURNACE (Huntingdon Co.) — The state's 28th Performance Tested Boar Sale is scheduled Wednesday, Aug. 20, at 6 p.m. here at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's New Livestock Evaluation Center.

There are 58 boars consigned from various Pennsylvania producers for the 2003 Boar Test. Out of these 58 boars, there are 40 Yorkshires, six Berkshires, five Durocs, three Hampshires, and three crossbred boars.

In conjunction with this year's Boar Test, there are 14 gilts on test. Out of these 14 gilts there are 13 Yorkshires, one crossbred.

The new gilt test has been an interesting addition to the summer boar test. This year's boar test began in the New Livestock Evaluation Center's hog facility. This new building allowed for a great deal more temperature and ventilation control than in past tests.

The pen space available to the boars and gilts is also larger, allowing more freedom of movement and space for exercise.

Throughout the tests the animals are weighed every 14 days and evaluated on feed consumption. Upon completing the test, each group of animals is ultrasonically scanned to measure loin eye area, fat thickness, and percent lean muscle.

Feed efficiency is extremely important to producers interested in increasing profitability in their own operation. In addition to weight gain and muscling the hogs, sheep, goats, and bulls tested at the facility are evaluated on soundness and breeding ability.

Soundness is a measurement of the physical condition of an animal. When an animal is sound, it stands and walks correctly and shows no signs of detrimental movement problems. Of all species tested, soundness is probably the most critical in the swine industry because of the confinement conditions prevalent in the industry.

After these animals complete test, professionals from within each species interest will designate which animals will be quality sires from their specific breeds and can be sold to other livestock producers interested in advancing their own herd or flock.

Livestock production is a competitive and consumer-driven industry, and the constant advancement of genetics is necessary to the profitability of the farms and producers involved in livestock production.

The first-ever performance-tested gilt sale and the planned dedication of the new Livestock Evaluation Center takes place at 2 p.m. the same day. The location next to Ag Progress Days, which will be in full swing Wednesday, Aug. 20, will also enhance attendance.

For more specific information about the boars and gilts or to request a catalog or information on any of Pennsylvania's performance testing programs, contact Glenn Eberly, Livestock Evaluation Center, 1494 West Pine Grove Rd., Pennsylvania Furnace, PA 16865, by phone at (814) 238-2527, (814) 238-2307, or by e-mail at geberly@state.pa.us.

Bid On Antiques, Meats At Silent Auction

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Early Christmas shopping and bargain hunting can be combined when the Pasto Agricultural Museum conducts its fourth silent auction during the first two days of Penn State's Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-20.

About 150 items — including Penn State/Ohio State football tickets, a new John Deere lawn tractor, and a new Massey Ferguson tractor blade — have been donated, according to museum volunteer curator Darwin Braund.

"Buyers will find items to meet practically any interest, need, and checking account," said Braund. "Donors have been generous in supplying a wide variety of useful items to help generate funds to preserve the rich heritage of agriculture and rural living. Proceeds will benefit the Penn State Ag Alumni Endowment for the Pasto Agricultural Museum."

Items for bid include antique hand and farm tools, a scale, a butter churn, iron kettles, a miner's basket, newer and antique model tractors and trucks, meats from the University Meats Lab, and Penn State Creamery cheese. Farm production items include bull semen, a cow stall mat, 10 tons of shredded and baled newsprint for animal bedding, fencing supplies, alfalfa and corn seed, and subscriptions to Lancaster Farming and other newspapers.

Donations for fun and recreation include Penn State football tickets, Nittany Valley Symphony tickets, a cottage rental on Lake Raystown, and certificates for dinner.

Items that might make good gifts include an ox yoke, photographs and prints, gift baskets, fresh peaches, a hanging corner cupboard, antique pewter ice cream molds, milk bottles, Penn State sports balls and clothes, and DVDs.

Equine enthusiasts can find a Western Pleasure saddle in excellent condition. It was donated by the family of James P. Gallagher, in memory of the former Penn State extension specialist. It was his personal saddle with a rich medium oil color and silver trim. It has a 15 ½-inch seat.

Collectors of brass bells will have many choices. Included are four sets of sleigh bells on leather straps, three sets of Conestoga wagon bells (three-, four-, and five-bell sets), four sets of sleigh shaft bells, two sets of hames bells, and two school hand bells.

New this year will be a cash-and-carry section. Buyers of these items won't have to bid and wait until the end of the auction. They can pay cash for each specially marked item and take it with them upon completion of the transaction. Early arrivals will have the advantage in this section.

Bidding will close promptly at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 20. Successful bidders can pick up their items after payment is processed Wednesday.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days is conducted at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rockspring, nine miles southwest of State College on Rt. 45. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Aug. 19; 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Aug. 20; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Aug. 21. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free until Aug. 21 or visit the Ag Progress Days Website at http://apd.cas.psu.edu.

Dairy Promotion Groups Work Together At Ag Progress Days

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Dairy farmers are invited to the 2003 Ag Progress Days to learn more about how dairy checkoff programs help increase demand for dairy products.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Mid-East, and the Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association will host a joint exhibit at the annual event, Aug. 19-21, at Ag progress Days, Rockspring.

All dairy farmers and those affiliated with the dairy industry are invited to visit the joint exhibit in the Dairy and Livestock Tent #1 to learn more about both local and national dairy promotion efforts, including 3-A-Day of Dairy, milk vending, and more.

Pennsylvania dairy farmers are also invited to a free luncheon and informational meeting hosted by PDPP at noon, Thursday, Aug. 21, in the Special Events Building at Ag Progress Days. This will serve as the annual meeting for PDPP and will be a great opportunity for farmers to hear more about new dairy promotion initiatives.

Former Steeler Great Mel Blount At Ag Progress Days

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Former Pittsburgh Steelers all-star defensive back Mel Blount will give a demonstration of roping and riding at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 20 at Penn State's Ag Progress Days.

Blount, who will perform at the Equine Experience area, owns a ranch in Washington County, and uses a well-publicized equine program there to reach at-risk youth.

"Mel will be riding a cutting horse — that takes a talented horse and an accomplished rider," said Ann Swinker, associate professor of equine science, extension horse specialist and coordinator of the Equine Experience. "He will ride a horse that was bred to work cattle in addition to being well trained."

Visitors to the Equine Experience also will be entertained by unique horse performances and can learn about horse ownership, management, and horsemanship throughout Ag Progress Days, Aug. 19-21.

The Equine Experience, conducted by Penn State, the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA), the Pennsylvania Quarter Horse Association (PQHA) and other breed and industry groups, will offer horse enthusiasts new activities plus several popular attractions from past years.

A highlight is the AQHA 4aHORSE Test Ride. The program also will feature breed demonstrations, a learning center with educational displays, a Penn State Cooperative Extension educational venue, and demonstrations and seminars by horse experts. In cooperation with AQHA and PQHA, horses will be available for the public to ride throughout all three days of Ag Progress Days.

"This is a great opportunity for anyone who has always wanted to ride a horse, those thinking about becoming horse owners, or current horse owners who want to improve their horsemanship knowledge and skills," said Swinker.

4aHORSE is AQHA's referral service that helps horse enthusiasts find breeders, trainers, riding instructors, horse vacations and health and maintenance care for horses.

"We're delighted to give horse enthusiasts in the Pennsylvania area a chance to ride American quarter horses," said Bill Brewer, AQHA's executive vice president. "Ag Progress Days gives AQHA a chance to bring together the region's top horse experts in a single place."

"The Equine Experience is a great place to visit with horse business and organization representatives, attend seminars in the learning center and obtain educational information from Penn State, AQHA, and other breed and industry experts," said Swinker. "We urge everyone to come out, give an American Quarter Horse a test ride, and learn more about horses."

Program topics will include nutrition, management, hay selection, preventative veterinary care, selection of the proper horse, horse behavior, handling and training, breed clinics and much more. Visitors also may participate in a variety of activities including riding, driving and horse judging.

"The Equine Experience will be of interest to all horse enthusiasts, from potential or new owners and novice riders to experienced horse owners or professionals," said Swinker. "This event will showcase Pennsylvania's equine industry and the Penn State Equine Science Program. It is also a safe and exciting way to introduce the public to horses and horse-related activities."

On Tuesday, Aug. 20, events will feature discipline clinics for Friesians, American Quarter Horses, Thoroughbreds, Australian Stock Horses, Percherons and other breeds; a working sheep dog demonstration, and performances by the Keystone Dressage and Combined Training Drill Team and the Pennsylvania State Police Mounted Patrol. Expert horse trainers also will demonstrate handling and training techniques. New this year, the Keystone Polocrosse Team will demonstrate the sport of polocrosse.

A demonstration on trail riding techniques and proper use of Pennsylvania's public lands will be given all three days.

Highlights on Wednesday, Aug. 21, will include an American Quarter Horse versatility demonstration, Pennsylvania State Police Mounted Patrol performance, draft horse breed and driving demonstrations, including a six-horse hitch; a horse-handling and training demonstration; and breed clinics.

On Thursday, Aug. 22, in addition to the continued horse educational demonstrations, the Penn State/Pennsylvania Quarter Horse Association 4-H Equine Skillathon will start at 10 a.m. The skillathon is a multi-phase competition that allows young equestrians to demonstrate their skills in a showmanship and horse-judging competition, a written test and a series of identification stations.

For more information about the Equine Experience, visit the Penn State Equine Science web site at http:/www.das.psu.edu (click on horses), or contact the Penn State Equine Science Team at (814) 865-7810.

Ag Progress Highlights Forestry Careers

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Why should you care about our forests? Because they could hold a key to your future, according to an expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, who urges young people to come to Ag Progress Days Aug. 19-21 and find out more.

"Nearly 60 percent of Pennsylvania is still covered by forests, and Penn State's School of Forest Resources offers a variety of career choices related to forest ecosystems, the wildlife and fish that inhabit them and the trees themselves," said Jim Finley, professor of forest resources. "Many of those careers will be highlighted in fascinating displays, presentations, and hands-on activities in the College of Agricultural Sciences Exhibits Building.

"If you have an interest in forestry, wildlife and fisheries management, nature and the outdoors — and if you think a college degree and career in those fields might be perfect for you — don't miss 'Seeing the Forest for the Trees,' a look at Penn State's forestry, nature and wildlife research and educational programs," Finley said. "Pennsylvania's forests provide about 100,000 jobs and $5 billion for our state economy. Almost three-fourths of the forests are owned by private landowners and about one in nine households in the state own forestland."

At "Seeing the Forest for the Trees," prospective students will find professors, instructors, and current students eager to answer questions; specific information about majors relating to forestry, nature, wildlife and fish and wood products; staff who can detail scholarships and financial aid available; and fun activities, exhibits, tours, and interesting presentations.

Visitors can take a walk through the "Top 10 Common Trees in Pennsylvania," where they can test their knowledge and identify the state's top 10 most common tree species. Landowners will have an opportunity to see how their forests change over time with a computer model that depicts forest stand cutting and stand manipulation. A hands-on display about tree DNA will allow the viewer to go through the first and last steps of isolating DNA.

Exhibits featuring the American chestnut will show visitors the difference between healthy and unhealthy tree specimens along with other chestnut species, and will illustrate how scientists may have finally beaten the blight that virtually wiped out native chestnuts in Pennsylvania. Adjacent to the building, visitors will have a chance to look inside a log, seeing the wood it yields. They even can put a bid on the lumber, perhaps taking it home to build their own Pennsylvania red oak furniture.

Informative presentations in the building's theatre will feature such topics as "Visualizing Your Forest," a computer software program that shows how decisions made today affect the forest in the future; "Forests in DNA," a look at what tree molecular geneticists do with DNA once isolated; and "The History of Deer in Pennsylvania," a look at the changes Pennsylvania deer have faced as the state has become more urbanized and less agriculturally based.

The schedule of presentations in the College Exhibits Building theatre follows:

Pennsylvania Youth Excel In Public Speaking Contest, Cow Awards At Holstein Convention

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Youth from the Mid-Atlantic area, Pennsylvania in particular, took home numerous awards for excellence in public speaking, as well as top breeding and production awards at the recent National Junior Holstein Convention in Winston-Salem, N.C..

More than 400 youth gathered from across the U.S. for the event. Ranging in age from nine to 21, these youth competed in numerous contests, held a junior forum, and mingled with other youth during fun-filled activities, all with the intent to strengthen their dairy knowledge while building friendships for the future.

The National Prepared Public Speaking contest drew a total of 38 contestants this year among the three divisions. Speeches were given on topics related to the Holstein and dairy industries. Each contestant was judged on organization of material, power of expression, voice, stage presence, and response to questions within an allotted time.

Winners were announced as follows: Junior (ages 9-13): 1. Patrick Lundy, New York 2. Brett Shelley, Pennsylvania 3. Carissa Doody, Maryland; Intermediate (ages 14-16): 1. Clayton Wood, Pennsylvania; 2. Rachel Ebert, Pennsylvania 3. Allison Waggoner, South Carolina; Senior (ages 17-21): 1. Sarah Olson, Minnesota 2. Miranda Miller, Oregon 3. Raechel Kilgore, Pennsylvania.

States also had the chance to participate in the scrapbook contest. The small division is for states with less than 200 national junior members while the large division is for states with more than 200 members. An anonymous panel of judges evaluated the scrapbooks on news clippings, photos, organization, originality and variety of activities, and the cover.

Twelve total entries were judged. Winners in the small division were: 1. Virginia, 2. Iowa, and 3. Oregon. Placings in the large division were: 1. Illinois 2. Minnesota, and 3. Maryland.

Cow awards were presented to junior members in four different categories: Breeder of an Excellent, Progressive Breeder, 30,000 Pounds, and 150,000 Pounds Lifetime Production.

Junior members who have bred a cow classified "Excellent" were Kyle Burdette, Pennsylvania; Emily Cloninger, Pennsylvania; Jody Endvick, Wisconsin; Daniel Hardesty, Virginia; Thomas Harwood, Pennsylvania; Ava Koebel, Michigan; Maureen Lee, Wisconsin; Chase Miles, Pennsylvania; Brenda Nelson, Minnesota; Erik Nelson, Minnesota; Amanda Sell, Wisconsin; Emily Stuff, Pennsylvania; Joshua Whitehill, Kansas; Kimberly Wilson, Missouri; and Clayton Wood, Pennsylvania (two animals).

The National Progressive Breeder award recognizes high production and classification standards for each cow bred and owned by a junior member. Every cow qualifying receives a star, and an accumulation of five stars or more enables the member to be recognized at the National Convention. One Star winners were: Dakota Barrett, Vermont; Jessica Barrett, Vermont; Gregory Byham, Pennsylvania; Thomas J. Ewing, Missouri; Matthew Hardesty, Virginia; April Hartle, Pennsylvania; Kimberly Herbst, Maryland; Christi Knight, Pennsylvania; Justin London, Pennsylvania; Cindi Mearkle, Pennsylvania; Jamie Mearkle, Pennsylvania; John Nathan Miller, Missouri; Amanda Nelson, New York; Aubrey Schwartzbeck, Maryland; Austin Schwartzbeck, Maryland; Katie Tessier, South Carolina; Allison Waggoner, South Carolina; Kimberly Wilson, Missouri, and Corbin Wood, Pennsylvania.

Two Star winners were Emily Cloninger, Pennsylvania; Andrew Herbst, Maryland; Nicole Hosto, Wisconsin; Lea McCullough, Wisconsin; Kelly Lee, Wisconsin; Chase Miles, Pennsylvania; and Clayton Wood, Pennsylvania.

Three Star winners included Vivian Briggs, Maine; T. Jason Ewing, Missouri; Ava Koebel, Michigan; Andrew Lenkaitis, Illinois; Brenda Nelson, Minnesota; Erik Nelson, Minnesota; Brent Schuler, Pennsylvania; Jason Troutman, Pennsylvania and Carrie Wack, Pennsylvania.

Four Star winners were Bethany Barrett, Vermont; Benjamin Dorshorst, Wisconsin; and John Douglass Hardesty, III, Virginia. Adam Raney of Pennsylvania was the Five Star winner.

Eight Star winners were Charann Foster, Pennsylvania and Thomas Harwood, Pennsylvania. Jessica Whitehill, Kansas, was the Nine Star winner.

The National 30,000 Pound Cow award is given to junior members who have bred and owned a cow producing over 30,000 pounds of milk in 305 days or less. Winners awarded this year included Jesse Bitler, Pennsylvania; Vivian Briggs, Maine; Amy Hartle, Pennsylvania; Troy Hartle, Pennsylvania; Thomas Harwood, Pennsylvania; Kimberly Herbst, Maryland; Nicole Hosto, Wisconsin; Sarah Krall, Pennsylvania; Jason Manross, Pennsylvania; Cole McLaughlin, Pennsylvania; Matt Mosholder, Pennsylvania; Erik Nelson, Minnesota; Jeff Orr, Pennsylvania; Kendel Reist, Pennsylvania; Kendra Reist Trego, Pennsylvania; Megan Schantz, Pennsylvania; Brent Schuler, Pennsylvania; Stephanie Stout, Illinois; Emily Stuff, Pennsylvania; Jessica Whitehill, Kansas; and Joshua Whitehill, Kansas.

The 150,000 Pound Lifetime Production award goes to junior members who owned an animal producing over 150,000 pounds of milk in her lifetime. Awards this year went to Nathan Bingham, Vermont; Kevin Caldwell, Pennsylvania; Rebecca Cloninger, Pennsylvania; T. Jason Ewing, Missouri; Amy Hartle, Pennsylvania; Thomas Harwood, Pennsylvania; Daniel Krall, Pennsylvania; Andrew Morrill, New Hampshire; Kimberley Morrill, New Hampshire; Christopher Potts, Virginia; Kendel Reist, Pennsylvania and Jessica Whitehill, Kansas.

CAROLYN MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — For the second year in a row, Randy Calkins has captured supreme champion honors at the Troy Fair Youth Dairy Show. His four-year-old Holstein, Calkins Farm Pete Berachah has also been the grand champion Holstein in the junior show three years in a row, a feat that Calkins is proud of and a fitting way to spend his last year as a youth exhibitor.

Showing for Calkins did not always mean stepping into the winner's circle, however. "The first year I showed, I had the reserve junior champion. After that, it went downhill fast for me. The last three years have changed that around," said Calkins.

Calkins' cow is scored 91 points and is out of a homebred bull. She stood in the Calkins Farm family's show string along with 19 other animals, nine of which also belonged to Calkins. Also in the string was a winter yearling out of the supreme champion which placed second in her class.

When not showing animals at the fair, Calkins works at his home farm near Troy where they milk about 80 Holsteins. Even though he is a retiring FFA member, Calkins will pass on the showmanship torch to his cousins who already have a great start in the show ring.

"My cousin showed the honorable mention junior champion this year," said Calkins. "We'll still come to the fair."

The two-ring show was judged by Rick Verbeek, of Tunkhannock, and Dave Castrogiovanni, of Montrose, and included nearly 200 entries from eight breeds.

The grand champion Jersey was 5TS Scarletts Wave, an aged cow owned by Marc Waltemeyer. The reserve grand champion was Brent Sparling's 4-year-old, D-Andrews Montana Bride. The junior champion Jersey was Frosty Valley Brody Betsy, a spring yearling owned by Scott Harkness. Maria Noble's Nobledale Perimeter Vernell, a fall yearling, was named the reserve junior champion.

Samuel Cole took both the grand champion and reserve grand champion honors in the Milking Shorthorn show. White's TC-3, a dry cow, was named the senior and grand champion and SR Combo Theme IC-4, a fall yearling, was named the junior and reserve grand champion.

One Dutch Belt, Cookie Dough, owned by Shon Hackett Jr., was also named the champion of the show.

In the Red and White show, Kelsey Carlsen's senior 2-year-old, Frith-jof Tiger P-Red, was named the grand champion and her fall calf, Frith-jof Tory Raquel - Red, was named the junior champion and the reserve grand champion. The reserve senior champion was Milkworth Sov Chula - Red - ET, owned by Randall Shores. Tory Carlsen exhibited the reserve junior champion, Frith-jof Adam Sherry PC-Red, a winter calf.

Delaware Auction Brings Record Prices

GLASGOW, Del. — Believed to be the largest on-site public auction sale in Delaware history, Evard B. Hall and associates, of Evard B. Hall Auctioneers, Newark, Del. conducted a sale for Mrs. Anne M. Barczewski and family recently in Glasgow, Del.

The property, known as LaGrange, most recently the home of West End Dairy and the Barczewski family, dates back to 1815, and provided the backdrop for an outstanding sale, with many record or near record prices being paid for furniture, decorative arts, silver, glass, redware, stoneware, and paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, collected by Mrs. Barczewski during more than 50 years.

Attended by more than 800 registered bidders, from as far away as Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, and Vermont, the highlights were Saturday, during the catalog portion of the sale, which contained 589 cataloged lots and an additional 204 uncataloged lots, some of which were carried over from Friday's sale.

Auction goer's breathed a collective gasp when auctioneer James Gibson knocked down an extremely rare pair of Chippendale andirons for $80,000. Bidding was intense among five determined bidders until approximately $45,000 when the field narrowed and the top bid of $80,000 was reached. The andirons, with no signature apparent, are believed to be very similar to a pair auctioned previously by Sotheby's.

Auction prices paid included a 1923 Kissel automobile, $25,000; a 1959 Cadillac 62, $20,500; a painted milk cupboard, $8,000; inlaid Federal knife boxes, $5000; various assorted cow creamers, $40 to $800; a sewing stand, $7,700; a Federal serpentine chest, $1,800; a cherry chest of drawers, $900; a Hepplewhite four-drawer chest, $4,000; and an early blown glass bottle, $1,100.

Hall conducts and specializes in on-site auction sales in and around the Tri-state area, as well as appraising for estates and insurance purposes. Phone (302) 368-0261.

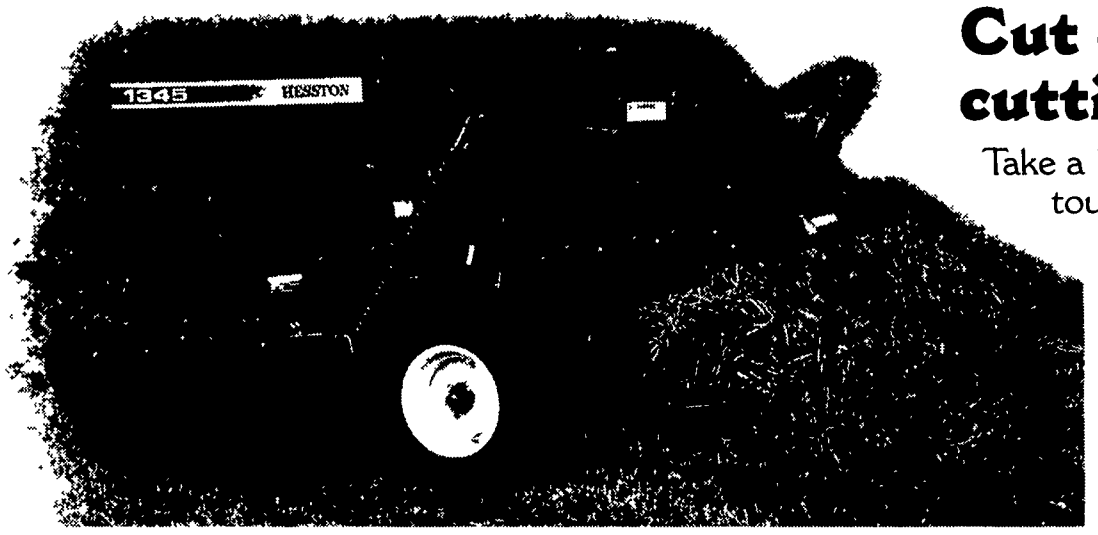
Hesston Disc Mower Conditioners



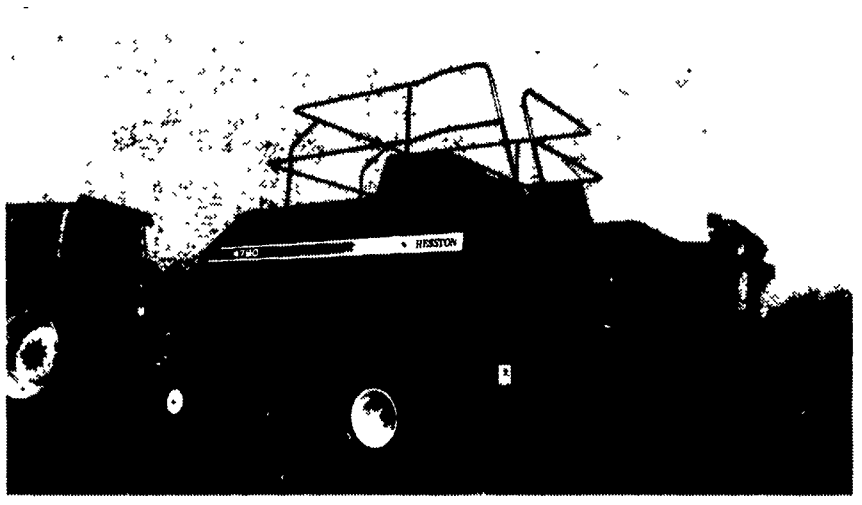
Cut corners without cutting quality.

Take a 12-foot swipe through your toughest crop. Cut square corners. Cut on either side of the tractor. Maneuver around obstacles. You can do it all while making quality hay with the Hesston® 1345 Disc Mower Conditioner.

Hesston Balers

Driving The Future Of Hay Production

Put all your top quality hay into an advanced Hesston Model 4760 big baler for the perfect bale package whether you're feeding or hauling. The 4760 produces 3'x3' bales up to 8 feet long. Bale weights can reach 1,000 pounds in dry hay and 1,500 in silage crops. The 4760 gives you unmatched capacity, outstanding versatility and uncompromising reliability.



So, if your operation demands the best, take a look at Hesston. We think you'll see that our advanced hay and forage equipment will benefit your operation today.

Winners Named At Troy Open Colored Breed Show

CAROLYN MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — The William Eick of Windy Acres Jerseys, Troy, captured both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners in the Jersey breed at the 2003 Troy Fair open colored breed show, while Nobledale Farm, of Gillett captured all four champion ribbons.

Mifflin County 4-H Archers Capture Gold

Three Mifflin County archers who comprised the Pennsylvania 4-H archery team won the team championship at the recent National 4-H Shooting Sports Games at the NRA Whittington Center in Raton, N.M.

Fifteen states were represented at the competition by four-member teams. The Pennsylvania team — Brad Specht, Joe Young and Jonas Glick — overcame adversity when their fourth teammate from Montgomery County was unable to attend. Ordinarily, the top three archers' scores are used to tally the total team scores. Without a fourth member, every shot by Glick, Specht and Young was counted.

"There were only three of us, so we had to focus on every shot," said Specht. Added Glick, "We had to be on our toes all week."

Along with the lack of a team member, the trio had to face challenging weather and equipment failure. The wind was blowing 30-35 mph during one event — "too strong for shooting archery," said Young. Specht's yolk broke on his bow, and he had to continue shooting even though the strings kept breaking.

As a team, the archers placed first overall; first in 3-D archery, in which they shot at targets shaped like animals; second in FITA (Federation of International Target Archery), which had targets with a 122-centimeter face at 50 and 60 meters and an 80-centimeter face at 30 and 40 meters; and second in the field round, which consisted of black and white targets marked with different distances. Specht earned second place overall individual, first place individual FITA and second place individual in field. Glick earned third in individual FITA.

Cumberland Co. 4-H Light Horse/Pony Club

July 23, the Cumberland County 4-H Light Horse and Pony Club brought to order their monthly meeting at Long Acres, in Carlisle at 7 p.m.

President Megghan Michaud called the meeting to order, Mindy Williams took roll call, and Michelle Thomas read the treasurer's report. The Pledges were then said. Samantha O'Malley led the American Pledge and Kristan Rumer led the 4-H Pledge. Following the pledges, the members who made it to the District VI Horse Show told everyone what class(es) they made it in.

Albert Barrick talked about the topic of the meeting, Draft Horse Driving. Alina Lebo talked about the Open Horse Show, July 13.

Coaches, Barb Rebert (Horse Judging) and Becky Barrick (Hippology) introduced the members who will be representing the Cumberland County 4-H Horse Club at the 2003 Penn State 4-H Achievement Days. The senior team for Horse Judging is Janine Guido, Carrie McLaughlin, Megghan Michaud, and Michelle Thomas. The senior team for Hippology is Brittney Books, Kristin Egolf, Alina Lebo, and Kristan Rumer.

The leaders made brief comments, and the meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were provided.

There will be no August meeting, but the club's first meeting of the new club year will be Sept. 24 at the Trinity Fellowship Hall in Walnut Bottom. Horse safety will be the topic of the meeting.

If you are interested in joining the 4-H Horse Club, contact the Cumberland County Extension Office at (717) 240-6500.

Susquehanna County Sizzlin' Steaks 4-H Club

The Sizzlin' Steaks 4-H Club met at Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell's house, July 17. Aaron opened the meeting with the pledges being said. Aaron gave the treasurer's report. Christina gave the secretary's report and took roll call.

Aaron did his demonstration on how water is better for you than Gatorade. Christina showed us how to pot a plant, and Olivia showed the group how to make pizzas by using Hungry Jack biscuits for the crust. We painted tubs for our beautification spot. Then the group wrote a thank you note to Mr. Burman.

When we were finished with the work we enjoyed the pizzas made by Olivia and cupcakes made by Mrs. Mitchell.

Bradford County Conducts Livestock Roundup

TROY (Bradford Co.) — The 2003 Bradford County 4-H/FFA Livestock Roundup took place, Monday, July 21, at the Troy Fairgrounds in Troy.

The Roundup began at 9 a.m. with the 4-H/FFA Beef Show. Grand Champion Beef was exhibited by Hannah Alford of the Champion Chargers 4-H Club. Reserve Grand Champion was exhibited by Jerred Williams of the Northeast Ag and Home Economics Club.

Grand Champion Showman was Jade Wood of the Cheesesteaks 4-H Club. Champion Fitter was Jerred Williams.

Seventy pigs were then shown. Grand Champion was shown by Betsy Hennip of the Udder Bunch 4-H Club. Reserve Champion was exhibited by Kayla White of the Champion Chargers 4-H Club.

First place lightweight pigs included Bruce Hildebrant of the North Towanda 4-H Club, Marc Waltmyer of Udder Bunch 4-H, and Korey White of Champion Chargers. First place mediumweights were Shelby Crawford, and Betsy Hennip of Udder Bunch.

In the heavyweight division, first place winners were Stephen Laudermilch of Udder Bunch, Vance Spencer of Granville Squealers, and Jamie Crawford of Udder Bunch.

Champion Showman was exhibited by Marc Waltmyer of the Udder Bunch 4-H Club. Champion Fitter was won by Caleb Gore of the North Towanda 4-H Club.

In the 4-H Market Lamb Show Grand Champion Lamb was exhibited by Kayla White of the Champion Chargers 4-H Club. Reserve Grand Champion was exhited by Jackie Blade of Kountry Kritters 4-H Club. Champion Showman was Kayla White and Champion Fitter was Eileen Elliott of the East Troy 4-H Club.

In the Junior Division, Master Fitter went to Allison Fritsch of Champion Chargers and Master Showman to Jerrit Wolfe of Champion Chargers.

4-H Teens Attend Leadership Conference

ANNVILLE (Lebanon Co.) — 4-H teens throughout Pennsylvania attended a 4-H Teen Leadership Conference, July 8-11, at Lebanon Valley College.

Teens from Cumberland County who attended were Britney Books, Tori Fuller, and Alina Lebo.

The teens arrived on campus Tuesday afternoon, and were assigned a room and a group. Keynote speakers Elio Chiarelli and J.D. Dunbar talked to the groups about leadership. There was a dance and hangout later that night.

On Wednesday, the groups attended four Care Leadership Workshops, which included: Games Leadership, Public Speaking/Communication, Citizenship and Civic Duty, and Communicating in a Crazy Mixed-up World.

Groups also attended two Leisure Education Workshops, which included: Shape Dancing, Hose Play, Candle Making, GPS/GIS, and Aerogami. Afterwards, everyone enjoyed a nice meal and a play (The Music Man) at the Dutch Apple Dinner Theatre.

On Thursday, the groups attended a Recreational Leadership Seminar. All afternoon they prepared for the Group Leadership Activity and their Group Leadership Challenges. Then they visited the Arnold Sports Center where they could swim, play basketball, volleyball, or walleyball.

On Friday, the groups headed to Derry Township Middle School for their Leadership Activity. After discussing their Group Leadership Experience, the 4-Hers headed for home.

The D.E.S. 4-H Club recently conducted two meetings — one at the Elk Lake Fire Hall and the other at the Kiefer's home.

At the earlier meeting, Nick Pease called the meeting to order and Nick Mattocks and Ryan Depew led the pledges. Alyssa Sprout read the minutes from the last meeting and Treasurer Amanda Miner gave her report. Members discussed their participation in the March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon. Andy Miner, Steven Rezykowski and Jenna Sprout did their demonstrations. Members discussed writing letters to the troops, flowerbeds at the Harford Fair and the club day camp at Clark's farm.

At the most recent meeting after pledges were said, members discussed the Harford Fair clean-up and flowerbeds. Nick Pease, Allison Kiefer and Kenny Kiefer did their demonstrations. They discussed a club picnic. Club Leader, Sue Pease handed out record books. The next meeting will be at the Clark Farm.

Paws and Tails 4-H Club

The Paws & Tails 4-H Club has heated up for the summer. Already it has participated in a parade and started plans for more exciting things. In the parade they had a banner leading them. Then, behind them they had the members of the club marching with their dogs obediently beside them. Each member had a shirt on that had a logo and a picture supporting the service dogs. It was quite a sight to see.

The club members which are competing in Penn State's 4-H Days dog bowl have started studying. They study during their regular meeting every Monday night and one more time during the week. Plus, they spend time at home reinforcing what they learned.

Susquehanna Co. 4-H Irish Hill Shamrocks

The Irish Hill Shamrocks 4-H Club recently met. There were one leader, five members, and two parents present. The club discussed One Day Camp, 4-H projects to go to the Harford Fair and community service ideas. Members also talked about their projects and gave two riflery demonstrations.

Susquehanna County 4-H News North Jackson 4-H Club

North Jackson Agricultural 4-H club recently met at the Onyons' home. The meeting officially began at 7 p.m. with pledges. Then, Beth Giangrieco read the secretaries report and Amanda Nowicki informed the club of the finances.

Abby Onyon took care of old business. Jonathan Onyon told the club what Camp Brule was like and some of the activities he had taken part in. His favorite activities were swimming and shooting sports.

Abby Onyon reminded dairy members about the upcoming dairy camp.

Sandy told all dairy members that their project books would be marked incomplete if not turned in on time.

July 12 at Steven's farm, all new livestock members were required to attend the meat Quality Insurance Program if they are planning to sell their animals after the judging. July 23, there will be a one-day trip to Baltimore Inner Harbor for any interested members.

July 29 is the trip to Penn State. Everyone was asked to come to the 'RODEO" on July 13, it was a chance for 4-H members to go behind the scenes and lean about the stock and the contestants and also to meet the riders.

After all the announcements were read, the demonstrations started.

Megan Carey went first; her demonstration was on different household items that could be used to take care of a horse. Some of the items include, baby powder, fly spray, V05 shampoo and conditioner, a hairbrush, aspirin, benadryl. .

Next Eileen Walker showed the club how to do Irish dancing; her dress was handmade by her mom and her aunt. She told the club that she has been doing Irish dancing for 3 years. After that Brittany Zebroski brought her two dogs and told us about them and what breeds they were.

Aaron Onyon did his demonstration next on discus throwing, he threw the discus for the club to show them how it's done. John Onyon did his presentation on how music around the world is important and how it differs with culture and he told the club why he thought music is important. Abby Onyon rapped the meeting.

Sandy Pavelski told the club that the decorating for the dairy barn at the Harford fair would be held the Sunday before the fair begins. Bonnie reminded club members that all projects were due in the 4-H building by Aug. 14.

The meeting was adjourned and snacks were served.

Susquehanna Co. 4-H North Jackson 4-H Club

The North Jackson Ag 4-H group recently met at the Walkers' home. The meeting started out as always with pledges. Then Beth Giangrieco took roll call and Abby Onyon read the minutes of the last meeting. She reminded the club of the July 23 trip to Baltimore and also about Camp Brule from June 21-25. Amanda Nowicki read the treasurer's report.

Megan Carey read the treasurer's report for the horse club and asked any horse club members to help out with the car wash at the Tunkhannock Wal-Mart in the parking lot on July 12.

Mrs. Nowicki reminded the club to bring in recipes for the club cookbook that she is trying to get organized. AJ Carey told the club about his third place at the shooting sports fun day. Megan Carey also told us about the last county council meeting that she attended and informed the club of an upcoming dance at the Montrose Fire Hall. Trish told the club what horse camp was all about and what kinds of things she did there. She said that fourteen kids from our club had showed up, which was more kids than usual.

Sandy Pavelski reminded all livestock members that it was mandatory that they attend this Meet Quality Assurance program on July 28 if they wish to sell their livestock after the judging. Dairy Camp this year will be June 30-July 6.

Demonstrations started off with Ashley Latner on her pet guinea pig, Refus. She told the club how to properly take care of a guinea pig. Then Katie Onyon did her demonstration on Canning. Michael Robbs and his assistant Cory did their demonstration on the different kinds of fishing lures. Luke Jenkins and Amanda Nowicki did their demonstrations on their dairy goats. Lyle Foster did his presentation on his A-Z dinosaur book.

York Co. 4-H Lamb Club

The York County 4-H Lamb Club meeting took place June 7 in the new barn at the 4-H Center in Bair.

Several members brought lambs to practice showmanship and were given showing advice by Travis Flory.

Cumberland Co. 4-H Dairy Club Prepares For Summer Shows

The Cumberland County 4-H Dairy club met on June 9 to prepare for their summer cattle shows. John Ocker and Galen Smith reviewed some fitting and showing tips with the members. This session will help each and every member to show their dairy cattle at a higher level.

John Ocker also reviewed the rules and regulations for the Shippensburg Fair and other area shows coming up.

President Brian Nailor called the meeting to order at the Walton Farm. Mark Hammond then led us in the Pledge of Alegiance followed by Richard Beatty leading us in the 4-H Pledge. Sarah Wickard, filling in for Tori Fuller, called the roll of members. Each member responded with their favorite summertime activity. Tori then read the minutes from the May meeting, followed by Mark giving the treasury report.

Under new business Brian informed the club about the 4-H night retreat, if we were interested we were supposed to get the information from our news and notes. The county round-up is August 1 and entries should be coming in the mail. Kathy along with Galen asked for people to participate in the judging school coming up at the Brown Cow Farm. Kathy then gave a treasury report on the round-up fund. The Dairy Promotion is asking for donations and the club donated $25 under Amy Kaucher's motion.

Janel Zinn gave a demonstration to the club on the Smokey Mountains and the black bears that live there. John Ocker also told the club he sold his cows and has show supplies for sale.

The nation's largest dairy show, the All-American, is scheduled at the new and renovated Harrisburg Farm Show Complex Sept. 21-25. To highlight the event, Lancaster Farming has scheduled its annual All-American Show issue Sept. 20. Along with the issue will be family farm features on who is exhibiting. Also planned for pages of Section A: the complete All-American schedule and additional highlights

Susquehanna County 4-H Borderline 4-H Club

The Borderline 4-H Club has had a busy summer. They have had many fun meetings where they practiced with their livestock animals, had cookouts and swam. At one meeting 4-H Coordinator Joe Fuller came to fill club members in on updates for this 4-H year.

The Borderline members are doing a community service of painting a 4-H sign and planting flowers in Choconut. They also cleaned up the cemetery by the sign.

Members also attended a livestock clinic at the Edward's farm. The swine people learned the proper way to wash their animals. The sheep kids learned how to sheer their animals and the beef kids learned a lot of beef related skills. After games and refreshments the kids took a test on what they had learned earlier that day.

The Borderline 4-H members are busy preparing their project animals for the Harford Fair.

Wayne County 4-H Dairy Judges Compete At Penn State

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — Wayne County was well represented at the recent Penn State Dairy Science Club's Spring Invitational Dairy Cattle Judging Contest.

The "Wayne County Senior 4-H Dairy Judging Team" consisting of Steve Rickard (Cherry Ridge 4-H Club), Doug Kennedy (Laurella 4-H Club), and Christine Wagner (Explorers 4-H Club), placed eighth high team overall in this age group.

The "Wayne County Intermediate "A" 4-H Dairy Judging Team" consisting of Kathryn Nebzydoski, Ann Nebzydoski, Ashley Dix, and Ed Howell, all from the Pleasant Mount Go-Getters 4-H Club, placed third high team overall in this age group. York County FFA Annual Banquet

The York County FFA conducted its annual banquet and meeting, May 14 at St. Paul (Lebanon) Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall.

Andy Stein, president, called the meeting to order and Sherry Urey, chaplain offered a prayer.

Following the meal, awards program took place. There were 76 FFA members, guests, and advisors present from four of the six schools with active FFA chapters in York County.

The County FFA White Rose Degree was presented to Steve Grove and Lauren Hawn of the Dover FFA Chapter. Those from Red Lion Area receiving the Degree were Brandy Bankert, Allen Bowman, Lisa Jones, and Kimberly Pomraning. The Star White Rose recipient was Brandy Bankert.

State Reporter, Julie Flinchbaugh, graduate of the Eastern York FFA Chapter, gave a motivational speech and congradulatory remarks to those receiving awards. Awards were given to members who placed first in their contests this past year.

The past years officers were: President, Andy Stein; Vice President, Lane Innerst; Secretary, Kelly Jo Bankert; Treasurer, Hope Long; Reporter, Jamie McCann; Sentinel, Barbara Richardson; Chaplain, Sherry Urey; and Parlimentarian, Brandy Bankert.

The 2003-2004 year officers were then installed. They are: President, Rick Jones; Vice President, Lisa Jones; Secretary, Brandy Bankert; Assistant Secretary, Suzann Pomraning; Treasurer, Lee Baumgardner; Reporter, Cory Thompson; Assistant Reporter, Kim Resh; Sentinel, Kimberly Pomraning; Chaplain, Amy Stauffer; Parliamentarian, Joshua Bailey; and Student Advisor, Dustin Altland.

Big Spring FFA In Regional Contest

The Big Spring FFA Chapter recently competed in the South Central Regional level of Parliamentary Procedure. Big Spring will move on from the regionals onto the state competition, June 10-12.

Only the top two winners from the regional level move on. The results of the six FFA chapters which competed in the contest are Big Spring, first; Dover, second; Cumberland Valley, third; Juniata Valley received fourth; Chambersburg, fifth; and Southern Huntington, sixth.

"It was a tough contest and I'm glad we practiced a lot," Sara Gutshall said. "The practices were never the best of our potential. The individual studying helped us too but what is a team if they don't practice together," said Megan Kutz.

In another contest, the Big Spring FFA Chapter president, Bernie Nace, participated in extemporaneous speaking. She placed sixth out of nine contestants.

Cedar Crest Participates In Speaking Contests

The annual Eastern Region FFA Speaking Contests were recently conducted at the Millcreek Lutheran Church in Newmanstown. FFA members from Cedar Crest participated in Parliamentary Procedure, FFA Prepared Speaking, and Conservation Speaking.

Parliamentary Procedure Team members included Tara Miller, Jess Rose, Kayla Messer, Courtney Long, Katie Barlet, Alyna Galli, and Amanda Kercher. The team placed second in the region. In the FFA Senior Prepared Speaking contest, Jess Rose placed first.

The Parliamentary Procedure Team and Jess Rose will represent Cedar Crest at the state contests at Penn State University, June 10-12.

Big Spring FFA Chapter

The Big Spring FFA Chapter is starting an Alumni/Support Association. The first meeting will take place on June 19 at 7 p.m. at the old High School ag room.

At the meeting, there will be an election of officers, a setting of by-laws, and planning of the next meeting, and activities. Alumni of the Big Spring FFA or supporters are urged to come and to spread the word around. Any questions, call (717) 776-2459 and talk to the ag teachers.

State Officials Offer New Tool To Help Homeowners, Farmers Eliminate Mosquito Breeding Areas

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Urging Pennsylvanians to take personal protection measures to help lower the incidence of West Nile virus, officials from the departments of health, environmental protection, and agriculture encouraged the use of a new treatment material to help eliminate mosquito breeding areas on homeowner properties.

"I urge everyone to eliminate standing water wherever possible on their properties. Small, shallow stagnant pools of water are among the best mosquito breeding habitats. Getting rid of water in flower pots, birdbaths, buckets, swimming pool covers and old tires around your home can significantly reduce your chance of being bitten," said Environmental Protection Secretary Kathleen McGinty, who noted that mosquitoes will start to breed in standing water after four or five days.

The officials advised homeowners that Bti, the naturally occurring bacteria that state and counties have used for several years to kill mosquito larvae, is becoming widely available for public use. Bti is available for use in small areas, such as birdbaths, and in larger areas, such as ornamental pools or small ponds.

At the home of Jack and Joan Peck just outside of Harrisburg in Dauphin County, officials demonstrated how to apply the material, which is sold under several brand names at various stores selling outdoor supplies. Bti is a naturally occurring bacteria that attacks the digestive system of mosquito and black fly larvae, killing them in a matter of hours. Bti is not harmful to people, pets, other aquatic animals, or plants, and dissolves after a few hours if not consumed by insect larvae.

"Already this year, we have eight confirmed human cases of the virus in Pennsylvania," said Health's Director of Epidemiology Joel Hersh. "There has been one death reported in the southern United States. This should serve as a reminder that all of us need to do what we can to lessen our chances of being infected through a mosquito bite. Containing West Nile virus is something we have to work together to do."

Hersh also recommends wearing insect repellant with DEET, wearing long sleeves and long pants when possible, and avoiding mosquito-infested areas at dawn and dusk, which are the times of day mosquitoes are most likely to bite people.

"Farmers and horse owners also play a key role in controlling West Nile virus. I would ask farmers and horse owners to eliminate standing water where they can on their properties," said Nan Hanshaw-Roberts, a veterinarian at the Department of Agriculture. "They should also consult with their veterinarians about the vaccine that is available for horses."

State officials recommended a number of tips to help eliminate mosquito- breeding areas around the home and farm, including:

• Disposing of tin cans, plastic containers, ceramic pots or similar water-holding containers that have collected on your property.

• Paying attention to discarded tires. Stagnant water in tires are where most mosquitoes breed.

• Having clogged roof gutters cleaned every year, particularly if the leaves from surrounding trees have a tendency to plug up the drains. Roof gutters can produce millions of mosquitoes each season.

• Turning over plastic wading pools when not in use. Stagnant water in a wading pool becomes a place for mosquitoes to breed.

• Turning over wheelbarrows and not letting water stagnate in birdbaths. Both provide breeding habitats for domestic mosquitoes.

• Aerating ornamental pools or stocking them with fish. Water gardens can become major mosquito producers if they are allowed to stagnate. Clean and chlorinate swimming pools not in use. A swimming pool left untended by a family on vacation for a month can produce enough mosquitoes to result in neighborhood-wide complaints. Mosquitoes may even breed in the water that collects on pool covers.

• Keeping water in buckets and troughs fresh and clean.

• Using landscaping to eliminate standing water that collects on your property. Mosquitoes may breed in any puddle that lasts for more than four days.

Report Gives Dairy Producer Management Benchmarks

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Dairy producers can measure their management and compare their outcomes with other farmers from the newly released "2003 Dairy Herd Analysis," produced by a collaborative effort of Pennsylvania Farm Bureau's MSC Business Services Division, AgChoice Farm Credit, and Mid-Atlantic Farm Credit and 1st Pioneer Farm Credit.

The analysis presents an overall picture of the state and regional dairy landscape based on data collected from dairy farms across the northeastern U.S.

"We had been compiling a state report for the past 30 years," said Mike Evanish, manager of PFB's MSC Business Services. "However, as a result of our alliance with AgChoice and MidAtlantic Farm Credit, we are able to produce a summary that compares our Pennsylvania data with data from all over the Northeast, providing better insight for the agriculture community. The result is a very informative management tool, presented in what we believe is an interesting format designed to help farmers improve their bottom line. The Dairy Herd analysis is a completely new way of presenting data. It looks at a farm from a corporate perspective, where the operator is paid first."

The heart of the report is the benchmark figures that are separated by herd size. The analysis also enables comparison with the top 10 percent of Pennsylvania's dairy producers and dairy farmers from the Northeast.

The analysis features articles by three producers:

• John Hess, owner of Jo-Bo Holsteins in Gettysburg. The farm has been contracting to improve the milk price since 1999. Hess discusses his belief that dairy farmers need to take individual responsibility for managing milk price volatility. "One way to survive in volatile marketing conditions is to manage risk by hedging, using forward contracts or futures contracts. These techniques simply shift the risk of price changes in the cash market to the buyer (or the futures markets), as many grain farmers have done over the years," said Hess.

The analysis includes charts showing the milk price differential between no contracts and using contracts. In 2002 the average price without a contract was $13.38 per hundredweight versus $15 per hundredweight with contracts.

• Dale Hoffman, owner of Kar-Dale Acres in Shinglehouse. Hoffman was a founding member of the Potter County Milk Producers Association (PCMP) in January 2001. "Thrive, not survive. That's the motto we decided to use when we were forming the group to share ideas, discuss problems, and find solution to help us thrive in the dairy industry," said Hoffman.

• Marlin Hoff, owner of Coldsprings Farms in New Windsor, Md. Coldsprings Farms average more than 24,000 pounds of milk, 900 pounds of fat, and 770 pounds of protein, with a herd that is 94 percent homebred. "When I started milking in 1963, a hundredweight of milk could buy you almost four hours of labor. Today, you can buy about 40 minutes with those same hundred pounds," said Hoff. "That paints a tough picture for farmers starting today. But, the good news is that dairy cows are more productive and more efficient than ever before and these superior genetics can help cash flow during the tough times." He believes that proper genetic decisions equals profits.

Lou Moore, a professor of ag economics at the Penn State University, also authors an article on the future of the dairy industry.

Nominations Begin For FSA County Committees

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Hollis D. Baker, Acting County Executive Director for USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) in Lebanon County announced the nomination process for FSA county committee members began Friday, Aug. 1.

"The FSA county committee system gives farmers a grassroots link to the local administration of our Agency's programs," said Baker. "It is critical that all producers who are eligible to participate in our programs take part in the election by voting or becoming candidates themselves."

The local area of (Lebanon) is served by a three person county committee which supervises local FSA operations and makes critical decisions on how programs are applied in their communities. Committee members use their knowledge of local agricultural operations and issues to make program decisions regarding price support, commodity loans, conservation, and disaster assistance. Members serve three-year terms.

The nomination form (FSA-699A) is available at local FSA offices or online at: forms.sc.egov.usda.gov. Eligible voters may nominate themselves. Nomination forms must be received in local FSA offices by Sept. 5. Based on the results of these nominations, ballots will be prepared and mailed to eligible voters on Nov. 18. Voters must postmark ballots or return them to local FSA offices by Dec. 1. On Jan. 1, 2004, elected committee members and any alternates will take office.

Maryland, Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Quizzers Are Tops In Nation

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — The Holstein Foundation hosted its annual competitions for over 400 youth at the 2003 National Junior Holstein Convention.

This year marked the 24th annual Holstein Dairy Bowl contest. Thirty-three teams showed their dairy knowledge and quickness on the buzzer while vying for the national title.

Final teams were decided through preliminary rounds. Undefeated Maryland faced Pennsylvania in the junior division. Pennsylvania beat Maryland in the first round, so a rematch took place, and Maryland captured the junior championship.

Maryland team members were Donald King, Pamela King, Curtis Rhoderick, and Davis Schwartzbeck, coached by Lisa Schwartzbeck.

The Pennsylvania team included members Chris Blauch, Austin Copenhaver, Elizabeth Smith, and Brenden Hoover, coached by Duane Nolt.

The team from Wisconsin claimed the national championship in the senior division, followed by the team from New York.

New York senior team members were Bret Bossard, Ryan Dennis, Michael Dobell, and Jackie Ploetz, coached by Linda Stebbins.

New this year, awards were presented for the top three exam scores in both the junior and senior divisions. Kristine Buffa, New Jersey, and Ryan Dennis, New York, had top scores in the junior and senior divisions, respectively.

Dairy Jeopardy contestants demonstrated their dairy knowledge and ability to think on their feet while wagering their way to the top in the Holstein Foundation's fourth annual event. In the junior division (ages 9-11), Matt Henkes of Iowa placed first, followed by Austin Schwartzbeck of Maryland.

Derr, Liggett Are New National Guernsey Royalty

Pennsylvania Dairy Bowl Teams Excel

HUDSON, Wis. — Guernsey royalty for 2003 was crowned during the recent national convention of the American Guernsey Association here.

Amanda Derr, the 20-year-old daughter of Tom and Kathy Derr of Carey, Ohio, was chosen as the 2003 National Guernsey Queen. Derr attends the University of Findlay, studying pre-vet and hopes to attend veterinary school in the future.

Derr is an integral part of the work force on her family farm, Mona Lous Farm, where they milk 35 registered Guernseys. Amanda has been very active in Guernsey youth programs both nationally and in Ohio, and this year she also won the National Guernsey Youth Public Speaking Contest Senior Division.

The 2003 National Guernsey Princess is Amy Liggett, 19, of Bessemer. She is the daughter of Debra and David Liggett. Her grandfather and uncles own and operate Trotacre Farm in Enon Valley.

Liggett has held many leadership positions with the Pennsylvania Junior Guernsey Breeders' Association and won the intermediate division of the National Guernsey Youth Public Speaking Contest in 2000. She has been showing and working on the family farm since 1992.

Liggett attends Youngstown State University where she is majoring in musical performance. Her goal is to become an opera singer.

Derr and Liggett will attend numerous dairy events in the upcoming year, promoting the golden breed, Guernseys.

Pennsylvania dominated the dairy bowl competitions this year. The junior team of Sarah and Spencer Weimer, Colin Sollenberger, and Cassandra Musser defeated the team from Illinois in the final round. In the senior division, the Pennsylvania team of Jeff and Chip Ansell, Kevin Sollenberger, and Doug Morrow won out over the New England team. Six teams competed in the junior division and five teams battled in the senior division.

Amy Liggett of Bessemer is the 2003 National Guernsey Princess.

USDA Seeks Nominations For Rechartered Committee

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman recently announced that the Fruit and Vegetable Industry Advisory Committee has been rechartered, and that USDA is seeking nominations for membership.

The original committee, whose two-year term expires Aug. 6, was created to provide suggestions and ideas to the secretary of agriculture on how USDA can tailor its programs to meet the fruit and vegetable industry's needs. The rechartered committee will consist of up to 25 industry members appointed by the agriculture secretary to serve two-year terms.

The members will represent the fruit and vegetable industry and will include representatives of fresh fruit and vegetable growers or shippers, fresh fruit and vegetable wholesalers, brokers, retailers, fruit and vegetable processors and fresh cut processors, foodservice suppliers, state departments of agriculture, and trade associations.

Individuals, organizations, and groups affiliated with the categories listed above are invited to nominate individuals for membership on the reestablished committee. Nominations should describe and document the proposed member's qualifications for membership to the committee, and list their name, title, address, telephone, and fax number.

In appointing individuals to the committee, USDA is seeking a diverse group of members interested in providing suggestions and ideas on how USDA can tailor its programs to meet the fruit and vegetable industry's needs.

Nominations will be accepted until Sept. 6 and should be sent to Robert C. Keeney, Deputy Administrator, AMS Fruit and Vegetable Programs, Room 2077-S/ USDA Stop 0235, 1400 Independence Ave. SW, Washington D.C. 20250-0235; e mail: robert.keeney@usda.gov. Individuals nominated to the committee or receiving nominations should contact Sandra Gardei, the federal designated official, to receive the necessary forms for membership: phone (202) 720-0988; e-mail: sandra.gardei@usda.gov.

Land O'Lakes, Dairy Marketing Services Enter Into Agreement

ARDEN HILLS, Minn. — Dairy Marketing Services (DMS) and Land O'Lakes, Inc. announced an agreement to jointly market milk from both organizations in the northeastern U.S.

This agreement will involve approximately 16 billion pounds of milk produced annually by dairy producers represented by the two organizations in that region.

Officials of DMS and Land O'Lakes said the focus of the agreement is to provide greater efficiencies and increased savings in the areas of milk marketing, assembly, and transportation. The ultimate goal of this agreement is to enhance returns to all members.

"This agreement is based on our common dedication to operational efficiency and a shared commitment to benefit the dairy producers we represent," said Land O'Lakes President and Chief Executive Officer Jack Gherty. "It will enable us to leverage the combined resources and expertise of our two organizations to reduce costs, while enhancing service to our customers."

"By jointly marketing milk supplies and redirecting milk to the closest destination, we will generate savings for both organizations," said DMS Chief Executive Officer Rick Smith. "These administrative and operational savings will enable the two organizations to better serve dairy farmers and customers alike."

Gherty and Smith added that the marketing alliance recognizes the intensely competitive and rapidly consolidating dairy marketplace, Land O'Lakes and DMS' commitment to customers and the two companies' overlapping geography. The agreement applies only to the marketing of commodity milk. Both organizations will retain separate operations for membership, member services and programs, producer payroll, and cooperative governance.

Dairy Marketing Services, LLC (DMS) is a milk-marketing organization that serves dairy producers and the industry by combining the milk supplies of independent and cooperative farms for the purposes of creating efficiency and reduction of cost on milk assembly, field services, and transportation. DMS was created as a result of a joint partnership between Dairylea Cooperative and Dairy Farmers of America's Northeast Council.

Land O'Lakes (www.landolakesinc.com) is a national, farmer-owned food and agricultural cooperative, with sales approaching $6 billion. Land O'Lakes does business in all 50 states and more than 50 countries. It is a leading marketer of a full line of dairy-based consumer, foodservice, and food ingredient products across the U.S.; services its international customers with a variety of food and animal feed ingredients; and provides farmers and local cooperatives with an extensive line of agricultural supplies (feed, seed, crop nutrients, and crop protection products); and services.

Milk Marketing Board Announces July Class I Price

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Milk Marketing Board (MMB) this week announced the prices to be paid to Pennsylvania dairy farmers for July Class I milk (beverage) as an average of $13.82 in the western areas of the Commonwealth; and an average of $14.31 in the central and eastern areas of the Commonwealth. These prices do include the over-order premium of $1.65 per one hundred pounds of milk.

Farmers, whose milk production is pooled under a federal order, will receive a market-wide blend price based upon the value of all classes of milk. However, the blend price received will vary as the component composition of a farmer's milk differs from the established benchmarks of 3.5 percent butterfat, 2.99 percent protein, and 5.69 percent other solids.

Since 1988 the MMB has mandated over-order premiums on Class I milk due to adverse conditions affecting the Pennsylvania dairy farmer.

Chairman Boyd E. Wolff announced that since the inception of the MMB's over-order premium, Pennsylvania dairy farmers have received over $307,000,000 in additional income.

Plant Doctor Explains Integrated Pest Management Ties

WOOSTER, Ohio — Ohio State University scientist Mike Ellis believes that everything in the world of plant diseases relates in some way to Integrated Pest Management (IPM).

Ellis, a plant pathologist with the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center (OARDC) and Ohio State University Extension, relates his work to IPM using the term Integrated Disease Management (IDM).

IPM doesn't just include insects — it also includes diseases that can only be controlled by integrating different methods. IDM programs develop and explain the biology and pathology behind plant diseases, then share this information with growers, which is one of IPM's goals.

"Integrated Disease Management is a critical portion of the overall pest management program," Ellis said. "I consider myself a plant doctor. I got my master's degree in botany, and I went into plant pathology because I viewed it basically as plant medicine.

"Diseases aren't like insects that you can see," Ellis added. "Diseases have to be controlled before you see them. When you see a disease, you're seeing the symptoms of the disease, (which result from) the interaction between the pathogen and the host." The pathogen can infect the host days or even weeks before symptoms are visible.

A plant pathologist for 27 years, Ellis develops IDM programs that integrate as many control practices as possible for the diseases of small fruits and tree fruits — apples, grapes, peaches, raspberries and strawberries. His work addresses the needs of both commercial fruit growers and backyard fruit growers and gardeners.

The key is not just to spray with the fungicide, but also to integrate programs that cover all bases of pest and disease management. IDM programs include not only cultural practices, like pruning and mulching, but also disease resistance and biological control.

"The thing that drives my thinking there, is not so much the food safety issues, because I believe fungicides we use are safe — if they're used the way they're registered," Ellis said. "These products cost Ohio growers thousands, millions of dollars. And it comes right out of their own pockets."

For example, it costs a strawberry grower $1,000 to purchase a four-gallon case of the fungicide Quadris. To put this figure in perspective, Quadris costs approximately $40 an acre to apply. Other fungicides, like Switch, get still more expensive: $60 an acre per application. "The growers aren't using them unless they have a real perceived need for them," said Ellis. "Nobody throws their money away. Would you?"

And that's part of the beauty of IPM. By applying Ellis' research, farmers won't have to empty their pockets on fungicides.

Ellis received his bachelor's degree in education and his master's degree in botany from Eastern Illinois University. He received his doctorate in plant pathology from the University of Illinois. Before joining OARDC, Ellis worked as a plant pathologist for the University of Puerto Rico.

"It's great," said Ellis of his career. "It's one of the most rewarding things when a grower comes up to you and thanks you for something you have developed that actually works."

Wet Fields Root Of Soybean-Disease Problems

WOOSTER, Ohio — Constant rains and cool weather have given soybean fields the short end of the growing stick, and now, along with stunted plants, growers can expect to see diseased, dying plots.

Most of Ohio has had a constant rain since May and growers are now seeing stunted, yellow soybean plants with small or non-existent rhizoidal nodules, said Anne Dorrance, an Ohio State University plant pathologist. The result: poorly developed root systems and rotten roots caused by Phytophthora root rot, Sclerotinia stem rot and soybean cyst nematode.

"Every heavy rain puts us that much further behind," said Dorrance, who also is a researcher with the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster. "Some of the fields that were planted in May have plants that are only ankle high and they just can't get their roots established."

According to the Ohio Agricultural Statistics Service, only a little over 50 percent of soybean fields are in good condition.

Constant flooding injury has kept plants from establishing new root systems and diseases are starting to latch on. While the rain and cool evenings have helped to ward off Phytophthora, Dorrance recently found symptomatic plants in a research plot in northwest Ohio. Within the week, growers are going to start seeing dead spots in the field, she said.

"The next thing that will be coming down the pipe is Sclerotinia stem rot," Dorrance said. Fields that have a history with stem rot are at much higher risk for the infection. Other conditions for these fields include a closed canopy before flowering and high moisture and cool nights during flowering, both of which have existed this year.

This year's flooding problem should indicate to growers that along with choosing resistant varieties and implementing crop rotation, they have to have drainage in their fields.

Miller Named To Regional Agriculture Advocacy Committee

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Rep. Sheila Miller (R-129) has been appointed to the Northeast States Association for Agricultural Stewardship (NSAAS) Executive Committee. The organization is an affiliate of the Council of State Governments Eastern Regional Conference.

"Assisting Pennsylvania's number one industry has been a top priority of mine during my tenure in the state House," said Miller, who operates her own 150-acre beef cattle farm in Berks County and serves as vice chairman of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee. "I look forward to the opportunity this appointment will provide to further enhance the industry throughout the northeast U.S.

Miller said the agriculture industry is facing some serious challenges, such as low commodity prices and high land and input prices. While technology is transforming the way farms are operated, there is much that needs to be done to make sure agriculture continues to survive the obstacles placed on it by Mother Nature and economic policies, said Miller.

"We need to work together to ensure farmers have the tools they need to meet these challenges so agriculture can continue to thrive in the future," she said.

NSAAS includes representatives from states from Maine to Delaware, as well as Puerto Rico and U.S. Virgin Islands. It was established in 1999 to address the region's agricultural and rural concerns. The organization recently played a key role in ensuring that regional equity and conservation programs were addressed in the federal Farm Bill in 2002.

Miller, who also chairs the Center for Rural Pennsylvania, plans to attend the organization's annual meeting in October in Pittsburgh.

"Our 40 x 80 foot Cover-All is bright enough to let me work until dark without any additional lighting. It has held up in the worst of weather, with no dripping or condensation. The Cover-All was more cost-effective than adding an additional grain bin, and I can store my equipment and farm supplies in it when not in corn. I am now planning on getting a second Cover-All for a calf raising facility." Duane Langendorfer

BIG JIM. Quantum™ SYSTEM

TOWER SILOS REALLY MEASURE UP!

Measure for measure, nothing beats a tower silo for storing forage. Just compare them to bunkers which have up to 45% storage loss, lower capacity, increased labor and lots of inconvenience.

Towers lose just 3% to 7% because of gravity, feed weight and a good unloader like the Big Jim QUANTUM System.

QUANTUM can be installed in any type of 20' to 30' forage silo – conventional or oxygen limited and will make your tower silo even better!

Ohio State Studying Air Quality On Large Livestock Farms

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Air quality on and around large livestock farms is the focus of an ongoing Ohio State University study.

Researchers LingYing Zhao and Mike Brugger of the Department of Agricultural, Biological and Environmental Engineering, and Glen Arnold, assistant professor and agriculture agent for Ohio State University Extension in Putnam County, started gathering air quality data at three large farms in March. The team also collected data in June and will again in August.

The research is being conducted at a 600-cow dairy operation, a swine finishing facility with 1,000 hogs, and a poultry farm with nearly 100,000 birds. Researchers are examining gas levels, particulate emission, and odor concentration, and they plan to collect similar information at three other large farms in 2004.

"We're studying typical farms in Ohio to gain a glance at what's happening," said Zhao, an assistant professor specializing in animal facilities and environment. The research will help provide information to farmers and researchers on air quality on and surrounding large animal facilities.

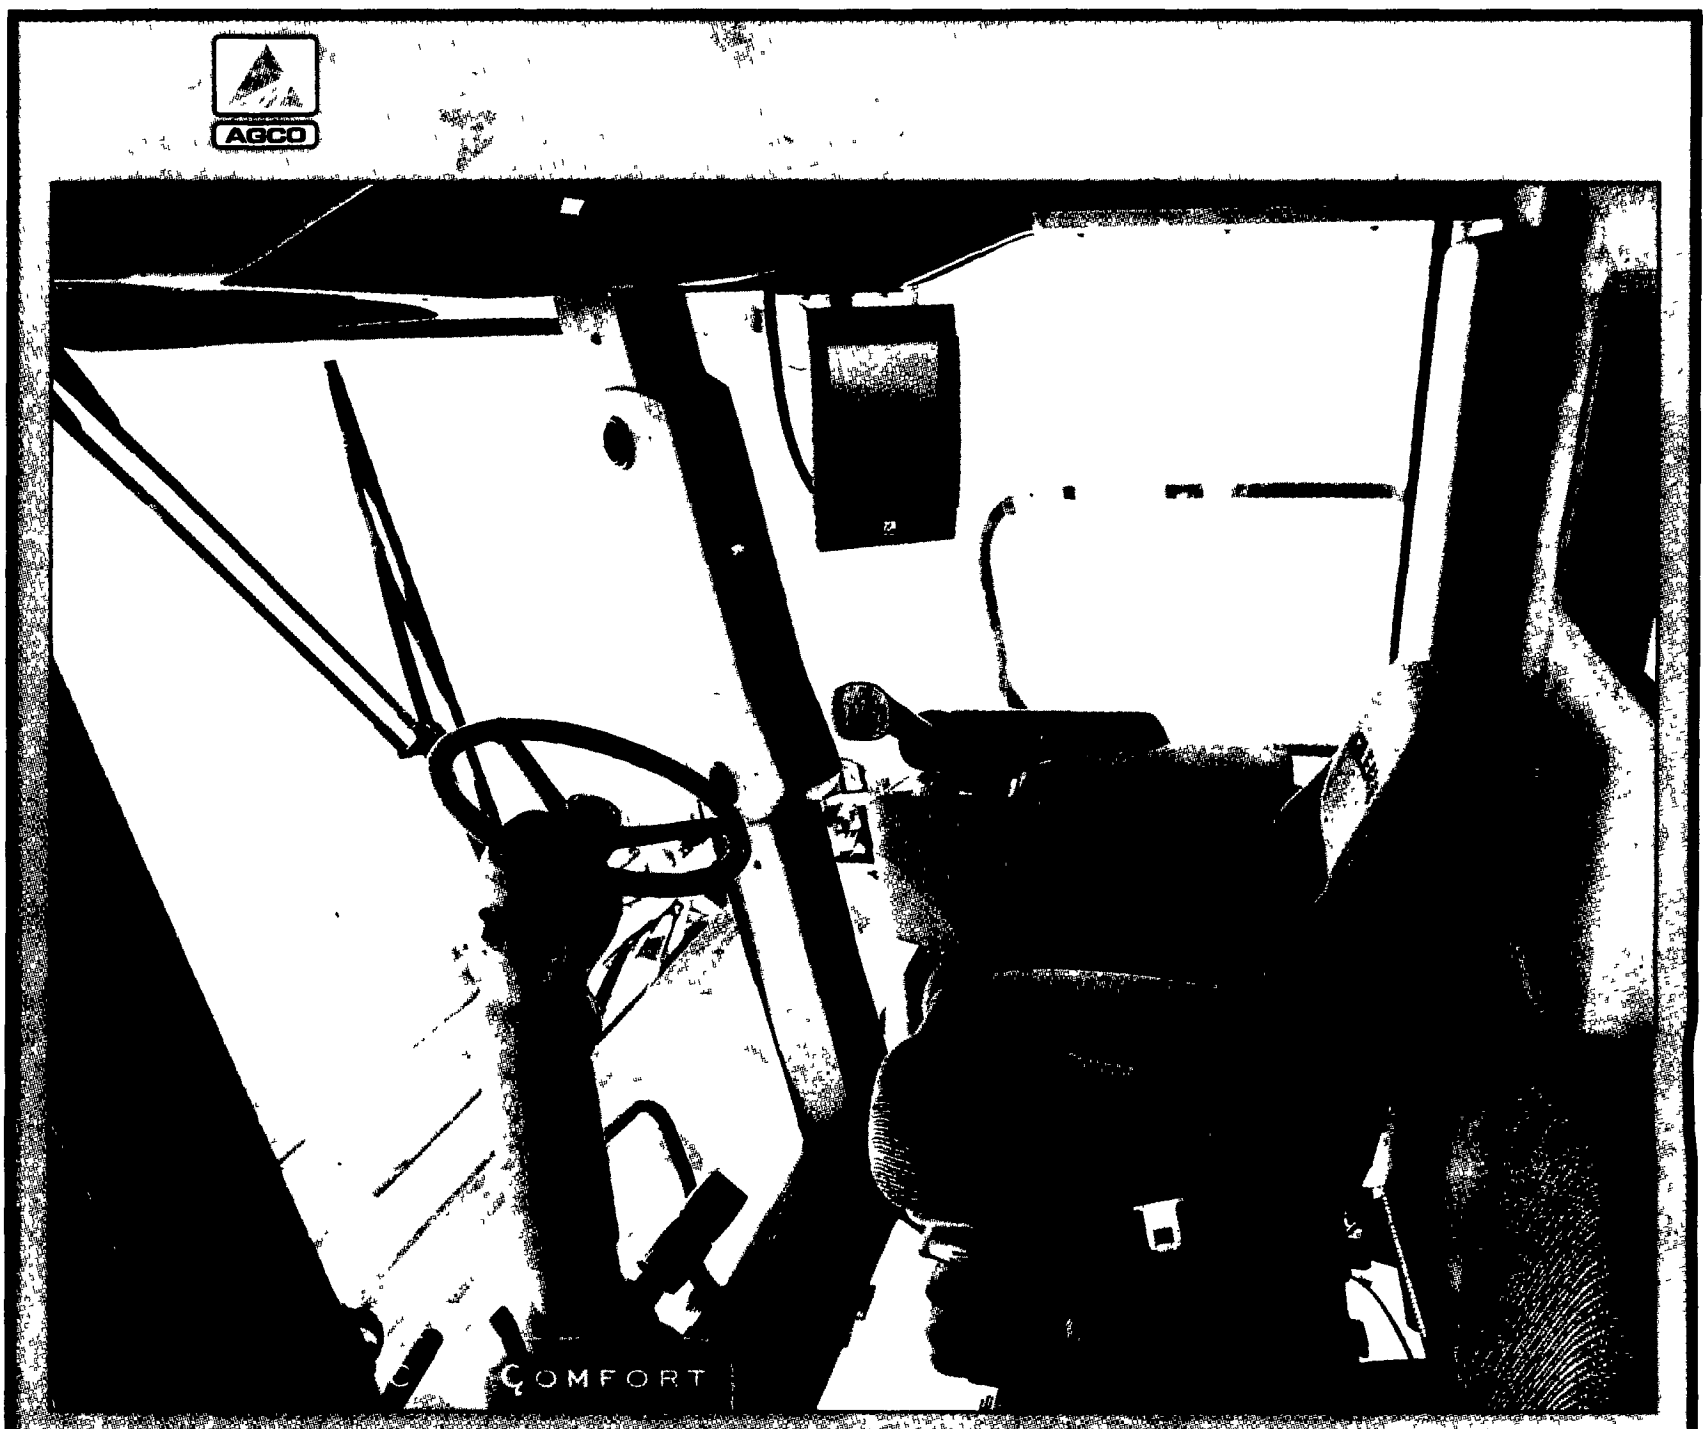
The researchers are measuring three gases — ammonia, hydrogen sulfide and carbon dioxide — as well as odor and dust. They're collecting data at 14 points in and around the facilities, up to 500 feet downwind from the main facility. Two types of equipment are used for each measurement to get the most accurate readings possible. They are also collecting information on weather conditions, which can have a strong effect on emissions.

"We know that farmers and workers are exposed to gases and dust particles in livestock buildings," Zhao said. "High level of air pollutants can result in farmers suffering acute symptoms or chronic symptoms, including a cough and tightening of the lungs. *Lung function can d*ecrease during the period of exposure. But there's limited data on the amount of air emissions inside and outside of buildings or around manure storage areas."

Zhao, who previously worked for the Center for Odor Emission Controls at the University of Illinois as a post-doctoral researcher, said she realized early in her career that air quality problems could spell trouble for the sustainability of large livestock facilities. With more such facilities being built, a solid base of information is necessary for owners and operators to run their farms without adversely affecting air quality, and to lead to a greater understanding among farmers, neighbors and policy makers. of the livestock production environment.

The research is being funded by the Great Lakes Center for Agricultural Safety and the university's Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

The nation's largest dairy show, the All-American, is scheduled at the new and renovated Harrisburg Farm Show Complex Sept. 21-25. To highlight the event, Lancaster Farming has scheduled its annual All-American Show issue Sept. 20. Along with the issue will be family farm features on who is exhibiting. Also planned for pages of Section A: the complete All-American schedule and additional highlights



You Expect More From A Leader.

It should come as no surprise that the GLEANER R65/R75 combines are among the easiest in the industry to operate. After all, GLEANER was the first to introduce electro-hydraulic controls back in 1972. We have a lot of experience in operator control and comfort.

The minute you sit down in the deluxe air-ride seat, you'll notice how all the most frequently used controls are located on the armrest console or the new hydro control handle. Both are mounted to the seat, so they float with you over field contours. Gone are the days of trying to "home in" on a button or switch while bouncing over end-row furrows or ruts in the field.
